PART 146—GENERAL REGULATIONS FOR THE CERTIFICATION OF ANTIBIOTIC AND ANTIBIOTIC-CONTAINING DRUGS

ANIMAL FEED CONTAINING ANTIBIOTIC DRUGS

Under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended, sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 357, 371) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (22 F. R. 1045), the general regulations for the certification of antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs (23 F. R. 6121) are amended as indicated below:

Section 146.26 is amended by changing paragraph (b) (40) to read as follows:

§ 146.26 Animal feed containing penicillin * * *

(b) * * *

(40) It is intended as an aid in maintaining or increasing egg production, hatchability of eggs, reduction of the effects of stress, prevention of early mortality of chicks, and reduction of the effects of diseases when due to organisms that are sensitive to bacitracin or to a mixture of bacitracin and penicillin, for maintaining appetite and for improving feed efficiency as related to egg production; its labeling bears adequate directions and warnings for such use; and it contains, per ton of feed, the equivalent of 50 grams of bacitracin or a mixture of 37.5 grams of bacitracin and 12.5 grams of penicillin when fed during the first 4 to 6 weeks of egg production, and not less than the equivalent of 10 grams of bacitracin or a mixture of 7.5 grams of bacitracin and 2.5 grams of penicillin when fed during the remainder of the laying period; except that if it is intended for use to increase egg hatchability or prevention of early mortality of chicks or for use in the presence of disease outbreaks or during periods of stress, it shall contain, per ton of feed, the equivalent of 100 grams of bacitracin or a mixture of 75 grams of bacitracin and 25 grams of penicillin.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry, since it relaxes existing requirements, and since it would be contrary to public interest to delay providing for the aforesaid amendments.

I further find that animal feed containing antibiotic drugs and conforming with the conditions prescribed in this order need not comply with the require-

SPECIAL CIVIL AIR REGULATION; PERFORMANCE CREDIT FOR TRANSPORT CATEGORY AIRPLANES EQUIPPED WITH STANDBY POWER

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of September 1958.

Standby power is power and/or thrust obtained from rocket engines and is separate from the power obtained from the airplane's main engines. Such power and/or thrust is available for a relatively short period for use in cases of emergency. The standby power system may be capable of producing more than a single thrust period. This special regulation authorizes the Administrator to grant performance credit to transport category airplanes when standby power is used in one or more of the following regimes of flight: Take-off with one engine inoperative, approach climb with one engine inoperative, and the balked landing climb. By "performance credit" is meant the taking into account the increased performance of the airplane with standby power and, because thereof, the approval of higher maximum weights for the airplane than the weights approved on the basis of the airplane's performance without standby power. In granting performance credit, this regulation prescribes the applicable conditions and limitations.

Rocket assist take-off units were developed initially for the military services to provide additional take-off power for heavily loaded flying boats and carrier-based aircraft. The additional thrust improved the climb performance in the take-off regime and permitted the airplane to attain a safe altitude and air speed in the event of engine failure. The reliability of such units has increased to the point where some civil operators have adopted them for use as emergency standby power in the event of engine failure. Other operators have been reluctant to adopt standby power installations and the attendant weight penalties without reasonable performance credit being given the airplane. With the performance credit granted by this regulation for the use of standby power, it is anticipated that such credit might be considered a compensating economic factor justifying the installation of standby power on such airplanes.

The currently effective regulations did not contemplate the use of standby power; however, the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics has established for an interim period a conservative policy permitting transport category airplanes equipped with standby power to operate at an increase in the normally approved weights by an amount equal to the weight of the standby power units.

In this regulation, the criteria for granting performance credit were formulated with the intent of providing an over-all level of performance equivalent to that intended by the currently effective regulations. To this end, appropriate criteria are established with respect to the amount of performance credit which may be applied in determining the new take-off paths, the extent to which the maximum certificated take-off and landing weights may be increased, and operating procedures to be followed in service for the use of standby power and for the associated changes in the airplane's configuration and speed.

The basic element of the various criteria established in this regulation entails a comparison of flight paths. In Civil Air Regulations Draft Release No. 57–28, all of the flight paths were based on procedures involving attainment of the en route configuration and the acceleration to a safe en route speed. Further consideration of this proposal indicates that an undue amount of flight testing and computation would be required for those flight conditions which presently do not involve the establishment of such flight paths. In addition, it appears that comparison of flight paths involving a particular procedure is not essential for the purpose of establishing an equivalent level of safety. In view of the foregoing, this regulation requires comparison of flight paths with respect to the take-off regime consistent only with that required by the currently effective airworthiness performance requirements; i. e., Part 4b and Special Civil Air Regulations Nos. SR–422 and SR–422A. Further, the establishment of maximum landing weights is based on a comparison of flight paths obtained with a fixed airplane configuration and at the speed and power condition appropriate to the all-engines-operating landing climb or the one-engine-inoperative approach climb, as applicable.

Performance credit for standby power with respect to the take-off path is limited by the specification that the all-engines-operating take-off path reflect a conservatively greater margin of overall performance than the one-engine-inoperative take-off path with standby power in use. It is intended that this margin exist throughout the take-off path prescribed by the applicable performance requirements. This regulation provides for the establishment of the margin by the Administrator; however, in no case can this margin be less than 15 percent. In view of the many different types of airplanes to which this regulation is applicable, a higher margin might be necessary in certain cases to insure safe day-to-day operations.

For reciprocating-engine-powered airplanes, the provisions of this regulation require that the applicant establish a procedure for the use of standby power for attaining the en route configuration and a safe en route speed in the event of an engine failure during the take-off. Provisions for such procedures are contained in the regulations for turbine-powered airplanes and will therefore be applicable to such airplanes. The establishment of the procedures made applicable to reciprocating-engine-powered airplanes is left to the discretion of the applicant to select the altitude at which the acceleration is to take place, the basic limitation being that the slope along all points of the airborne portion of the take-off path must be positive. This will provide for the critical operation of clean-up and acceleration during the take-off which are not covered by the performance requirements of Part 4b and which have been cited in the past in connection with several accidents. In addition, with respect to the clearing of obstacles, the take-off path scheduled in the Airplane Flight Manual for airplanes for which the performance requirements of Part 4b are applicable must be appropriately modified to reflect the effect of the aforementioned procedure.

The criteria for the establishment of maximum certificated take-off weights involve two separate comparisons of take-off paths. These comparisons must be carried out to a height of 400 feet above the take-off surface. This minimum height is intended to be associated with a procedure where standby power is actuated within the neighborhood of the critical engine failure speed V_1. These provisions are intended to limit the increase in maximum take-off weight consistent with the over-all level of performance currently attained with respect to the one-engine-inoperative take-off and to limit the amount of standby power for which performance credit can be granted to insure a reasonable margin of performance for the all-engine day-to-day operations.

The provisions for the establishment of maximum certificated landing weights require only a comparison between two flight paths based on a steady climb and fixed configuration. One represents a climb path at the maximum weight previously certificated without standby power and the other a climb path at the increased weight with standby power. In addition, there is a provision which requires the establishment of procedures for the execution of balked landings and missed approaches in conjunction with the use of standby power.

A question has been raised as to whether duplicate sets of standby power units are required to obtain performance credit for both the take-off and the approach stages of flight. It is intended by this regulation to require duplicate sets of standby power for a flight for which the use of standby power is necessary to comply with both the maximum certificated take-off and the maximum certificated approach weight limitations. Where the use of standby power is necessary for compliance with the maximum certificated weight limitations for only one regime of flight, i. e. take-off or approach, one set of standby power units is required.

There are also included safety criteria for the installation and operation of the standby power system.

The Board presently has under consideration a special regulation which would be applicable to nontransport category airplanes equipped with standby power.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this regulation (22 F. R. 10464), and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby makes and promulgates the following Special Civil Air Regulation, effective October 27, 1958.

Contrary performance provisions of the Civil Air Regulations notwithstanding, the Administrator may grant performance credit for the use of standby power on transport category airplanes. Such credit shall be applicable only to the maximum certificated take-off and landing weights, the take-off distance, and the take-off paths, and shall not exceed that found by the Administrator to result in an over-all level of safety in the take-off, approach, and landing regimes of flight equivalent to that prescribed in the regulations under which the airplane was originally certificated without standby power. (NOTE: Standby power is power and/or thrust obtained from rocket engines for a relatively short period and actuated only in cases of emergency.) The following provisions shall apply:

(1) Take-off; general. The take-off data prescribed in sections (2) and (3) shall be determined at all weights and altitudes, and at ambient temperatures if applicable, at which performance credit is to be applied.

(2) Take-off path. (a) The one-engine-inoperative take-off path with standby power in use shall be determined in accordance with the performance requirements of the applicable airworthiness regulations.

(b) The one-engine-inoperative take-off path (excluding that portion where the airplane is on or just above the take-off surface) determined in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section shall lie above the one-engine-inoperative take-off path without standby power at the maximum take-off weight at which all of the applicable airworthiness requirements are met. For the purpose of this comparison, the flight path shall be considered to extend to at least a height of 400 feet above the take-off surface.

(c) The take-off path with all engines operating, but without the use of standby power, shall reflect a conservatively greater over-all level of performance than the one-engine-inoperative take-off path established in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section. The aforementioned margin shall be established by the Administrator to insure safe day-to-day operations, but in no case shall it be less than 15 percent. The all-engines-operating take-off path shall be determined by a procedure consistent with that established in complying with paragraph (a) of this section.

(d) For reciprocating-engine-powered airplanes, the take-off path to be scheduled in the Airplane Flight Manual shall represent the one-engine-inoperative take-off path determined in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section and modified to reflect the procedure (see section (6)) established by the applicant for flap retraction and attainment of the en route speed. The scheduled take-off path shall have a positive slope at all points of the airborne portion and at no point shall it lie above the take-off path specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

(3) Take-off distance. The take-off distance shall be the horizontal distance along the one-engine-inoperative take-off path determined in accordance with section (2) (a) from the start of the take-off to the point where the airplane attains a height of 50 feet above the take-off surface for reciprocating-engine-powered airplanes and a height of 35 feet above the take-off surface for turbine-powered airplanes.

(4) Maximum certificated take-off weights. The maximum certificated take-off weights shall be determined at all altitudes, and at ambient temperatures if applicable, at which performance credit is to be applied and shall not exceed the weights established in compliance with paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(a) The conditions of section (2) (b) through (d) shall be met at the maximum certificated take-off weight.

(b) Without the use of standby power, the airplane shall meet all of the en route requirements of the applicable airworthiness regulations under which the airplane was originally certificated. In addition, turbine-powered airplanes without the use of standby power shall meet the final take-off climb requirements prescribed in the applicable airworthiness regulations.

(5) Maximum certificated landing weights. (a) The maximum certificated landing weights (one-engine-inoperative approach and all-engines-operating landing climb) shall be determined at all altitudes, and at ambient temperatures if applicable, at which performance credit is to be applied and shall not exceed that established in compliance with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) The flight path, with the engines operating at the power and/or thrust appropriate to the airplane configuration and with standby power in use, shall lie above the flight path without standby power in use at the maximum weight at which all of the applicable airworthiness requirements are met. In addition, the flight paths shall comply with the provisions of subparagraphs (i) and (ii) of this paragraph.

(i) The flight paths shall be established without changing the appropriate airplane configuration.

(ii) The flight paths shall be carried out for a minimum height of 400 feet above the point where standby power is actuated.

(6) Airplane configuration, speed, and power and/or thrust; general. Any change in the airplane's configuration, speed, and power and/or thrust shall be made in accordance with the procedures established by the applicant for the operation of the airplane in service and shall comply with the provisions of paragraphs (a) through (c) of this section. In addition, procedures shall be established for the execution of balked landings and missed approaches.

(a) The Administrator shall find that the procedure can be consistently executed in service by crews of average skill.

(b) The procedure shall not involve methods or the use of devices which have not been proven to be safe and reliable.

(c) Allowances shall be made for such time delays in the execution of the procedures as may be reasonably expected to occur during service.

(7) Installation and operation; standby power. The standby power unit and its installation shall comply with the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(a) The standby power unit and its installation shall not adversely affect the safety of the airplane.

(b) The operation of the standby power unit and its control shall have proven to be safe and reliable.

MASS

§206.600 General. (a) The National Bureau of Standards tests and certifies the values of weights submitted, but it does not manufacture or sell weights. Weights used in ordinary commercial transactions should be tested by the local or State weights and measures officials. They are accepted for test by this Bureau only in exceptional circumstances.

(b) Weights may be submitted for test by the supplier or by the owner. When the purchaser of weights intends that they be tested by the Bureau, the purchaser should specify as a requirement in his purchase order that the weights conform to the current National Bureau of Standards specifications for the desired class. Such weights may be shipped to the Bureau directly from the factory or warehouse and can be forwarded by the Bureau to the purchaser.

(c) Application for test:

(1) Written requests should be made for all tests, even when the weights are delivered in person or by messenger. The request may be in the form of a purchase order, or a letter provided it is signed by an individual authorized to obligate funds. If a supplier submits weights for a customer he should clearly identify the weights and arrange for the purchaser to submit the request for calibration. A request authorizing payment must be received by the Bureau before the work can be started.

(2) The request should state the class under which the weights are to be tested, the nature of the test desired, and any other information necessary for their proper test. If weights have already been used as standards in exacting work, and it is important to know what their corrections were at the close of such work, this fact should be stated; otherwise, weights are carefully cleaned before being tested.

(3) Sufficient information should also be given to enable the Bureau to identify the material upon arrival. (See shipping instructions.)

(d) Packing:

(1) The weights must be carefully packed in boxes that can be used in returning them. The weights, if shipped in their regular cases, should be tightly packed in their pockets by the use of extra material of some sort.

(2) In wrapping the better grades of weights when they are not shipped in cases containing pockets, some soft but firm material should be used next to the weight and bound tightly against it to avoid the possibility of abrasion. If tissue paper is used, many thicknesses of it should be firmly wrapped on, and this should then be covered with thicker, tougher material such as cotton packing or knit goods. The whole should then be wrapped securely in wrapping paper in order to exclude the dust and grit from rough packing in which the boxes or bundles are generally packed for shipment.

(3) In many cases the sheet-metal weights that are packed under the glass covers of the regular cases reach the Bureau bent or otherwise damaged. For this reason greater care should be given to the packing of these weights. Sufficient extra packing should be used to hold the glass cover firmly in place.

(4) Many of the laboratory weight cases now in service are not designed to retain the weights in the pockets during shipment. Also, shipments of weights are sometimes subjected to exceptionally rough handling. It is strongly recommended that weights larger than about 200g be shipped separate from the laboratory storage cases, and that they be packed for shipment as described above.

(e) Shipping and identification:

(1) Shipping charges to the Bureau must be prepaid. Return shipments are regularly made by express, collect, to other than Federal agencies. Government bills of lading, when required for return shipment, should be included with the original request.

(2) If a test number has been assigned prior to the shipment, this number should appear on the shipping container. If a test number has not been assigned at this time, a packing list, purchase order or letter should accompany the shipment for identification purposes.

(3) All packages should bear the shipper's name and address, a list of the contents, and any other marks that may be necessary to insure ready identification. The inner wrappings of each package should bear the denominations of the weight or weights inclosed.

(4) Articles to be tested should be directed to the "National Bureau of Standards, Washington 25, D. C." If wooden shipping cases are used the return or forwarding address should be on the underside of the cover.

(f) Nature of tests available:

(1) Calibrations and tolerance tests are available, as listed below.

(2) A "calibration" includes inspection, the tests necessary for determination of the values within the accuracy stated, measurements with more than one standard, with more than the minimum number of observations and with some mathematical treatment of the results. Weights submitted under classes A, B, J, M, S, and non-metric S–1 are intended for calibration.

(3) A tolerance test includes the individual measurement of each weight with a standard, and such additional measurements of groups as necessary to prove the accuracy of the values.

(4) Weights shall be inspected with respect to packaging, sealing and marking of package, marking and construction of case, construction of lifters, and the marking, surface, design, and corrosion resistance of the weights. Special attention is given to inspection for faulty or objectionable features of design, construction, or material such as rough or ragged edges, dirty or contaminated adjusting cavities, and variable adjusting material. When the presence of unsatisfactory features necessitates extensive examination or cleaning such work is described under schedule 206.609 and an appropriate fee charged to cover the cost.

(5) Weights that are found to be satisfactory for their purpose are tested with respect to determination of value, humidity variation, density, magnetic properties, surface discoloration on boiling, corrosion resistance, and accuracy of adjustment, as appropriate for the class and construction of the weights.

(6) In general, work will be discontinued when a substantial number of items in a lot fail to comply with a specification or are found to be unsuitable for use as standards. The sorting of acceptable items from lots not properly graded for certification cannot be undertaken.

(g) Certificates and reports:

(1) When weights conform to the requirements of one of the classes specified herein, or to other established standards recognized by the National Bureau of Standards, a "certificate" will be issued.

(2) When weights do not conform to all of the requirements of the class under which they have been submitted, they may still be accepted for calibration provided the failure to conform does not interfere with the proposed use of the weights. For weights intended for classes, J, M, S, and non-metric S–1, the report will list the actual values of the weights, provided the construction of the weights justifies this. In addition, the report will state in what manner the weights fail to meet the requirements.

(h) Identification of weights tested by the Bureau:

(1) When certified weights are shipped from the Bureau, either the inner wrappings or the shipping case will be sealed, and bear the Bureau's test number, together with any other numbers or letters that may be necessary for identification.

§ 206.601 Class A weights (State reference standards). (a) Class A weights are designed for use as reference standards and bear the seal of the National Bureau of Standards as a means of identification. Class A weights are particularly suited for use by State weights and measures offices or whenever it is desirable to establish values of mass standards on a legal basis.

(b) New Class A weights are given a three-month test for constancy. Values are accurate within 5 parts in 10^6 for weights of 10 g, 0.3 oz, or 155 grains, or larger; within 0.03 mg for weights below 10 g or 155 grains to 1 g or 15 grains, and within 0.003 mg for weights below 1 g or 15 grains.

(c) Class A weights which have previously received the constancy test will be recalibrated under the schedule for Class B weights.

(b) The readjustment of inaccurate weights is done at the option of the Bureau. When only a few weights in a set need to be adjusted this ordinarily will be done by the Bureau. Weights which are variable enough to require readjustment are examined for any obvious source of variability. When a considerable amount of work is required the Bureau may require that the reconditioning be done elsewhere.

(b) The value for each weight is given to the accuracy indicated in the schedule.

Item	Description	Fee
206.605a	As a part of the calibration of a group of microbalance weights, in order to minimize errors from variation of surface films, accumulation of atmospheric dust, etc., it is necessary that a group of our standards be calibrated based on 1 g standards with accuracy of 0.0002 mg below 100 mg, each time a group of microbalance weights is calibrated. If the microbalance weights are of a series which can be included in this group of observations; that is, if they are of a 5, 2, 2, 1 series, a 3, 3, 2, 1 series, or other convenient series, they will be included in the calibration of our standards and certified with an accuracy of approximately 0.0002 mg. For regular inspection, cleaning, handling, and the above calibration, each group charge will be made according to time and expense involved.
206.605b	Determination of value for weights which are not of a series that can be intercompared and conveniently included in the above series of observations on our standards. For the calibration of each weight with an accuracy of approximately 0.0003 mg, charges will be made according to time and expense involved.

§ 206.606 Class M weights (high-precision scientific standards). (a) Class M weights are one-piece weights designed for use as reference standards, for work of the highest precision, and for use in investigations demanding a high degree of constancy over a period of time. Class M weights may be used without applying individual corrections for most semi-micro work.

(b) Values are accurate within 1 in 10^6 for weights from 10 g and above; within 0.01 mg for weights from 10 g to 1 g; and within 0.001 mg for weights below 1 g.

(c) Class M weights may also be calibrated to the same precision as Class S, in which case the fees listed under that class will apply.

(d) Additional fees computed from the items below will be charged for weights submitted separately as replacements.

(e) When appropriate, the actual cost of tests that are interrupted because of unacceptable weights shall be charged under schedule 206.609.

§ 206.607 Class S and Class S–1 non-metric weights (scientific working standards and precise analytical weights). (a) Class S and Class S–1 non-metric weights are designed as working standards for use in the calibration of other weights or as high precision analytical weights for use in the more precise weighings of the physical and chemical laboratories and in assay work.

(b) Values are accurate within 3 in 10^6 for weights of 10 g and above; within 0.03 mg for weights from 10 g to 1 g; and within 0.003 mg for weights below 1 g.

Any fee for special tests not described by the regular test fee items will be charged on the basis of actual time and expense involved.

§ 206.612 Balance tests. (a) A special fee based on actual time and cost will be charged for balance tests.

(b) Either the performance of some particular instrument, or the limitations of a particular model or design may be determined.

(c) Balance tests will include preliminary tests, tests for systematic environmental effects, and when practicable, a statistical estimate of the precision of the balance.

§ 206.620 Test weights 50-pound and larger. (a) 50-pound, cast iron, Class C.

(1) Arrangements for accepting and scheduling of tests under this fee schedule must be completed before shipment of items, and all correspondence must be addressed to the Scale Unit, Mass and Scale Section, National Bureau of Standards, Washington 25, D. C. Acceptance of all items submitted for test at the National Bureau of Standards Master Scale Depot in Chicago necessarily will be restricted to periods provided for in the schedule of intermittent operation of this station. (See note under item 206.620i.)

(2) Weights shall be clean, suitably protected and shipped in wooden boxes having screw-fastened covers; not more than five weights shall be contained in one box. Shipments from the West and Midwest shall be made to the National Bureau of Standards Master Scale Depot, 5800 West 69th Street, Chicago 38, Illinois. TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Farm Marketing Quotas and Acreage Allotments), Department of Agriculture

PART 728—WHEAT

UNTIMELY NOTICE OF MEASURED ACREAGE (1958 ONLY)

Basis and purpose. The amendment herein is issued pursuant to and in accordance with the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and is issued for the purpose of providing a producer whose 1958 wheat acreage was not measured or who was not notified of the 1958 measured acreage in time to dispose of the excess acreage prior to completion of wheat harvest on the farm and whose acreage was slightly over the allotment or permitted acreage, with the same privilege relative to compliance as that afforded the producer who received an erroneous notice of measured acreage.

Since wheat harvest has been completed in most areas and producers who would fall into this category have already been or soon will be notified of a farm marketing excess which they are required by the existing regulations to satisfy within 60 days from the date harvest is normally substantially completed in the county, it is desirable that they be notified of the amendment herein as soon as possible. Accordingly, it is hereby found that compliance with the public notice, procedure, and 30-day effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and contrary to the public interest. Therefore, the amendment shall become effective upon the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

A new § 728.896 is added reading as follows:

§ 728.896 Untimely notice of measured acreage (1958 only). If it is determined that the 1958 wheat acreage on any farm is in excess of the larger of the wheat acreage allotment or the acreage permitted to be grown on the farm without liability for penalty under the provisions of § 728.890 or § 728.893, the wheat acreage on the farm shall not be deemed to be in excess of the 1958 wheat acreage allotment on the farm or the permitted acreage, whichever is applicable, if the county committee, with approval by the State administrative officer, determines that:

(a) Because of failure on the part of the county office and through no fault of the farm operator the wheat acreage on the farm was not measured or the farm operator was not notified of the measured acreage in time to dispose of the excess acreage prior to completion of wheat harvest on the farm; and

(b) Because of the relative smallness of the excess acreage the farm operator could not have been reasonably expected to know that the acreage was in excess; and

(c) The farm operator made a reasonable effort by measuring or otherwise to determine the amount of wheat acreage on his farm and to comply with the allotment or permitted acreage, whichever was applicable.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 19th day of September 1958.

Acting Secretary.

(b) British, French, and Netherlands nationals. A visa is not required of a British, French, or Netherlands national who has his residence in British, French, or Netherlands territory, respectively, in the adjacent islands of the Caribbean area, for admission or stay in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or as an agricultural worker in the United States.

(c) Mexican nationals. A visa and a passport are not required of a Mexican national who is a military or civilian official or employee of the Mexican national, state, or municipal government, or of a member of the family of any such official or employee; or is in possession of a border crossing card on Form I-186 and is applying for admission in accordance with the terms thereon and the provisions of § 212.6. A visa is not required of a Mexican national who is a crewman employed on an aircraft belonging to a Mexican company authorized to engage in commercial transportation into the United States, or is an alien embraced within the provisions of § 214.2 (k) of this chapter.

(d) Cuban nationals. A visa and a passport are not required of a Cuban national who is an official of the Cuban immigration service, or is a crewman serving on board a Cuban military or naval aircraft. CORN

NOTICE OF REFERENDUM AND REGULATIONS PERTAINING THERETO

A referendum of producers of corn in 1958 in the commercial corn-producing area for 1958 will be held pursuant to section 104 (a) of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended by section 201 of the Agricultural Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 993) to determine whether such producers favor a price support program as provided in section 105 (a) of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as so amended, for the 1959 and subsequent crops in lieu of acreage allotments as provided in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and price support as provided in section 101 of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended. If a majority of the producers voting in the referendum conducted pursuant to section 104 (a), Agricultural Act of 1949, favor a price support program as provided in the section 105 (a) of said Act, corn acreage allotments and a commercial corn-producing area shall not be established for the 1959 and subsequent crops of corn, and beginning with the 1959 crop, price support shall be made available to producers for each crop of corn at 90 per centum of the average price received by farmers during the three calendar years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the marketing year for such crop begins, adjusted to offset the effect on such price of any abnormal quantities of low-grade corn marketed during any such year: Provided, That the level of price support for any crop of corn shall not be less than 65 per centum of the parity price therefor. It is further provided, if corn acreage allotments for 1959 and subsequent years are not established as a result of such referendum, that beginning with the 1959 crop, price support shall be made available to producers for each crop of oats, rye, barley, and grain sorghums at such level of the parity price therefor as the Secretary determines is fair and reasonable in relation to the level at which price support is made available for corn, taking into consideration the feeding value of such commodity in relation to corn and other factors.

The referendum provided for in section 104 (a) of the Agricultural Act of 1949 shall be held on November 25, 1958.

Voting eligibility shall be as follows:

(1) Each producer who was engaged in the production of corn in 1958 on a farm located in the 1958 commercial corn-producing area and was entitled to share in the proceeds of the 1958 corn crop as owner-operator, cash tenant, standing-rent or fixed-rent tenant, landlord of a share tenant, share tenant, or share-cropper, shall be eligible to vote. A landlord of a standing-rent, cash-rent, or a fixed-rent tenant shall not be eligible. In addition to the above, any operator or landlord of a farm for which a 1958 corn acreage allotment was established shall be eligible to vote even though corn was not planted on such farm, or any person who planted corn in 1958 but did not harvest any corn, or who in 1958 placed acreage in the Soil Bank Program with respect to corn shall be deemed as being engaged in the production of corn for the 1958 crop.

(2) No person (whether and individual, partnership, association, corporation, estate, trust, or other business enterprise or legal entity, or a State, political subdivision of a State, Federal government, or any agency thereof) shall be entitled to more than one vote regardless of the number of farms in which the person is interested or the number of communities, counties, or States in which are located farms in which the person is interested: Provided, however, That the individual members of a qualified partnership shall each have one vote but the partnership as such shall not have a vote and an individual who qualifies as an eligible voter by reason of his separate farming operations will be entitled to one vote even though he is interested in an organization such as (but not limited to) a corporation which is also eligible as a voter and entitled to one vote. Each individual's right to vote, whether single or married, depends upon his or her own qualifications. A minor is not disqualified from voting solely because of his minority if otherwise eligible. An individual may cast a ballot in his individual capacity if qualified and may also cast a ballot as guardian, administrator, executor, or trustee, if qualified in such capacity.

(3) Where a group of several persons, such as husband, wife, and children have participated in the production of corn under the same lease or cropping agreement only the person or persons who signed or entered into the lease or cropping agreement shall be eligible to vote. In the event two or more persons produced corn in 1958 in the 1958 commercial corn-producing area as joint tenants, tenants in common, or owners of community property, each such person shall be entitled to one vote if otherwise qualified.

(4) No farmer shall be eligible to vote in any community other than the community in which he resides at the time of the referendum except that any farmer who will not vote in such community may vote at the polling place in the community in which he was engaged in the production of corn in 1958 which will qualify him as a voter.

(5) Ballots may be cast by mail as follows:

(a) Any person who will not be present on the day of the referendum in the county in which he is eligible to vote may obtain in person as early as five days prior to the date of the referendum or earlier, if ballots are available, one ballot from an ASC State or county office conveniently situated for him, or from the Grain Division, CSS, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., and cast his ballot by mail. All ballots voted by mail must in order to be accepted reach the county office for the county in which the voter is eligible to vote by not later than the hour for closing the polls in the county on the day of the referendum.

(b) Any person whose religious beliefs forbid him from voting on the day of the referendum may secure one ballot from and cast his vote at the office of the county committee for the county in which he is eligible to vote at any time within five days prior to the date of the referendum. Such voting shall be considered as voting by mail.

(6) There shall be no voting by proxy or agent except that a duly authorized officer of a corporation, association, or other legal entity may cast its vote.

(7) A ballot will be issued to any person who believes he is eligible to vote, but such person's right to vote will be subject to challenge if there is reason to believe that he is not eligible.

The referendum will be held generally in accordance with the Secretary's regulations governing the holding of referenda on marketing quotas (7 CFR Part 717).

The community referendum committee provided for in said regulations to conduct the referendum in each community or neighborhood shall consist of farmers in the community or neighborhood who are eligible to vote in the referendum.

BLUE ISLAND COMMUNITY BROADCASTING CO., INC.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of Blue Island Community Broadcasting Co., Inc., Blue Island, Illinois; Docket No. 12604, File No. BPH-2458; for construction permit.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of September 1958;

The Commission having under consideration the above-captioned application of the Blue Island Community Broadcasting Co., Inc., for a construction permit for a new Class A FM broadcast station to operate on 96.7 megacycles (Channel No. 244) in Blue Island, Illinois; and

It appearing that except as indicated by the issues specified below, the applicant is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to operate the proposed station but that the applicant's proposed operation would cause interference to Stations WNIB and WBBM-FM, Chicago, Illinois (97.1 and 96.3 megacycles, respectively) in areas around the proposed Blue Island transmitter site; and

It further appearing that pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the applicant was advised by letter dated August 4, 1958, of the aforementioned and that the Commission was unable to conclude that a grant of the application would be in the public interest; and

It further appearing that in a petition dated August 27, 1958, and in an attached engineering affidavit the applicant pointed out that of the available Class A channels the interference problem on each of the channels is essentially the same, namely, 400 kilocycles separation and a small amount of interference to the 1 mv/m contours, and stated that in its opinion the proposal was in accordance with § 3.313 (c) of the Commission's rules and requested a grant of the application without hearing; and

It further appearing that by letters dated July 21 and August 8, 1958, respectively, the Northern Illinois Broadcasting Co., Inc., and the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., licensees of WNIB and WBBM-FM, repectively, both opposed a grant of the application on the basis of said interference; and

It further appearing that the Commission, after consideration of the foregoing, is of the opinion that a hearing on the instant application is necessary;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the application of the Blue Island Community Broadcasting Co., Inc., is designated for hearing, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations within the 50 uv/m and 1 mv/m contours of the proposed operation and the availability of other such FM broadcast service to the said areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the proposed station at Blue Island, Illinois, would cause interference to Stations WNIB and WBBM-FM, both of Chicago, Illinois, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby and the availability of other service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether the operation of the proposed Class A station at Blue Island, Illinois, would be in compliance with § 3.313 (c) of the Commission's rules with particular reference to the requirement that such channel be utilized when necessary to provide an equitable and efficient use of the facilities.

4. To determine in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, whether the above-described application of the Blue Island Community Broadcasting Co., Inc., would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity.

It is further ordered, That the Northern Illinois Broadcasting Co., Inc., licensee of Station WNIB, and the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., licensee of Station WBBM-FM, are made parties to the proceeding.

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicant and parties respondent herein, pursuant to § 1.140 of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission, in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

Released: September 22, 1958.

WABASH VALLEY BROADCASTING CORP. (WTHI-TV) AND LIVESAY BROADCASTING CO., INC.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATIONS FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re applications of Wabash Valley Broadcasting Corporation (WTHI-TV), Terre Haute, Indiana; Docket No. 12605, File No. BRCT-193; for renewal of license; Livesay Broadcasting Co., Inc., Terre Haute, Indiana; Docket No. 12606, File No. BPCT-2514; for construction permit for new television broadcast station.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of September 1958;

The Commission having under consideration the above-captioned application (BRCT-193) of Wabash Valley Broadcasting Corporation requesting renewal of its license for Station WTHI-TV, Channel 10 in Terre Haute, Indiana, and the application (BCPT-2514) of Livesay Broadcasting Co., Inc., for a construction permit for a new television broadcast station to operate on Channel 10 in Terre Haute; and

It appearing that the above-captioned applications are mutually exclusive in that operation by both applicants, as proposed, would result in mutually destructive interference; and

It further appearing, that by letters dated September 4, 1958, each of the above-named applicants requests that its application be designated for hearing immediately and expressly waives its rights under section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, to notice preceding designation for hearing, of all objections to its application, as well as the source and nature of such objections, and an opportunity to reply; and

It further appearing that the above-named applicants are the only parties entitled to notice under section 309 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; and

It further appearing that upon due consideration of the above-captioned applications, the Commisson finds that pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Communication Act of 1934, as amended, a hearing is necessary; that Wabash Valley Broadcasting Corporation is legally, financially, technically and otherwise qualified to own and operate the proposed television broadcast station; that Livesay Broadcasting Co., Inc. is legally qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed television broadcast station, is technically so qualified except as to issues "1", "2", and "3" below; and is otherwise qualified except as to issue "4" below;

It is ordered, That pursuant to section 309 (b) of the Comunications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-captioned applications of Wabash Valley Broadcasting Corporation and Livesay Broadcasting Co., Inc., are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order upon the following issues:

1. To determine the precise geographic coordinates for the proposed antenna site of Livesay Broadcasting Co., Inc., since the coordinates specified do not define the same location indicated by Exhibit VII of the application.

2. To determine whether the profile graphs submitted by Livesay Broadcasting Co., Inc., comply with the provisions of § 3.684 (d) of the rules.

3. To determine whether the proposed antenna system and site of Livesay Broadcasting Co., Inc., would constitute a hazard to air navigation.

4. To determine whether Livesay Broadcasting Co., Inc., is financially qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed television broadcast station.

5. To determine on a comparative basis which of the operations proposed in the above-captioned applications would better serve the public interest, convenience and necessity in light of the significant differences between the applicants as to:

a. The background and experience of each having a bearing on its ability to own and operate the proposed television broadcast station.

b. The proposals of each with respect to the management and operation of the proposed television broadcast stations.

c. The programming service proposed in each of the above-captioned applications.

6. To determine, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That the issues in the above-entitled proceeding may be enlarged by the Examiner, on his own motion or on petition properly filed by a party to the proceeding and upon a sufficient allegation of facts in support thereof, by the addition of the following issue: To determine whether the funds available to the applicants will give reasonable assurance that the proposals set forth in the applications will be effectuated.

It is further ordered, That to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard Wabash Valley Broadcasting Corporation and Livesay Broadcasting Co., Inc., pursuant to § 1.140 (c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall within 20 days of the mailing of this order file with the Commission, in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

RALPH R. GILSTER ET AL.

ORDER AMENDING ORDER FOR HEARING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATES

SEPTEMBER 19, 1958.

On September 4, 1958, Ralph R. Gilster et al. (Gilster) filed a telegram petition to amend the order issued August 20, 1958 (In the Matter of Ralph R. Gilster et al., Docket No. G-16025), providing for hearing as to the lawfulness of Supplement Nos. 5 and 6 to his FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2 and suspending and deferring use thereof "until the date on which Supplement No. 1 to Gilster's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2 is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act, or until August 2, 1958, whichever is later." Since the aforementioned supplements were tendered to reflect the addition of the Louisiana Gas Gathering Tax[1] to a rate then in effect, the rationale of Commission Order No. 206 issued July 11, 1958, should control.

The Commission finds: It is appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the order issued on August 20, 1958, at Docket No. G-16025, suspending and deferring use of Supplement Nos. 5 and 6 to Gilster's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2 be amended as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Paragraph (B) of the aforementioned order issued August 20, 1958, is hereby amended to read as follows:

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, each of said supplements be and each is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until August 2, 1958, and until such further time as each is made effective in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

(B) The aforesaid order is further amended to include the following additional provisions:

(E) The rate, charge, and classification set forth in each of the aforementioned supplements to Gilster's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2 shall be effective as of August 2, 1958: Provided, however, That on or before October 8, 1958, Gilster shall execute and file with the Secretary of the Commission the agreement and undertaking described in paragraph (G) below.

(F) Gilster shall refund at such times and in such amounts to the persons entitled thereto, and in such manner as may be required by final order of the Commission, the difference between the presently effective rates and charges and the proposed increased rates and charges hereby allowed to become effective in the event the additional tax of one cent per Mcf levied by the State of Louisiana is for any reason held to be invalid. Should such additional tax eventually be held invalid and the State of Louisiana makes refund, with interest, of the tax monies collected pursuant to the said Act No. 8 of 1958, then, and in that event, a proportionate part of the interest so received by Gilster herein shall be passed on and paid to the persons entitled thereto at such times and in such amounts and in such manner as may be required by final order of the Commission. Gilster shall bear all costs of any such refunding; shall keep accurate accounts in detail of all amounts received by reason of the increased rates or charges allowed by this order to become effective, for each billing period, specifying by whom and in whose behalf such amounts were paid; and shall report (original and four copies), in writing and under oath, to the Commission quarterly, or monthly if Gilster so elects, for each billing period, and for each purchaser, the billing determinants of natural gas to such purchasers and the revenues resulting therefrom, as computed under the rates in effect immediately prior to the date upon which the increased rates allowed by this order become effective, and under the rates allowed by this order to become effective, together with the differences in the revenues so computed.

(G) As a condition of this order, on or before October 8, 1958, Gilster shall execute and file in triplicate with the Secretary of this Commission a written agreement and undertaking to comply with the terms of paragraph (F) hereof, and accompanied by a certificate showing service of copies thereof upon all purchasers under the rate schedule involved, as follows:

Agreement and Undertaking of Ralph R. Gilster et al. To Comply With the Terms and Conditions of Paragraph (F) of Federal Power Commission's Order, as Amended, Making Effective Proposed Rate Changes

In conformity with the requirements of the order issued ----------, as amended by order issued ----------, in Docket No. G-16025, Ralph R. Gilster et al. hereby agree and undertakes to comply with the terms and conditions of paragraph (F) of said order, and for said purpose has executed this agreement and undertaking this ----- day of ----------

By ----------

Witness:

Unless Gilster is advised to the contrary within 15 days after the date of filing such agreement and undertaking, the agreement and undertaking should be deemed to have been accepted.

(H) If Gilster shall, in conformity with the terms and conditions of paragraph (F) of this order make such refunds as may be required by order of the Commission, the undertaking shall be discharged; otherwise, it shall remain in full force and effect.

(C) In all other respects, said order issued August 20, 1958, in this proceeding shall remain in full force and effect.

By the Commission.

PART 31—CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES; GENERAL PROCEDURES

1. Section 31.4 is changed to read:

§ 31.4 Where claims should be filed. Action will generally be expedited if claimants file their claims initially with the administrative department or agency out of whose activities they arose. Claims which cannot be disposed of administratively will be transmitted to the Claims Division of the General Accounting Office by the administrative office. However, as to claim filing requirements when the statutory period of limitation is about to expire, see § 31.5. Claims filed direct with the General Accounting Office should be addressed to

Claims Division,
U. S. General Accounting Office,
Washington 25, D. C.

(Sec. 311, 42 Stat. 25, 31 U. S. C. 52. Interprets or applies sec. 305, 42 Stat. 24, 31 U. S. C. 71)

2. Section 31.5 is changed to read:

(b) Statutory limitation on check claims. The statutory limitation on claims on account of checks appearing to have been paid are contained in 31 U. S. C. 122. To protect their own interests, it is the responsibility of claimants to present their claims for the proceeds of checks to the Treasurer of the United States or the General Accounting Office if the statutory period of limitation is about to expire.

(c) Other statutory limitations. It is not intended to imply that statutes of limitation imposed by Congress are necessarily limited to those cited in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section. It is incumbent on claimants to inform themselves regarding other possible statutory limitations.

(Sec. 311, 42 Stat. 25, 31 U. S. C. 52. Interprets or applies 31 U. S. C. 71)

3. Section 31.6 is amended to read:

§ 31.6 Information relating to claims presented to the Claims Division of the General Accounting Office. Claimants or their authorized representatives may obtain information relating to claims which have been presented to the Claims Division of the General Accounting Office by addressing correspondence to

Claims Division,
U. S. General Accounting Office,
Washington 25, D. C.

or by calling in person at that Office at 441 G Street NW.

(Sec. 311, 42 Stat. 25, 31 U. S. C. 52)

4. Section 31.8 is changed to read:

§ 31.8 Form of claim settlements—(a) Allowed claims. The Claims Division of the General Accounting Office will certify claims for payment either by use of a Certificate of Settlement, GAO Form 39, or by certificate of allowance placed on the voucher when voucher procedures are in effect.

(b) Disallowed claims. When part of a claim is allowed and part disallowed, a statement relating to the disallowed portion will be included on the certificate of settlement or the voucher. When the full amount of a claim is disallowed, the claimant will be advised by issuance of Settlement Certificate, GAO Form 44.

2. Section 33.3 is changed to read:

§ 33.3 Forms prescribed for procedures in this part. Forms prescribed for procedures in this part are:

(c) General Accounting Office. Except in cases involving deceased employees of the District of Columbia, Canal Zone Government, Government corporations, or deceased officers and employees of the House of Representatives, claims for unpaid compensation due deceased employees of the Federal Government will be paid only upon settlement by the Claims Division of the General Accounting Office:

(1) When no beneficiary has been designated and there is no surviving spouse;

(2) When the designated beneficiary is a minor, is an incompetent, or is the estate of the deceased employee, since such claims are considered as always involving doubt; or

(3) When any doubtful question of law or fact is involved.

(Sec. 311, 42 Stat. 25, 31 U. S. C. 52. Interprets or applies sec. 3, 64 Stat. 396, 5 U. S. C. 61h)

(b) Where claims should be filed. Action will generally be expedited if claimants file their claims initially with the administrative department or agency out of whose activities they arose.

(c) Assisting claimants in filing claims. Such assistance as is deemed necessary may be given to claimants by the administrative agency concerned to insure proper execution and submission of the SF 1055.

§ 35.5 Unnegotiated and undelivered Government checks. All unnegotiated U. S. Government checks in possession of the claimant, drawn to the order of the decendent and involved in the claim, should be returned to the agency from which received.

§ 35.6 Applicability of general claim procedures. Except as otherwise provided herein, the provisions of Part 31 of this subchapter relating to the procedures applicable to claims generally are equally applicable to the claims to which this part relates.

PART 36—INCOMPETENT PUBLIC CREDITORS; PROCEDURES FOR SETTLEMENT OF ACCOUNTS

Part 36 is completely revised, as follows:

Sec.
36.1 Scope of part.
36.2 Jurisdiction.
36.3 Claim filing requirements.
36.4 Disposition of unnegotiated and undelivered Government checks.
36.5 Applicability of general claim procedures.

AUTHORITY: §§ 36.1 to 36.5 issued under sec. 311, 42 Stat. 25, 31 U. S. C. 52. Interprets or applies sec. 305, 42 Stat. 24, 31 U. S. C. 71.

§ 36.1 Scope of part. This part prescribed the procedures applicable to the settlement of claims for amounts due incompetent public creditors of the United States, including claims for the proceeds of Government checks drawn on the Treasurer of the United States or other authorized Government depositary to the order of such creditors, except those claims which are under the exclusive jurisdiction of administrative agencies pursuant to specific statutory authority.

§ 36.2 Jurisdiction—(a) Claims Division, General Accounting Office. The claims to which this part relates are considered as generally involving such elements of doubt as to require their submission to the Claims Division of the General Accounting Office for adjudication. Therefore, except in the case of recurring payments to guardians and committees, they shall be submitted to the Claims Division of the General Accounting Office for direct settlement. However, action will generally be expedited if claimants file their claims initially with the administrative department or agency out of whose activities they arose.

(b) Administrative agencies. After the first payment has been certified by the General Accounting Office to a guardian or committee, recurring payments may be made in the same form and capacity by the administrative office as long as the appointment as guardian or committee remains in effect and the matter is otherwise free from doubt.

§ 36.3 Claim filing requirements—(a) Form of claim. No form is prescribed for use in making claim for sums due incompetent creditors of the United States. Such claims must be filed in writing over the signature and full address of the person claiming on behalf of the incompetent creditor and must set forth the connection of the incompetent creditor with the United States Government, giving the name of the department, bureau, establishment or agency involved.

(b) Claim filed by guardian or committee—(1) Initial claim. The initial claim filed by the guardian or committee of the estate of an incompetent must be accompanied by a short certificate of the court showing the appointment and qualification of the claimant as guardian or committee.

(2) Claims for recurring payments. Subsequent claims from guardians or committees for recurring payments need not be accompanied by an additional certificate of the court, but they must be supported by a statement that the appointment is still in full force and effect.

(c) Claims filed by other than guardian or committee. When the amount due the incompetent is small and no guardian or committee of the estate has been or will be appointed, payment may be made, in the discretion of the Comptroller General, to the person or persons having care or custody of the incompetent, or to close relatives who will hold the amount for the use and benefit of the incompetent. The claim must be supported by a statement showing (1) that: No guardian or committee has been or will be appointed; (2) the claimant's relationship to the incompetent, if any; (3) the name and address of the person having care and custody of the incompetent; and (4) that any amount paid to the claimant will be applied to the use and benefit of the incompetent.

§ 36.4 Disposition of unnegotiated and undelivered Government checks. All unnegotiated U. S. Government checks in possession of the claimant, drawn to the order of the incompetent public creditor and involved in the claim, should be returned to the agency from which received.

§ 36.5 Applicability of general claim procedures. The provisions of Part 31 of this subchapter relating to the procedures applicable to claims generally are applicable also to the settlement of accounts of incompetent public creditors to which this chapter relates.

PART 51 — PASSENGER TRANSPORTATION SERVICE FOR THE ACCOUNT OF THE UNITED STATES

Section 51.19 is changed to read:

§ 51.19 Stopovers. When a traveler is obliged to make one or more stops to conduct official business, a through ticket with stopover privileges usually can be utilized at a saving to the Government and will require the issuance of only one transportation request. Each stopover on official business must be specifically indicated on the transportation request when (a) travel is by domestic airlines; (b) Pullman accommodations are used; or (c) excess baggage services via air are involved.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VIII—Commodity Stabilization Service (Sugar), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter B—Sugar Requirements and Quotas

[Sugar Reg. 811, Amdt. 6]

PART 811—CONTINENTAL SUGAR REQUIREMENTS AND AREA QUOTAS

DETERMINATION AND PRORATION OF 1958 QUOTA DEFICITS

Basis and purpose. This amendment is issued pursuant to the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended, hereinafter called the "act" for the purpose of determining and prorating additional deficits in the quotas for Hawaii and the Virgin Islands for sugar to be marketed in the continental United States in 1958.

Section 204 (a) of the act provides that the Secretary shall from time to time determine whether any area will be unable to market its quota and prescribes the manner in which any deficit in a quota for a domestic area or Cuba is to be prorated to other such areas able to supply the additional sugar. Such section provides that any deficit in any domestic producing area occurring by reason of inability to market that part of the quota for such area allotted under the provisions of section 202 (a) (2) of the act, shall first be prorated to other domestic areas on the basis of the quotas then in effect, and the remainder of such deficit to be prorated to other domestic areas and Cuba on the basis of quotas then in effect.

The act also provides that the quota for any area as established under the provisions of section 202 shall not be reduced by reason of any determination of a deficit.

In order to afford sellers of sugar in affected areas an adequate opportunity to plan marketings and to market the additional sugar authorized by this amendment, and thereby protect the interest of consumers, it is essential that this amenmdent be made effective immediately. Therefore, it is hereby determined and found that compliance with the notice, procedure and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary, impracticable and contrary to the public interest and the amendment herein shall become effective when published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (61 Stat. 922, as amended) and the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237) § 811.4 of Sugar Regulation 811 (23 F. R. 2705 as amended) is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 811.4 Determination and proration of area deficits and adjusted quotas—(a) Deficit in quotas established in § 811.2. It is hereby determined, pursuant to subsection (a) of section 204 of the act, that for the calendar year 1958, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands will be unable by 390,496, 325,253 and 9,449 short tons, raw value, of sugar, respectively, to market the quotas established for such areas in § 811.2.

(b) Quotas in effect upon proration of deficits in parts of quotas established pursuant to section 202 (a) (2). The part of the deficits determined in paragraph (a) of this section applicable to that portion of the quotas in § 811.2 established pursuant to the provisions of section 202 (a) (2) of the act, which amounts to 102,298 short tons, raw value, is hereby prorated on the basis of the quotas established in § 811.2 to domestic areas to the extent each such area is able to supply additional quantities. The quotas for such areas in effect upon publication of this paragraph in the FEDERAL REGISTER shall be those established in § 811.2 plus the quantities prorated herein, as follows:

Area	Prorated herein	Quotas including prorations herein and in para. (b) of this section
	Short tons, raw value
Domestic beet sugar	223,695	2,255,874
Mainland cane sugar	68,833	694,154
Hawaii	0	1,090,496
Puerto Rico	0	1,140,253
Virgin Islands	0	15,549
Cuba	330,372	3,331,667

Quotas for foreign countries other than Cuba remain as established in § 811.3.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

On May 23, prior to the end of the strike which disrupted sugar production in Hawaii, a determination was made that the supply of Hawaiian sugar available for entry into the continental United States in 1958 would not likely exceed 765,000 short tons, raw value. Immediately after resumption of production, the Hawaiian industry estimated that total production in 1958 would be 820,000 tons. It was then possible that production might be somewhat larger. Since then, however, the weekly record of operations through September 6, does not support that possibility. Furthermore, the industry in mid-September again estimated production at 820,000 tons.

The quantity of Hawaiian sugar which can arrive at United States ports before December 31, 1958, is now expected to approximate 700,000 tons since a portion of the year's production will occur in late December and approximately 43,000 tons of sugar will be needed for consumption in the Islands.

The deficit herein established for the Virgin Islands is based on entries of approximately 6,100 tons, the total available in 1958. The deficit as previously established for Puerto Rica is unchanged.

Inasmuch as production has been completed in both Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, it is possible now to estimate accurately the entries against those quotas during the full year 1958. The declared deficits reflect such estimates. On the other hand, a substantial part of Hawaiian production will occur between now and the end of the year. Even though the adjusted quota for that area has now been reduced to 700,000 tons, additional sugar may be entered if the level of production permits. The act reserves to each of the areas the right to enter its full quota even though deficits may have been declared and reallotted to other areas.

Accordingly, deficits of 390,496, 325,253 and 9,449 short tons, raw value, in the mainland quotas for Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, respectively, are hereby determined and pursuant to section 204 (a) of the act, 102, 298 tons are prorated to domestic areas able to market additional sugar on the basis of the quotas for such areas as established in S. R. 811, Amendment 5 (23 F. R. 4597), and 622,900 tons are prorated to such domestic areas and Cuba on the basis of the quotas in effect after proration of the 102,298 tons.

This supplement clarifies the phrase "fuel injection pumps" contained in § 3.449 of the Civil Air Regulations.

1. A new § 3.449–1 is added to read:

§ 3.449–1 Fuel injection pump (CAA interpretations which apply to § 3.449 (b)). The phrase "fuel injection pump" means a pump that supplies proper flow and pressure conditions for fuel injection [1] when such injection is not accomplished in a carburetor.

PART 4b—AIRPLANE AIRWORTHINESS; TRANSPORT CATEGORIES

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

This supplement revises the table for engine power corrections in § 4b.110–1; clarifies the phrase "fuel injection pumps", outlined in § 4b.430 of the Civil Air Regulations; establishes in § 4b.606–2 new policies concerning the location and installation details for flight recorders; limits the effect of the addition or deletion of an instrument on the accuracy of required duplicate instruments in § 4b.612–5; and amends CAA policy contained in § 4b.740–1 (b) (9) by specifying the applicable windshield temperature limits to be included in the flight manual.

[1] Fuel injection is a special form of carburetion: the charging of air or gas with volatile carbon compounds. It is either an intermittent charging of air by discrete, metered quantities of fuel such as occurs in a Diesel cylinder or it is a continuous charging of air by fuel, the fuel flow being proportioned to the airflow through the engine. Examples of continuous injection are injections into the supercharger section of a reciprocating engine or into the combustion chambers of a turbine engine.

1. Revise § 4b.110–1 (a) to read as follows:

§ 4b.110–1 Engine power corrections (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.110)— (a) Engine power corrections for vapor pressure. The following standard vapor pressures, specific humidities, and densities versus altitude have been established for the purpose of correcting airplane performance data in accordance with § 4b.110.

Altitude H (Ft.)	Vapor pressure e (In. Hg.)	Specific humidity w (lb. moisture per lb. dry air)	Density ratio $\sigma = \frac{\rho}{.0023769}$

2. A new § 4b.430–1 is added to read:

§ 4b.430–1 Fuel injection pump (CAA interpretations which apply to § 4b.430). The phrase "fuel injection pump" means a pump that supplies the proper flow and pressure conditions for fuel injection [1] when such injection is not accomplished in a carburetor.

3. Section 4b.606–2 is amended to read:

§ 4b.606–2 Installation of flight recorders (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.606). Flight recorders required under Parts 40, 41, and 42 of this subchapter as amended should be installed in the airplane in conformance with the following:

(a) Location of flight recorder. The recorder should be located in accordance with the applicable type in the following:

Type I—Unrestricted location.
Type II—Restricted to any location more than one-half of the wing root chord from the main wing structure through the fuselage and from any fuel tanks.
Type III—Unrestricted location.

(b) Vertical acceleration sensing. (1) The vertical acceleration forces should be sensed at a location within or adjacent to the fuselage, and within or as close to the center of gravity range of the airplane as practicable.

(2) The vertical acceleration sensor, or the unit in which it is contained, should be attached to a rigid structural member of the airplane so that vertical acceleration forces present in that area can be sensed with a minimum of error.

(3) Sensing of only the in-flight vertical acceleration forces is necessary; impact forces need not be sensed.

(c) Connection to sources of data. The air speed, altitude, and heading data should be obtained from either [2] a required duplicate instrument, or from a source independent of required flight and navigation instrument systems, or a combination thereof. No connection should be made within the case itself of the required altimeter indicators. If data are obtained from an independent source, such source should provide data which has an accuracy equivalent to corresponding data furnished by required flight and navigation instrument systems. Provisions need not be made to disconnect or isolate the recorder in flight from sources of data which are independent of required flight and navigation instruments.

(d) Connection to electrical power. The flight recorder should be connected to a bus of maximum reliability when such connection does not jeopardize service to essential or emergency loads. If service to such loads is affected, the recorder should be connected to a bus of the next lower reliability.

4. Section 4b.612–5 is amended to read:

§ 4b.612–5 Connection of additional instruments to duplicate instrument system (CAA policies which apply to § 4b.612 (f)). Neither the accuracy nor the performance of any required duplicate instrument should be reduced below the minimum required by the pertinent Civil Air Regulations when an additional instrument is connected to or is subsequently disconnected from the system.

4. Amend § 4b.740–1 (b) (9) by adding a new subdivision (v) to read:

(v) The windshield temperature limits or head adjustment setting should be specified if resistance to bird penetration is dependent upon operation within a particular windshield temperature range.

This amendment shall become effective October 20, 1958.

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

This amendment to Part 507 contains the Airworthiness Directives amended or issued during August 1958. Individual notice of the Airworthiness Directives contained herein has been given to operators and other interested persons who are subscribers to a Civil Aeronautics Administration mailing service.

In the interest of safety, compliance with the notice, procedures and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and therefore, is not required.

Section 507.10 (a) is amended as follows:

1. 58–5–2 Vickers Viscount 700 series as it appeared in 23 F. R. 2568 is revised by replacing the entire text of paragraph C with the following:

C. Inspections and modifications to the catenary floor (forward of station 132) are required in accordance with PTL NE 139 issue 4 and modifications D.1884 Part B and D.2313. These modifications should if possible be embodied together. For aircraft that have had the cabin differential pressure set at 6.5 psi since commencement of operation, modification D.1884 Part B must be embodied at or before 4750 flights, and modification D.2313 at or before 1500 flights after the incorporation of modification D.1884 Part B if not concurrently embodied. For aircraft that have operated at a maximum of 5.5 psi cabin differential pressure since commencement of operation, modification D.1884 Part B must be embodied at or before 6500 flights, and modification D.2313 at or before 2100 flights after the incorporation modification D.1884 Part B if not concurrently embodied.

2. 58–10–9 Vickers Viscount 700 series as it appeared in 23 F. R. 4726 is revised by changing the text of paragraphs (4) and (5) to:

(4) If the length or depth of the cracks exceed the limits quoted in item 3, the part is no longer considered serviceable and must be replaced with new cylinder, in accordance with Vickers Mod. No. D.2694.

(5) After embodiment of the new cylinders to either Part (a) or (c) of Mod. D.2694, the above inspections may be discontinued.

The final statement is also changed to read:

(Vickers-Armstrongs PTL 191, Issue 3, and Modification D.2694 cover this subject.)

3. The following new airworthiness directives are added:

58–16–1 PIPER. Applies to Piper Model PA–18 Serial Numbers 20–1 to 20–1131, Inclusive, and Model PA–22 Serial Numbers 22–1 to 22–6087, Inclusive, That Have Cigar Lighters Installed.

Compliance required within next 100 hours operation.

To preclude the possibility of blowing the master fuses, due to a short circuit caused by a faulty cigar lighter element, install a 15 ampere standard fuse, Bussman No. AGC–15 or equivalent, in the wire between the cigar lighter and the ammeter.

(Piper Service Bulletin Number 163A covers the same subject.)

58–17–1 BELL. Applies to All 47J Helicopters.

Compliance required as indicated.

To preclude the possibility of failure of the 47–110–267–9 counterweight bracket assembly, the service life of this part has been established at 300 hours. All 47–110–267–9 bracket assemblies which have accumulated 900 hours or more of service must be replaced no later than August 31, 1958, and every 300 hours of service thereafter.

This replacement consists of the removal of the two 47–110–267–9 main rotor counterweight bracket assemblies, and the installation of new counterweight bracket assemblies. Change and replace bracket assemblies in accordance with applicable instructions contained in the Maintenance and Overhaul Instruction Handbook.

(Bell's Service Bulletin Number 127 SB dated 7/16/58 covers this same subject.)

58–17–2 CURTISS-WRIGHT. Applies to All C–46 Series Aircraft Including The Models C–46R and C–46/CW20–T Aircraft.

Compliance required as noted.

Due to recurrent fatigue cracking on the horizontal tail surfaces the following inspections must be accomplished:

(1) Conduct a daily visual external inspection of the horizontal tail surfaces for cracks with especial reference to cracks developing in the skin and ribs in the area of the elevator balance weights and the elevator hinge cut-outs.

(2) A detailed visual inspection of the horizontal tail surfaces must be conducted at intervals not to exceed 60 hours of operation. Particular attention should be paid to cracks developing in the area of the balance weights on the elevator, elevator nose ribs, elevator main spar, and elevator and stabilizer hinge ribs.

(3) Any cracks found must be repaired in accordance with the structural repair manual or other approved repair method prior to the next flight. Stop drilling of cracks is not considered a repair but may form part of a repair.

58–17–3 CURTISS-WRIGHT AND MARTIN. Applies to 202, 202A, 404 and C–46 Series (Including C–46/CW20–T) Aircraft Having Propeller Hydraulic Feathering Lines Routed Over or Attached to Engine Cylinder Assemblies.

Compliance recommended at the next engine overhaul but required by June 1, 1959.

Several cases of engine cylinder failures have occurred in which it was subsequently impossible to feather the propeller. In these cases the feathering line, which was routed over a front row cylinder, was severed by a dislodged cylinder, thus preventing feathering and causing an additional fire hazard from oil being pumped over the engine. The record of cylinder failures from studs loosening or breaking indicates that the front row cylinders are mainly involved.

To prevent loss of feathering control from such failures, either of the following is required:

(1) The propeller feathering line must be routed between cylinders. It must be supported in a manner avoiding attachment to a cylinder, and the line located at least three to four inches from the cylinder flanges.

(2) The propeller feathering line must be routed between cylinders on the front row of cylinders, in the manner described above. However, it will be acceptable for the line to be routed over a rear row cylinder provided it can be determined that sufficient flexibility is provided to prevent feathering line damage in the event of cylinder failure.

58–17–4 PIAGGIO. Applies to All Model P.136–L1 and P.136–L2 Aircraft.

Compliance required by December 1, 1958.

Several cases have occurred where the water rudder inadvertently dropped into the extended position during water landings. In order to avoid future occurrences, Piaggio & Co. recommends that a hook be incorporated at the water rudder retraction cylinder, which is controllable by the pilot. In addition, the forward section of the water rudder should be cut off, in order to prevent any interference with the retraction of the water rudder because of the accumulation of debris.

This modification is considered mandatory by the Registro Areonautico Italiano. The CAA concurs and considers compliance therewith mandatory.

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The restricted area alterations appearing hereinafter have been coordinated with the civil operators involved, the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, through the Air Coordinating Committee, Airspace Division, and are adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety of the flying public. Since a military function of the United States is involved, compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is not required.

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

PART 3—STATEMENTS OF GENERAL POLICY OR INTERPRETATION

LABELING OF DETERGENT SUBSTANCES, OTHER THAN SOAP, INTENDED FOR USE IN CLEANSING THE BODY

Under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 701 (a), 52 Stat. 1055, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 371) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (22 F. R. 1045), and pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act (sec. 3, 60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1002), the following statement of interpretation is issued:

§ 3.652 Labeling of detergent substances, other than soap, intended for use in cleansing the body. (a) In its definition of the term "cosmetic," the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act specifically excludes soap. The term "soap" is nowhere defined in the act. In administering the act, the Food and Drug Administration interprets the term "soap" to apply only to articles that meet the following conditions:

(1) The bulk of the nonvolatile matter in the product consists of an alkali salt of fatty acids and the detergent properties of the article are due to the alkali-fatty acid compounds; and

(2) The product is labeled, sold, and represented only as soap.

(b) Products intended for cleansing the human body and which are not "soap" as set out in paragraph (a) of this section are "cosmetics," and accordingly they are subject to the requirements of the act and the regulations thereunder. For example, such a product in bar form is subject to the requirement, among others, that it shall bear a label containing an accurate statement of the weight of the bar in avoirdupois pounds and ounces, this statement to be prominently and conspicuously displayed so as to be likely to be read under the customary conditions of purchase and use.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE, 1954

Chapter I—Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury

[T. D. 6317]

PART 18—TEMPORARY REGULATIONS RELATING TO CERTAIN INCOME TAX MATTERS UNDER THE TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS ACT OF 1958

ELECTION OF SMALL BUSINESS CORPORATIONS

The following rules, prescribed under the Technical Amendments Act of 1958, 72 Stat. 1606, relate to certain elections or other actions by taxpayers under the provisions of such act.

The rules set forth herein are temporary rules designed to inform taxpayers as to how, when, and where to perform certain acts required or permitted under the Technical Amendments Act of 1958. More comprehensive rules with respect to the subjects involved will be incorporated in subsequent regulations under the act. The inclusion in this Treasury decision of rules relating to certain acts is intended to assist taxpayers in the performance of such acts. Rules with respect to other acts required or permitted by other provisions of the act will be covered in subsequent regulations.

In order to prescribe temporary rules with respect to certain small business corporations and their shareholders making an election under the provisions of subchapter S, as added by section 64 of the Technical Amendments Act of 1958, the following regulations are hereby adopted:

§ 18.1-1 Election of certain small business corporations—(a) In General. Section 64 of the Technical Amendments Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 1650) amends the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 by adding at the end of chapter 1 a new subchapter S, comprising sections 1371 through 1377, and by adding a new section 6037, relating to information returns. Subchapter S permits a "small business corporation" (as defined in section 1371 (a)) to elect under section 1372 (a) (with the consent of all its shareholders) not to be subject to the income tax imposed by chapter 1. The election may be made only if the corporation is a domestic corporation; is not a member of an affiliated group of corporations (as defined in section 1504); and does not have (1) more than one class of stock, (2) more than 10 shareholders, (3) a shareholder (other than an estate) who is not an individual, or (4) a shareholder who is a nonresident alien. An election under section 1372 (a) may be made only with respect to a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1957, and ending after September 2, 1958. The election shall be effective for the taxable year of the corporation for which it is made and for all succeeding taxable years unless it is terminated under section 1372 (e). The taxable income of an electing small business corporation, to the extent that it exceeds dividends distributed in money out of earnings and profits of the taxable year, is taxed directly to the shareholders to the extent that it would have constituted a dividend if it had been distributed on the last day of the corporation's taxable year.

(b) Manner of making election—(1) In general. The election under section 1372 (a) should be made by the corporation by filing Form 2553, containing the information required by such form, and by filing, in the manner provided in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, a statement of the consent of each shareholder of the corporation. If the Form 2553 is not available, the election may be made by filing a statement containing the information required by Form 2553. Copies of Form 2553 or a description of the information required by such form will be furnished by district directors upon request. The election shall be signed by the person or persons who are authorized to sign the return required under section 6037 and shall be filed with the district director with whom such return is to be filed.

(2) Time of making election. (i) Except as provided in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, the election under section 1372 (a) and subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be filed for any taxable year either (a) during the first calendar month of such taxable year, or (b) during the calendar month preceding such first calendar month.

(ii) For any taxable year of a corporation which begins after December 31, 1957, and before September 3, 1958, and which ends after September 2, 1958, the election under section 1372 (a) and subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be made on or before December 1, 1958, or on or before the last day of the corporation's taxable year, whichever is earlier. An election for such taxable year may be made, however, only if the corporation has been a small business corporation (as defined in section 1371 (a)) on each day after September 2, 1958, and before the day of election.

(3) Statement of shareholder consent. (i) An election under section 1372 (a) shall be valid only if all persons who are shareholders of the corporation on the first day of the corporation's taxable year, or on the day of election (whichever is later) consent to such election. Such shareholder consent shall be in the form of a statement signed by the shareholders in which each such shareholder consents to the election of the corporation under section 1372 (a). The statement shall set forth the name and address of the corporation and of each shareholder, the number of shares of stock owned by each shareholder, and the date (or dates) on which such stock was acquired. The consents of all shareholders shall be attached to the election of the corporation filed with the district director. If the election is made before the first day of the corporation's taxable year, the consents of persons who become shareholders after the date of election and on or before such first day shall be filed with the district director with whom the election was filed as soon as practicable after such first day. In the case of a consent filed after the date of election, a copy of the consent shall be filed with the return required to be filed under section 6037. In no event will an election under section 1372 (a) be valid if the consents are filed after the last day prescribed for making the election.

(c) New shareholders. Section 1372 (e) (1) provides that an election under section 1372 (a) shall terminate if any person who was not a shareholder on the first day of the first taxable year for which the election is effective, or on the day on which the election is made (whichever is later), becomes a shareholder and does not consent to the election under section 1372 (a). Such termination shall be effective for the taxable year of the corporation in which such person becomes a shareholder and for all succeeding taxable years of such corporation. Any such consent by a new shareholder shall be made in a statement filed with the district director with whom the election was filed. Such statement of consent shall be filed within a period of 30 days beginning on the day on which such person becomes a new shareholder. Such statement shall state that such person consents to the election under section 1372 (a) and shall contain the name and address of the corporation and of such person, the number of shares of stock owned by such person, the date on which such shares were acquired, and the name and address of each person from whom such shares were acquired. A copy of the consent of a new shareholder shall be filed with the return required to be filed under section 6037 for the taxable year to which such consent applies.

(d) Revocation of election. Under section 1372 (e) (2) an election under section 1372 (a) may be revoked by the corporation (with the consent of all its shareholders) for any taxable year of the corporation after the first taxable year for which the election is effective. Such revocation shall be made by the corporation by filing a statement that the corporation revokes the election made under section 1372 (a). The statement shall be signed by the person or persons who are authorized to sign the return of the corporation required under section 6037 and shall be filed with the district director with whom the election was filed. In addition, there shall be attached to the statement of revocation a statement of consent, signed by each person who is a shareholder of the corporation on the day on which such statement of revocation is filed, in which each such shareholder consents to the revocation by the corporation of the election under section 1372 (a). Such revocation, if made before the close of the first month of the corporation's taxable year, shall be effective for the taxable year in which the revocation is made and for all succeeding taxable years of the corporation. If the revocation is made after the close of the first month of the corporation's taxable year, such revocation shall be effective for the taxable year of the corporation following that in which the revocation is made and for all succeeding taxable years of the corporation.

(e) Return of electing small business corporation. Section 6037 of the 1954 Code requires that every electing small business corporation (as defined in section 1371 (b)) shall make a return for each taxable year for which the election is effective. The return shall be filed on such form as shall be prescribed therefor and shall contain the information required by section 6037 and by such form. The return shall be signed by the person or persons who are authorized to sign a return under section 6062 and shall be filed with the district director with whom the income tax return of the corporation would be filed if the corporation were subject to the tax imposed by chapter 1. The return required under section 6037 shall be filed on or before the 15th day of the third month following the close of the taxable year of the corporation.

Because the time for making the election provided in section 1372 will in some cases expire in less than 15 days, it is found impracticable to issue this Treasury decision with notice and public procedure thereon under section (4) (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, or subject to the effective date limitation of section 4 (c) of that act.

TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans Administration

SUBPART B—VETERANS' READJUSTMENT ACT OF 1952

RATES OF EDUCATION AND TRAINING ALLOWANCE

In § 21.2052, paragraph (a) (1) (iv) is amended to read as follows:

§ 21.2052 Rates of education and training allowances—(a) Institutional training; full- and part-time rates. (1) * * *

(iv) If such program is pursued on a less than half-time basis, such allowance will be computed at the rate of (a) the established charges for tuition and fees, for the certified period of enrollment, which the institution requires similarly circumstanced nonveterans enrolled in the same course to pay, or (b) $110 per month for a full-time course, whichever is the lesser.

Example: A veteran is enrolled for a 5-semester-hour course which begins on September 1, 1957, and ends February 1, 1958. Charges for tuition and fees for the period of certified enrollment are $90. The veteran's period of enrollment is certified to extend from October 1, 1957, to February 1, 1958. The monthly rate of educational allowances is computed as follows:

$90 ÷ 4 mo. (period of enrollment) = $22.50
$110 × 5/4 = $39.29

The monthly rate payable is the lesser of the two, i. e., $22.50.

This regulation is effective September 26, 1958.

1. Section 6423 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, reads as follows:

SEC. 6423. Conditions to allowance in the case of alcohol and tobacco taxes—(a) Conditions. No credit or refund shall be allowed or made, in pursuance of a court decision or otherwise, of any amount paid or collected as an alcohol or tobacco tax unless the claimant establishes (under regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegate)—

(1) That he bore the ultimate burden of the amount claimed; or

(2) That he has unconditionally repaid the amount claimed to the person who bore the ultimate burden of such amount; or

(3) That (A) the owner of the commodity furnished him the amount claimed for payment of the tax, (B) he has filed with the Secretary or his delegate the written consent of such owner to the allowance to the claimant of the credit or refund, and (C) such owner satisfies the requirements of paragraph (1) or (2).

(b) Filing of claims. No credit or refund of any amount to which subsection (a) applies shall be allowed or made unless a claim therefor has been filed by the person who paid the amount claimed, and, except as hereinafter provided in this subsection, unless such claim is filed after April 30, 1958, and within the time prescribed by law, and in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary or his delegates. All evidence relied upon in support of such claim shall be clearly set forth and submitted with the claim. Any claimant who has on or before April 30, 1958, filed a claim for any amount to which subsection (a) applies may, if such claim was not barred from allowance on April 30, 1958, file a superseding claim after April 30, 1958, and on or before April 30, 1959, conforming to the requirements of this section and covering the amount (or any part thereof) claimed in such prior claim. No claim filed before May 1, 1958, for the credit or refund of any amount to which subsection (a) applies shall be held to constitute a claim for refund or credit within the meaning of, or for purposes of, section 7422 (a); except that any claimant who instituted a suit before June 15, 1957, for recovery of any amount to which subsection (a) applies shall not be barred by this subsection from the maintenance of such suit as to any amount claimed in such suit on such date if in such suit he establishes the conditions to allowance required under subsection (a) with respect to such amount.

(c) Period not extended. Any suit or proceeding, with respect to any amount to which subsection (a) applies, which is barred on April 30, 1958, shall remain barred. No claim for credit or refund of any such amount which is barred from allowance on April 30, 1958, shall be allowed after such date in any amount.

(d) Application of section. This section shall apply only if the credit or refund is claimed on the grounds that an amount of alcohol or tobacco tax was assessed or collected erroneously, illegally, without authority, or in any manner wrongfully, or on the grounds that such amount was excessive. This section shall not apply to—

(1) Any claim for drawback,

(2) Any claim made in accordance with any law expressly providing for credit or refund where a commodity is withdrawn from the market, returned to bond, or lost or destroyed, and

(3) Any amount claimed with respect to a commodity which has been lost, where a suit or proceeding was instituted before June 15, 1957.

(e) Meaning of terms. For purposes of this section—

(1) Alcohol or tobacco tax. The term "alcohol or tobacco tax" means—

(A) Any tax imposed by chapter 51 (other than part II of subchapter A, relating to occupational taxes) or by chapter 52 or by any corresponding provision of prior internal revenue laws, and

(B) In the case of any commodity of a kind subject to a tax described in subparagraph (A), any tax equal to any such tax, any additional tax, or any floor stocks tax.

(2) Tax. The term "tax" includes a tax and an exaction denominated a "tax", and any penalty, addition to tax, additional amount, or interest applicable to any such tax.

(3) Ultimate burden. The claimant shall be treated as having borne the ultimate burden of an amount of an alcohol or tobacco tax for purposes of subsection (a) (1), and the owner referred to in subsection (a) (3) shall be treated as having borne such burden for purposes of such subsection, only if—

(A) He has not, directly or indirectly, been relieved of such burden or shifted such burden to any other person,

(B) No understanding or agreement exists for any such relief or shifting, and

(C) If he has neither sold nor contracted to sell the commodities involved in such claim, he agrees that there will be no such relief or shifting, and furnishes such bond as the Secretary or his delegate may require to insure faithful compliance with his agreement.

C., or by any corresponding provision of prior internal revenue laws, and in the case of any commodity of a kind subject to a tax under such chapter, any tax equal to any such tax, any additional tax, or any floor stocks tax. The term includes an exaction denominated a "tax", and any penalty, addition to tax, additional amount, or interest applicable to any such tax.

§ 296.3 Applicability to certain credits or refunds. The provisions of this subpart apply only where the credit or refund is claimed on the grounds that an amount of tax was assessed or collected erroneously, illegally, without authority, or in any manner wrongfully, or on the grounds that such amount was excessive. This subpart does not apply to:

(a) Any claim for drawback,

(b) Any claim made in accordance with any law expressly providing for credit or refund where an article is withdrawn from the market, returned to bond, lost, or destroyed,

(c) Any amount claimed with respect to an article which has been lost, where a suit or proceeding was instituted before June 15, 1957, and

(d) Any claim based solely on errors in computation of the quantity of an article subject to tax or on mathematical errors in computation of the amount of the tax due, or to any claim in respect of tax collected or paid on an article seized and forfeited, or destroyed, as contraband.

§ 296.4 Ultimate burden. For the purposes of this subpart, the claimant, or owner, shall be treated as having borne the ultimate burden of an amount of tax only if:

(a) He has not, directly or indirectly, been relieved of such burden or shifted such burden to any other person,

(b) No understanding or agreement exists for any such relief or shifting, and

(c) If he has neither sold nor contracted to sell the articles involved in such claim, he agrees that there will be no such relief or shifting, and furnishes bond as provided in § 296.10.

§ 296.5 Conditions to allowance of credit or refund. No credit or refund to which this subpart is applicable shall be allowed or made, pursuant to a court decision or otherwise, of any amount paid or collected as a tax unless a claim therefor has been filed, as provided in this subpart, by the person who paid the tax and the claimant, in addition to establishing that he is otherwise legally entitled to credit or refund of the amount claimed, establishes:

(a) That he bore the ultimate burden of the amount claimed, or

(b) That he has unconditionally repaid the amount claimed to the person who bore the ultimate burden of such amount, or

(c) That (1) the owner of the article furnished him the amount claimed for payment of the tax, (2) he has filed with the assistant regional commissioner the written consent of such owner to the allowance to the claimant of the credit or refund, and (3) such owner satisfies the requirements of paragraph (a) or (b) of this section.

§ 296.6 Requirements for persons intending to file claim. Any person who, having paid the tax with respect to an article, desires to claim refund or credit of any amount of such tax to which the provisions of this subpart are applicable must:

(a) File a claim, as provided in § 296.7,

CLAIM PROCEDURE

§ 296.7 Execution and filing of claim. Claims to which this subpart is applicable shall be executed on Form 843 (original only) in accordance with instructions on the form and shall be filed with the district director of internal revenue for the district where the tax was paid, who will refer such claims to the assistant regional commissioner (alcohol and tobacco tax) for the region. The claim must set forth each ground upon which the claim is made in sufficient detail to apprise the assistant regional commissioner of the exact basis therefor. Allegations pertaining to the bearing of the ultimate burden relate to additional conditions which must be established for a claim to be allowed and are not in themselves legal grounds for allowance of a claim. There shall also be attached to the form and made a part of the claim the supporting data required by § 296.8. All evidence relied upon in support of such claim shall be clearly set forth and submitted with the claim.

§ 296.8 Data to be shown in claim. Claims to which this subpart is applicable, in addition to the requirements of § 296.7, must set forth or contain the following:

(a) A statement that the claimant paid the amount claimed as a "tax" as defined in this subpart.

(b) If the claim is a superseding claim covering an amount (or any part thereof) claimed in a claim filed on or before April 30, 1958, a statement setting forth the place of filing of such claim, the date of filing thereof, the amount claimed, and information showing that such prior claim was not barred from allowance on April 30, 1958.

(c) Full identification (by specific reference to the form number, the date of filing, the place of filing, and the amount paid on the basis of the particular form or return) of the tax forms or returns covering the payments for which refund or credit is claimed.

(d) The written consent of the owner to the allowance of the refund or credit to the claimant (where the owner of the article in respect of which the tax was paid furnished the claimant the amount claimed for the purpose of paying the tax).

(e) If the claimant or the owner, as the case may be, has neither sold nor contracted to sell the articles involved in the claim, a statement that the claimant or the owner, as the case may be, agrees not to shift, directly or indirectly in any manner whatsoever, the burden of the tax to any other person.

(f) If the claim is for refund of a floor stocks tax, or of an amount resulting from an increase in rate of tax applicable to an article, a statement as to whether the price of the article was increased on or following the effective date of such floor stocks tax or rate increase, and, if so, the date of the increase, together with full information as to the amount of such price increase.

(g) Specific evidence (such as relevant records, invoices, or other documents, or affidavits of individuals having personal knowledge of pertinent facts) which will satisfactorily establish the conditions to allowance set forth in § 296.5.

The assistant regional commissioner may require the claimant to furnish as a part of the claim such additional information as he may deem necessary.

§ 296.9 Time for filing claim—(a) General. Except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section credit or refund of any amount of tax to which the provisions of this subpart apply shall not be made unless the claimant files a claim therefore after April 30, 1958, and within the time prescribed by law and in accordance with the provisions of this subpart, and no claim filed before May 1, 1958, for the credit or refund of any amount of tax to which this subpart is applicable shall be held to constitute a claim for refund or credit within the meaning of, or for the purposes of, section 7422 (a), I. R. C.

(b) Superseding claims. Any claimant who on or before April 30, 1958, filed a claim for any amount to which this subpart applies may, if such claim was not barred from allowance on April 30, 1958, file a superseding claim after April 30, 1958, and on or before April 30, 1959, conforming to the requirements of this subpart and covering the amount (or any part thereof) claimed in the prior claim.

(c) Suits instituted before June 15, 1957. Any claimant who instituted a suit before June 15, 1957, for recovery of any amount to which this subpart applies, shall not be barred by this section from the maintenance of such suit as to any such amount claimed in such suit on such date if in such suit he establishes the conditions to allowance in this subpart with respect to such amount.

BONDS

§ 296.10 Bond, Form 2490. Each claim for a refund or credit of tax on articles which the claimant or the owner, as the case may be, has neither sold nor contracted to sell at the time of filing of the claim must be accompanied by a bond on Form 2490. The bond shall be executed by the claimant or the owner of the articles, as the case may be, in accordance with the provisions of this subpart and the instructions printed on the form. Such bond shall be conditioned that there will be no relief or shifting of the ultimate burden of the tax to any other person. The penal sum shall not be less than the amount of tax claimed on all articles which have not been sold or contracted for sale at the time of filing of the claim. Bonds required by this subpart shall be given with corporate surety or with collateral surety. A separate bond must be filed for each claim.

§ 296.11 Corporate surety. Surety bonds required by this subpart may be given only with corporate sureties holding certificates of authority from and subject to the limitations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury as set forth in Treasury Department Form 356—Revised. Powers of attorney and other evidence of appointment of agents and officers to execute bonds on behalf of corporate sureties are required to be filed with, and passed on by, the Commissioner of Accounts, Surety Bonds Branch, Treasury Department.

§ 296.12 Deposit of securities in lieu of corporate surety. In lieu of corporate surety, the principal may pledge and deposit securities which are transferable and are guaranteed as to both interest and principal by the United States, in accordance with the provisions of 31 CFR Part 225.

§ 296.13 Authority to approve bonds. Assistant regional commissioners are authorized to approve all bonds required by this subpart.

§ 296.14 Termination of liability. Bonds on Form 2490 will be terminated by the assistant regional commissioner on receipt of satisfactory evidence that the person giving the bond has disposed of the articles covered by the bond and that he bore the ultimate burden of the amount claimed and that no understanding or agreement exists whereby he will be relieved of such burden or shift such burden to another person.

§ 296.15 Release of pledged securities. Securities of the United States, pledged and deposited as provided by § 296.12, shall be released only in accordance with the provisions of 31 CFR Part 225. When the assistant regional commissioner is satisfied that they may be released, he shall fix the date or dates on which a part or all of such securities may be released. At any time prior to the release of such securities, the assistant regional commissioner may, for proper cause, extend the date of release for such additional length of time as he deems necessary.

PENALTIES

§ 296.16 Penalties. It is an offense punishable by fine and imprisonment for anyone to make or cause to be made any false or fraudulent claim upon the United States, or to make any false or fraudulent statements, or representations, in support of any claim, or to falsely or fraudulently execute any documents required by the provisions of the internal revenue laws, or any regulations made in pursuance thereof.

(b) Insects when the individual leaf or plant is mutilated by feeding or other means to the extent that the appearance or edibility is affected; and,

(c) Decay.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR Part 3]

[Docket No. 12274; FCC 58-891]

DAYTIME STANDARD BROADCAST SERVICES

EXTENTION OF HOURS OF BROADCASTING

In the matter of amendment of Part 3 of the rules to permit extended hours of broadcasting for daytime standard broadcast station; Docket No. 12274.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration its Notice of Proposed Rule Making (FCC 57-1387) issued in this proceeding on December 19, 1957, in response to a petition filed December 9, 1955, by the Daytime Broadcasters Association, Inc. (DBA), requesting inter alia, that all daytime standard broadcast stations be authorized to operate from 5:00 a. m. or local sunrise (whichever is earlier) to 7:00 p. m. or local sunset (whichever is later), in lieu of the sunrise to sunset hours provided for in the present rules.

FUNDAMENTALS OF STANDARD BROADCAST ALLOCATIONS

2. Since the DBA proposal, if adopted, would permit general operation by daytime stations during hours other than daytime, it involves a departure from the long-established system of standard broadcast (AM) allocations. Hence, a brief discussion of present allocation principles is helpful in comprehending the effects and implications of the proposed action.

3. The portion of the radio spectrum allocated for standard broadcasting is between 535 and 1605 kc. Within this range there are 107 channels of 10 kc each, on which over 3,300 standard broadcast stations are presently assigned. Under the Commission's basic allocation pattern, different channels are designated for use by different classes of stations, which operate with different amounts of power and are intended to render service varying in extent. The number of stations which may be assigned to any particular frequency is limited by the fact that under favorable transmission conditions standard broadcast signals travel long distances, and create interference to the service of stations located on the same frequency or adjacent frequencies. A salient fact which must be borne in mind is that these signals cause destructive interference over an area much greater than that to which they provide useful service. Where two signals on the same frequency (co-channel) are involved, under the Commission's standards objectionable interference is present where the strength of the interfering signal is one-twentieth or more of the strength of the desired signal. Further, the range of AM radio signals—both those providing a usable service and those farther from the transmitter causing destructive interference—varies considerably as between the daytime and nighttime hours, because of the characteristics of skywave propagation.

4. The energy radiated from the transmitting antenna of a broadcast station is affected differently by the earth's surface and the upper atmosphere. Part of the energy, called the groundwave, travels closely along the surface, where its intensity in a given location remains almost constant day and night and from season to season. It is affected principally by the station frequency and power, and the character of the terrain over which it travels. At night, in addition to groundwave transmission, radio signals are propagated by skywave transmission, consisting of energy travelling upward and outward from the transmitter to an electrified layer called the ionosphere, from which it is reflected back to earth at distances much greater than the reach of groundwave signals. The range of skywave signals is affected by many more variables than groundwave signals, including latitude, time of year, the current stage of the sunspot cycle, and, particularly and most substantially, the time of day. Caused principally by the sun's radiation, the ionization of the upper atmosphere exhibits diurnal variations of such nature and extent that skywave signals, returned to earth with negligible intensity during most of the day, are reflected with great efficiency at night, where with varying intensity they reach distances far beyond the range of the groundwave. Skywave signals begin a measurable buildup about two hours before sunset, reach quasi-maximum values about two hours after sunset, maintain approximately that level until about two hours prior to sunrise, and then progressively detriorate until they again reach insignificant levels about two hours after sunrise. Such signals are less constant in intensity than groundwave signals, because of the continuous change in the characteristics of the ionosphere, resulting in "fading" from time to time in skywave reception.

5. Skywave signals render a useful service over wide areas, although because of their somewhat intermittent nature such service is, under the Commission's rules, considered secondary service, whereas the more constant groundwave service is considered primary service. Such service by skywave transmission is possible, however, only under highly restricted conditions. Both transmitter power sufficient to propagate usable signals over long distances, and freedom from objectionable electrical interference which might prevent service of an acceptable standard, are required.

6. With the aforementioned radio propagation characteristics in mind, rules were adopted governing the assignment of standard broadcast stations to specific frequencies. These rules seek to achieve to the greatest possible extent the following three objectives:

(a) To provide some service of satisfactory signal strength to all areas in the nation;

(b) To provide as many program choices to as many listeners as possible;

(c) To provide locally originated service to as many communities as possible.

7. The effective implementation of these three objectives produces inevitable conflict. Maximum area coverage can be obtained by using a single station or a very few high-powered stations on a given channel. On the other hand, the assignment of numerous stations on a channel to provide local outlets for as many communities as possible can only be accomplished by severely restricting station coverage to small areas ringed by interference from the numerous other stations on the channel. Similar conflicts affect the maximum attainment of objective (b). In view of the aforementioned marked differences between daytime and nighttime propagation of AM radio signals, the conflicts in implementing the three basic objectives are much greater during nighttime than during daytime. It is not engineeringly feasible to cover the entire United States with interference-free groundwave (primary) signals at night. It is generally agreed that approximately half of the land area of the United States and some 20,000,000 persons must depend on skywave (secondary) signals for nighttime radio service.

8. The impossibility of simultaneously implementing all three of the above-listed objectives on any single channel led to the classification of broadcast frequencies into separate groups, with different rules for the assignment of stations, depending upon the purpose for which each class of channels was established: (a) Clear channel frequencies designed to provide primary (groundwave) and secondary (skywave) service over an extended area and at relatively long distances by high-powered stations known as Class I stations; (b) regional frequencies designed for stations (known as Class III stations) to render service primarily to metropolitan districts and the rural areas contiguous thereto; and (c) local frequencies designed for stations (known as Class IV stations) to render service primarily to cities and/or towns and the suburban and rural areas contiguous thereto. This pattern of allocation dates from the adoption of the Commission's rules and standards, essentially in their present form as far as standard broadcasting is concerned, in 1939. Because of the relative inefficiency of skywave transmission during daylight hours, it is possible to assign many more stations to a given channel for daytime operation. Moreover, the assignment of daytime stations permits more efficient channel utility than would otherwise result. It has therefore been possible, and in furtherance of the basic objective of providing as much service and as many local broadcast outlets as possible, for the Commission to assign additional stations on the clear and regional channels in various parts of the country limited to operation during the daytime hours, as well as to permit unlimited time stations to operate with increased facilities during these hours. There are now about 1400 daytime stations,[1] of which about 850 are assigned to regional channels and all but one of the remaining 550 to clear channels.

9. From the foregoing, it is apparent that the authorization of daytime stations was specifically intended to permit the utilization of spectrum space which, after accommodating other stations (i. e., clear channel and full-time regional stations), was available during the day but not at night. By long-standing domestic usage and international agreement the hours for daytime broadcasts are those between sunrise and sunset. The subject DBA proposal would permit daytime stations to operate during the nighttime (post-sunset and pre-sunrise) period during several months of the year.

[1] The term "daytime station" as used herein includes approximately 15 stations which are licensed on clear channels as "limited time" stations. The only difference between the two groups is that where a limited time station is located east of the dominant station on the same frequency it may operate until sunset at the dominant station, while daytime stations may operate only until local sunset.

RELATION BETWEEN INSTANT PROCEEDING AND CLEAR CHANNEL (DOCKET NO. 6741) AND DAYTIME SKYWAVE (DOCKET NO. 8333) RULE MAKING PROCEEDINGS

10. A grant of the instant DBA proposal would have a direct bearing upon two current rule-making proceedings. As stated in Paragraph 4, above, the appearance and disappearance of skywave transmission is not, as our present allocation rules might imply, an instantaneous phenomenon commencing precisely at sunset and ending precisely at sunrise. Data which have been accumulated from field intensity recordings of numerous stations have shown that skywave transmission, which is negligible during most of the day, builds up progressively in a significant degree at about two hours before sunset and reaches its approximate maximum at about two hours after sunset.[3] Likewise, nighttime skywave transmission, which begins to deteriorate progressively about two hours before sunrise, is present to a limited degree as long as two hours after sunrise. As a result, operation of daytime stations even within the period between sunrise and sunset causes progressively diminishing or increasing skywave interference to stations sharing the use of the channel and, to some extent, adjacent channel stations. This interference is sufficiently severe to impinge substantially on the service areas of stations which under the Commission's present allocation rules are entitled to protection from objectionable interference over the wide areas that they are intended to serve.

11. In 1947 the Commission initiated a rule-making proceeding (Docket No. 8333) to determine the existence, nature and extent of daytime skywave transmission of standard broadcast signals and to ascertain what, if any, changes should be made in the rules as a result of its findings. In March, 1954, the Commission issued a proposed report and order in that proceeding (10 Pike and Fischer RR 1541), embodying amendments to the rules and technical standards which would restrict the daytime skywave radiation of interfering stations toward desired Class I stations to a specifically prescribed degree. This could be achieved by reducing power, directionalizing interference signals away from the desired station, or both. While affording some degree of protection from daytime skywave interference, the proposed amendments reflect a compromise in that the restrictions were not so limited as to afford the co-channel Class I stations the full degree of protection which was sought by these stations. In July, 1954, the Commission held oral argument on the proposed rules, and subsequently received written comments concerning whether the proposed restrictions should be confined to new or changed station assignments or should be applied also to existing stations. The Commission has not yet reached a final conclusion in that proceeding.

12. The Daytime Skywave proceeding (Docket No. 8333) in turn is intimately related to far broader issues concerning even more basic questions of revision of the standard broadcast allocations pattern which are under review in the Clear Channel proceeding (Docket No. 6741).[4] Under the present allocation, a total of 46 frequencies are assigned as U. S. Clear Channels. 24 of these clear channels are reserved for the exclusive use at night of a single Class I-A station. On the remaining 22 U. S. clear channels more than one Class I-B dominant station may be assigned, such stations affording each other mutual protection through the use of directional antennas. The assignment of secondary or Class II stations is permitted on all of the clear channels. On the clear channels assigned for Class I-A use, only daytime Class II stations are permitted; whereas on clear channels assigned for Class I-B use, unlimited time Class II stations affording day and night protection to the dominant Class I-B stations are permitted. On April 15, 1958, the Commission issued a Further Notice of Proposed Rule Making in Docket No. 6741, inviting comments on a proposal to assign additional unlimited time stations on 12 of the 24 U. S. Class I-A clear channels in order to improve service in certain areas. On five of these 12 channels new Class I-B station assignments would be permitted in specified Western states with directional antennas to protect both new and existing Class I stations. The proposal also contemplates that Class II (secondary) stations could also use these channels at night under certain conditions. It further provides that on the other seven of the twelve Class I-A clear channels mentioned, additional Class II stations would be authorized in locations where they would provide needed primary service in areas now lacking it. While no action was taken with respect to the other 12 Class I-A clear channels, the Commission asserted that it will consider at a later date the advisability of authorizing the use of higher power on these channels. Comments in response to the April 15 Further Notice were filed on and before August 15, 1958, and reply comments are due by September 29, 1958.

13. It is evident that the entire clear channel problem embraces the daytime skywave problem as one large facet, and that the latter in turn affects the basis on which it would be possible to approach the questions raised by the instant DBA proposal for extended hours of daytime stations. The DBA proposal contemplates an action diametrically opposed to the tentative conclusions announced by the Commission in its March 1954 proposed Report and Order in Docket No. 8333. Thus, insofar as the instant proposal concerns daytime stations on clear channels, it could not be granted in whole or in part without having a direct bearing upon the aforementioned clear channel and daytime skywave proceedings, and involving a prejudgment of the issues therein. Denial of the instant proposal, of course, would not involve such prejudgment.[5]

RECORD IN THIS PROCEEDING

14. Comments favoring the proposal were filed by the Daytime Broadcasters Association (DBA), an organization representing about 150 daytime stations, and by the licensees of over 100 daytime broadcasting stations. Oppositions were filed by the Clear Channel Broadcasting Service (an association representing 14 non-network-owned Class I–A stations), the National Grange, and by the licensees of over 240 clear channel and full-time regional stations. A large volume of correspondence from individuals and groups favoring the proposal, and a smaller quantity of informal communications opposing it, were received.

15. The proposed extended hours of operation prior to local sunrise and after local sunset by daytime only stations would automatically involve extended hours of interference to full-time stations operating on the same frequencies.[6] Thus, the ultimate question in this proceeding—apart from international considerations—is whether or not the public interest would be better served by permitting all daytime stations wishing to do so to broadcast during these extended hours, despite resultant interference to unlimited time stations, or whether the public interest would be better served by retaining the present rules prohibiting the operation of daytime stations during nighttime hours. In our Notice we stated that, in order to resolve this question and to evaluate adequately DBA's proposal, we needed reliable information on which to make a reasonable assessment of the probable resultant losses of service as well as a showing of the extent of the service gains which could be achieved through its adoption. Accordingly,[7] we requested reasonably complete and accurate data concerning:

(a) The times during which, the areas in which and the populations for whom the DBA proposal would result in added primary service.

(b) The extent to which such primary service gains would occur where no other primary service is available;

(1) From any other station.

(2) From any other station located in the same city or town.

(c) The periods during which, the areas, in which, and the populations for whom primary service available under the present rules would be subjected to objectionable interference to the signals of U. S. Class I–A, I–B, unlimited time Class II and Class III stations.

(d) The extent to which the foregoing losses of service would occur in areas and for populations receiving no other primary service.

(e) A showing similar to (c) and (d) with respect to losses of skywave service within the 0.5 mv/m 50 percent skywave contours of Class I stations.

(f) The extent to which limitations set out in the above-referenced international agreements would be infringed.

(g) Views of the parties concerning the need for the additional services which would be made possible by extending the hours of operation of daytime stations and the effect on the public interest of the consequent losses of service from other classes of stations.

16. The comments of DBA and the other proponents, while containing some material as to hours of operation and the communities in which daytime stations are the only local radio outlets, supply no data on areas and populations which would gain or lose service by adoption of the proposal. They urge that such data is of little use because service from distant high-power stations is not of value to local communities, even if available, because the programming of such stations is not designed for or of interest to the populations of distant communities. This argument, aimed primarily at clear channel rather than regional stations, is considered below. The opponents assert that there is great need for any data which may shed light on the probable or possible effects of the DBA proposal in terms of services to be gained or lost by the public. Many of the opponents have filed engineering statements setting forth the results of studies concerning the nature of the proposal. While most of these statements are admittedly not as comprehensive in scope and detail as the Commission's Notice called for, the opponents express the view that they are nonetheless adequate to establish, for the frequencies and locations which have been studied, that severe losses in area and population now receiving interference-free night-time primary groundwave service and secondary skywave service would result from operation of daytime-only stations beyond local sunset hours and, likewise, that interference effects suffered by daytime-only stations after local sunset would markedly reduce any gain in service by these stations.

17. Much of the data which has been filed is tabulated in summary form in the appendices[8] attached hereto. While our consideration is by no means limited to data therein, these appendices serve as a convenient vehicle and ready reference for a substantial quantity of the technical data which has been filed in this proceeding.

18. Appendix I[8] shows the areas and populations served by daytime stations and the service which would be afforded if these stations were authorized to operate at night after local sunset or before local sunrise. Appendix II[8] shows the areas and populations receiving primary service nighttime from stations authorized for nighttime operation and the areas and populations which would lose this service as a result of interference under the DBA proposal. Appendix III[8] shows the areas and populations receiving nighttime secondary service and the areas and populations which would lose this service under the DBA proposal.

19. Interference computations were made using the average skywave field intensity charts contained in § 3.190 of the Commission's rules, which are based on the average field intensity corresponding to the second hour after sunset. In addition, the diurnal variation curves contained in Figure 5 of the Commission's Exhibit 1 in Docket No. 8333 were used by some parties on the basis that these curves are more appropriate for the first hour after sunset or before sunrise. Where data was supplied on both bases, the appendices show both values. We believe these field intensity charts and diurnal variation curves and the various other engineering tools and assumptions—based upon professional engineering experience—are sufficiently valid to render the data submitted by these parties of practical use to the Commission in reaching our decision herein.

We proceed to consider the seven propositions set out above.

(a) The times during which, the areas in which, and the populations for whom the DBA proposal would result in added primary service.

20. The stations licensed for daytime operation only for which data has been filed are listed in Appendix I. Although in some instances not complete, data requested by the Notice herein has been filed for 81 stations. Sunrise and sunset hours for the months of March and December are shown in the Appendix for each station. Thus the hours of operation requested by the petition may be determined for each station by comparing the sunrise and sunset time shown in the Table with the 5 a. m. to 7 p. m. hours requested by the petition. For example, sunrise and sunset at Texas City, Texas in March is 6:30 a. m. and 6:30 p. m.; in December it is 7:00 a. m. and 5:15 p. m. When compared with 5:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m., the early morning operation involved amounts to 1½ hours and evening operation for ½ hour during March and 2 hours and 1¾ hours, respectively, during December.

21. The month of March has been chosen as representative of spring and fall (October) conditions and December as representative of the conditions during the winter. In general, during summer 5 a. m. follows sunrise and 7 p. m. precedes local sunset. Thus, sunrise and sunset hours for June, as representative of summer, are not shown.

22. Disregarding the summer season, during which slight if any additional operation is involved, the additional morning hours of operation from the table range from a minimum of 1 hour during March to a maximum of 3¼ hours during December, with an average of 1.5 hours during March and 2.4 hours during December.

23. Since the stations licensed for daytime operation only do not now operate after local sunset or before local sunrise, any primary service which would be provided by such stations during the extended hours requested by the petition would result in added primary service. The data tabulated in Appendix I shows that 7,977,444 persons within 36,800 square miles would receive primary service from 50 stations on which sufficiently complete data has been supplied, based upon the interference conditions during the second hour after sunset. By way of comparison, 44,567,568 persons within 540,223 square miles receive service from these same stations during their daytime operation. Thus, these stations would, in the aggregate, afford service during the additional hours requested to 17.9 percent of the population and 6.8 percent of the area that they serve during daytime hours. For conditions during the first hour following sunset or before sunrise (two hours of the total additional operating hours requested in the petition are under first hour conditions) the data shows that 8,421,166 persons within 20,285 square miles would receive primary service from the 24 stations for which first hour data is available. During these hours the daytime stations would serve in the aggregate 31.1 percent of the population of 27,100,159 and 6.1 percent of the area of 334,484 square miles served by the same stations during daytime hours.

(b) The extent to which such primary service gains would occur where no other primary service is available:

(1) From any other station.

(2) From any other station located in the same city or town.

24. Based on data for the entire 81 stations listed in Appendix I, of the total area and population which would receive added primary service only 64,151 persons in approximately 330 square miles do not now receive primary service from any other station during nighttime hours. 1,541,153 persons in 28 communities do not receive nighttime primary service from any other station located in the same city or town in which the daytime station is located, although other nighttime primary service is available.[9]

25. The above population, area, and percentage figures are limited to the stations for which coverage data has been submitted in this proceeding. These stations comprise a minor percentage of the stations licensed for daytime operation. It is thus appropriate to consider

[3] The order of magnitude of the increase is indicated by data in Docket No. 8333. As an example, on a frequency in the middle of the standard broadcast band, a signal will increase roughly forty times in intensity from 2 hours before sunset to sunset and will reach approximately 150 times the two-hour-before-sunset intensity at two hours after sunset. The variation between pre-sunset and post-sunset signal intensity is more pronounced at lower frequencies and less pronounced at higher frequencies.

[4] Docket Nos. 6741 and 8333 were consolidated in 1947 but in 1953 were severed in order to permit separate consideration of the daytime skywave proceeding (Docket No. 8333).

[5] On August 15, 1958, WCAR, Inc., Licensee of Station WCAR, Detroit, Michigan, filed a petition requesting that the Commission consolidate the instant proceeding with the clear channel and the daytime skywave proceeding (Docket Nos. 6741 and 8333). Other parties in their comments in this proceeding also requested consolidation. For the reasons set forth in this Report, and in view of our action herein, to the extent that these requests ask consolidation of Dockets 6741 and 8333 with the instant proceeding, they are denied.

[6] None of the formal comments filed in this proceeding challenged this assertion.

[7] Filed as part of original document.

[8] In several instances such primary service is received from the principal city of the urbanized area in which the community is located. In this connection see footnote 16.

carefully the question whether such data is adequate for our use herein. Upon careful consideration it is our view that the data is typical of all daytime stations and is thus fully adequate. The electrical interferences to the signals of the various stations, which limit their coverage, extend over great distances at night, and thus affect those stations for which no data has been filed as well as those for which data has been filed. The extent of the interference on each channel for which data was filed will be greatly increased under the operation proposed by DBA as compared to the interference now existing. Such interference will prove to be at least as severe as additional stations are considered in the data. Finally, our examination extends to daytime and unlimited time station coverages under the data which has been filed. Thus, a substantial number of stations are included, and on these our most careful evaluation convinces us that the daytime stations for which data has been filed are in no way atypical but are fully representative of all daytime stations, both those now licensed and those which may be granted in the future. While additional data could serve to provide greater detail to buttress our decision herein, and to that extent would be desirable, no additional data is necessary in order to support our conclusion herein.

26. One additional and somewhat countervailing factor is appropriate for consideration here. There are listed in Appendix IV all of the cities and towns within nighttime "white areas" (i. e., areas receiving no nighttime primary service) in which daytime stations now operate. The proposed nighttime operations would afford immediate primary service to these communities to the extent that such service would not be prevented by electrical interference. It is reasonable to assume, moreover, than in most instances centrally located transmitter sites could be found which would provide service to all persons in these cities and towns.

(c) The periods during which, the areas in which, and the populations for whom primary service available under the present rules would be subjected to objectionable interference to the signals of U. S. Class I–A, I–B, unlimited time Class II and Class III stations.

27. The unlimited time stations for which primary service data has been filed are listed in Appendix II. This data, although incomplete for some stations, has been filed for 169 stations.

28. The loss in the service of 132 stations based on second hour conditions aggregates a total of 94,591,111 persons in areas totalling 1,289,827 square miles. The loss of service amounts to 43.7 percent of the populations and 68.6 percent of the areas now served at night by these stations.[4a].

29. Based on first hour conditions, the interference shown in the Appendix for 24 stations for which such data is available totals 27,513,881 persons in 646,989 square miles. The loss amounts to 30.8 percent of the population and 53.9 percent of the area now served by these stations during these hours.

30. Sunrise and sunset hours are not shown in Appendix II because those appearing in Appendix I are considered to be more meaningful. It is from these that the extended hours of operation by daytime stations, and thus the duration of interference causing the loss of service of unlimited time stations, can be determined. Moreover, the periods during which interference would be encountered would not prove appreciably different if computed upon the basis of sunrise and sunset hours at the slightly different locations represented in Appendix II, these being generally similar in geographical latitude and longitude.

(d) The extent to which the foregoing losses of service would occur in areas and for populations receiving no other primary service.

31. No data has been tabulated in the appendices showing the other primary services in the area which would lose service if the DBA proposal is adopted, since very little data on this point was submitted in this proceeding. In any event the significance of such data, if it had been tendered, would have been minimal because of the reduction in primary service by substantially all unlimited time stations which would result from adoption of the subject proposal. It is evident from Appendix II that all of the unlimited-time stations on frequencies on which daytime stations are or may be licensed will lose service. The effect of these losses cannot be considered by measuring the loss of service of any one station but must be considered when all of the service losses are combined. While data has been supplied in various comments showing that substantial "white" areas would be created by loss of service from an existing station, a summation thereof has not been feasible at this time in view of the incompleteness of the data submitted. We are certain, however, that very considerable "white" area would result if the proposal were adopted.

(e) A showing similar to (c) and (d) with respect to losses of skywave service within the 0.5 mv/m 50 percent skywave contours of Class I stations.

32. Secondary service is provided to those areas in which a skywave signal has sufficient strength to render satisfactory service and is free from interference from other stations. Under our rules only Class I stations provide secondary service. Such service is considered to begin at sunset and end at sunrise the following day, coincident with the required sign-off and sign-on, respectively, of the stations licensed to operate on the same channel during the daytime hours.[5]

The full coverage potential of secondary service is not realized during the hour following sunset (or before sunrise), however, as the 50 percent-time skywave service signals increase in strength in accordance with the diurnal curve. The increase in strength and thus in service potential of these signals does not depart significantly from the increase in strength of the interfering signals governed by the same diurnal effects. The exact amount of skywave service destroyed under the DBA proposal will thus vary from day-to-day and from time-to-time in any given day because the time in which the interference occurs includes the time during which the skywave service is in the process of increasing or of decreasing. We conclude, however, that all or substantially all such service would be subjected to objectionable interference under the proposal during all nighttime hours that daytime stations would operate, particularly in view of the large number of pending applications that request operation during these hours.

33. DBA and other proponents assert that nighttime skywave signals from the clear channel stations are too weak, intermittent and undependable to provide service throughout large areas of the USA. These proponents urge adoption of the DBA proposal as a remedy for this asserted lack of service. However, after carefully studying the technical data submitted in comments in this proceeding, in addition to other engineering information in the Commission's files, we are of the view that the "cure" would be worse than the "sickness," if any. The DBA plan would deprive vast populations of all secondary service without providing any replacement for most of the areas concerned. A multiplicity of skywave service is necessary for adequate secondary service due to the intermittent character of skywave transmission. The destructive effect of the proposal is only very slightly mitigated by the fact that on a few of the clear channels (such as 670 kc, 720 kc and 1200 kc) there would be no co-channel interference at the present time because there are no daytime-only stations assigned on these frequencies. As a specific example of the effect of the destruction of secondary service, it might be noted that in Idaho and Montana there is an area of about 7,000 square miles, containing about 10,000 persons, to which there is available no primary service and only two secondary services during non-daytime hours. Both of these secondary services would be completely destroyed during certain hours under the proposal, leaving this area and population with no radio service whatsoever.

34. Although not in its original petition for rule making, DBA in its comments suggests that the Commission permit full-time stations operating with different facilities day and night to op-

[4a] The present service areas that would be lost by a number of these 132 stations overlap. Thus, while many persons would lose two or more services, the total population and areas which would lose one or more services is considerably less than the aggregate totals of 94,591,111 persons, and 1,289,827 square miles.

[5] The exact build-up of skywave service depends both upon the increasing strength of skywave signals and the elimination of interfering signals. Sunset time for two or more daytime stations may be somewhat different for each location. Thus, a reduction of interference will be realized as each leaves the air, until the interference is entirely eliminated. During morning hours an inverse sequence is followed, each daytime station commencing operation at its own local sunrise.

ents with their daytime facilities during the same extended hours that daytime stations are permitted to operate. Such an additional change in allocation policy would of course increase by a considerable amount the interference which would prevail during non-daytime hours. Some opponents of the proposal in their engineering analyses have assumed that a grant of extended hours for daytime stations would entail a grant of the same extended hours of operation by full-time stations with their daytime facilities, and have made part of their engineering showings on that basis. In view of our disposition of the DBA proposal in this Report, we need not decide whether granting the DBA request for extended hours of operation by daytime stations would or would not necessarily require authorization of extended hours of operation by full-time stations with their daytime facilities. Our evaluation of the DBA proposal is based upon the conditions which would prevail if daytime stations operated during extended hours and full-time stations operated as they presently do with daytime facilities during daytime hours and nighttime facilities during all other hours.[8]

CONCLUSIONS BASED UPON TECHNICAL DATA SUBMITTED

35. The tabulation (Appendices I, II, and III) of the data secured in response to the various engineering matters listed in the December 19, 1957, Notice demonstrates conclusively that, in view of the tremendous losses which would result to the existing radio service throughout the U. S. from the operations contemplated by the instant proposal as compared with the much smaller amount of new service which would be provided in some locations, the proposal fails to accord with the statutory standards governing radio broadcast services[9] and the objectives set forth in paragraph 6, above.

EXPLANATION OF TABLES

36. While substantially all of the technical data which has been filed in this proceeding is tabulated in the appendices, it has not been possible to include some data. In a few instances, for example, data is not included in which only partial or fragmentary data was supplied or where the data supplied was based solely upon potential or hypothetical stations in which one or more additional stations were presumed to be licensed and operating. We do not believe that the data so filed is sufficiently consistent with the other data, and sufficiently non-speculative, to warrant inclusion in the appendices. We also note that the data in the Table is not based precisely upon the same conditions in each instance. However, such slightly disparate nature does not detract significantly from its usefulness in this proceeding.[10] Finally, we observe that the data is based upon the operation of stations now licensed for daytime operation without including any additional stations which may be licensed and without reference to the applications for new daytime stations which are now pending before the Commission. Likewise, possible nighttime operation of unlimited-time stations by using licensed daytime facilities is not reflected in the data.

OTHER CONTENTIONS OF PROPONENTS RE COMMISSION'S ENGINEERING STANDARDS

37. The DBA and other proponents have contended that the Commission's engineering standards contained in the present broadcast rules are not wholly applicable for various reasons to the nighttime operation following sunset and before sunrise envisaged by the petition. It is contended that the Commission's skywave curves (Figures 1 and 2 of § 3.190 of the rules) should not be used in measuring post-sunset interference conditions in the first two hours after local sunset and prior to local sunrise since these curves represent propagation conditions corresponding to the second hour after sunset, conditions which do not apply to the hours involved here. The term "twilight hours" is suggested by DBA to serve as a virtual substitute for the use of sunrise and sunset times in the Commission rules. DBA has supplied a table of sunrise, sunset and astronomical twilight times for nine cities distributed throughout the Central Time Zone. The proponents contend further with reference to Figures 1 and 2 of § 3.190 that "The data in these curves was derived on the basis of data compiled in the second hour after sunset at the western end of the path". From this the proponents argue that for west to east transmissions, the curves become applicable only when the time at the receiving location is somewhat later than two hours past sunset. Before proceeding to further discussion of the curves, it is appropriate to note that we are left with no guidance as to how the proponents' argument proceeds from "data compiled in the second hour after sunset" to the conclusion expressed in terms of "two hours past sunset," for the two are by no means the same. As used in the Commission's Standards and pronouncements, the term "second hour after sunset" means the entire 60 minute period extending from 60 minutes after sunset until 120 minutes after sunset.[11] Figure 1, used for stations operating on clear channels, is based on data corresponding to the second hour after sunset at the recording station (i. e., the receiving location). Accordingly, the curves therein represent not conditions existing at the exact period of sunset plus 120 minutes or sunrise minus 120 minutes, as might be gathered from the proponents' discussion, but instead represent average conditions existing during the second hour following sunset and the second hour before sunrise. In securing the data, automatic recordings were made of the field intensity delivered by 40 transmitting stations at 11 different points in

[8] It might be argued that if daytime-only stations are allowed to operate during extended hours, as a matter of equity full-time stations should be allowed to operate during the same hours with their daytime facilities. On the other hand, it could also be contended that since the essence of the daytime stations' argument is service to local communities, and since by definition under the Commission's rules full-time stations adequately serve their communities with their nighttime facilities, there is not present the element of need necessary to support such a change in the rules in the case of full-time stations. In any event, it is obvious that such an additional change in the rules would materially worsen interference conditions during the non-daytime hours beyond that which would occur from a grant of the proposal as to daytime stations; and, since there is no showing of such a need, the public interest would clearly not be better served by a grant of the proposal for both types of operations than by grant of the proposal for daytime stations only.

[9] See sections 1 and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. Section 1 requires that the Commission "make available, so far as possible, to all the people of the United States * * * a radio communication service."

[10] For example, some parties filing comments did not use the 50 percent exclusion method contained in the Commission's Engineering Standards, contending that such becomes inapplicable in view of the great number of stations which would be involved in the nighttime operations at reduced separations. We believe the effect thereof in reference to the resulting data is de minimis.

[11] A different meaning is carried by the term "SSMP+2" which is used in the abscissa scale of the diurnal curves which appear as Figures 2 and 5 of the Commission's Exhibit 1 in Docket 8333 as discussed hereinbelow. This term is an abbreviation for sunset midpoint (of transmission path) plus two hours, i. e., plus 120 minutes. Any point SS+X on the curves is based on data for the hour centered on X hours after sunset. From a statistical viewpoint any point on the curves represents the best estimate for the hourly median field centered on the abscissa for that point. Based upon the statistical variation of the instantaneous field in intervals of an hour where the sunset interval is centered on true sun time sunset (Report of Committee III in Preparation for the Clear Channel Hearing, Docket 6741, dated January 15, 1946), these figures present abscissa values which are designated on a linear time scale, the minimum division of which represents one-tenth of an hour or exactly six minutes. Lesser time increments may be read from the scale by interpolation. Figures 2 and 5 show, respectively, a plot of the data for Station WFAA as recorded in Grand Island, Nebraska, over a period of approximately six years beginning in 1939, and curves for 0.5, 1.0 and 1.5 megacycles based upon data from fourteen transmission paths recorded during these years. Diurnal curves submitted in the comments herein show slight variations from FCC data but present no conflict of decisional significance to this proceeding. Figure 5 is appropriate for use in the manner set forth in Exhibit 1 of Docket 8333 and in the Report of Committee III in Preparation for the Clear Channel Hearing, Docket 6741, dated January 15, 1946. When so used, it may with substantial validity (Exhibit 1, Docket 8333, page 3, line 12 et seq.) be applied directly to Figure 2 (formerly Figure 1 a) of § 3.190, which reflects data on curves also prepared by the above-named Committee III (Exhibit 100, Docket 6741, page 3, line 12 et seq.). By this procedure, the field intensity may be determined for any hour of transmitter local time following sunset (or before sunrise) within the entire range of abscissa values shown thereon. Its use in similar manner with Figure 1 is also considered to be substantially accurate in view of the significant similarities between Figures 1 and 2. Moreover, any slight inaccuracies which may be reflected by such use are considered to be insignificantly small and thus not significant to our decision herein.

the United States. East to west, west to east, and north-south paths were included. The curves of Figure 2 used on regional and local channels are derived on the basis of data covering hourly median fields for 10 percent of the year at the western end of the path. This data, insofar as reciprocity of transmission east and west may be assumed, may equally well be interpreted as a representation of propagation over the same path to the east from a transmitter located to the west. Development of this fact is made in FCC Exhibit No. 1 of Docket 8333, to which the petitioner has made reference. The exhibit presents "An Analysis of Data Recorded on 14 Transmission Paths for a Period of Approximately Six Years" with the objective "to obtain curves representing '10 percent skywave field intensities' at any distance, in any direction, at any frequency, at any hour of transmitter local time for a station at any latitude." The diurnal curves, Figures 2 and 5 of the exhibit, contain data concerning the variations of strength of skywave signals following sunset and thus can be used to determine the interference during the first hour after sunset (or before sunrise). It is to be observed that the diurnal curve produced by this analysis yields results of a relatively higher order of accuracy, since it involves only ratio measurements and not the absolute value of any measurement and also that the skywave curves of the Commission are accepted throughout the world as being indicative of average propagation conditions. This data is properly to be used in terms of the sunrise and sunset times used by the Commission in its rules.[32] Thus, whether or not there be "twilight" following sunset lacks significance in the face of actual measurement data concerning skywave propogation conditions during these hours.

38. These proponents' contention that the Commission's curves should not be applied to determine interference during the first two hours after sunset does not mean that there will be no interference effects in the two-hour post-sunset and pre-sunrise periods or that the Commission can proceed on any such invalid assumption. Indeed, DBA and most of the proponents admit that interference will result. Furthermore, it is noted that, although the proponents in discussing interference refer to the two-hour period after sunset and before sunrise as though they were the only periods affected by the proposal, the interference problem is not so confined, since some daytime stations would increase their broadcast hours in the morning and again in the evening to as much as 3¼ hours after sunset and before sunrise during midwinter months.

39. The proponents also contend that, since Figures 1 and 2 of § 3.190 of the rules present a statistical method for predicting interference, such interference would, in fact, exist as little as 10 percent of the time. This is an oversimplification of the problem, and a misinterpretation of the significance of the 10 percent figure. Section 3.182 (o) of the Commission's rules states that objectionable interference is created by an undesired signal to a desired signal when the undesired signal exceeds an intensity, determined elsewhere in the rules, for 10 percent or more of the time. Figures 1 and 2 indicate for a specified radiation intensity and for transmission paths of varying lengths the intensities of the continuously varying skywave signal which are exceeded 10 percent or more of the time. Therefore, if the intensity of an undesired signal, as determined by the employment of Figure 1 or Figure 2, exceeds the permissible undesired/desired signal ratio, the undesired signal causes objectionable interference, without regard to the fact that it has less than the intensity determined from Figures 1 or 2 for a major portion of the time, and may have completely destructive intensity for a much shorter time. The Commission has selected the 10 percent level as being a reasonable limit of interference. Ionospheric propagation, the basis of Figures 1 and 2, is a subject of exceeding complexity, the study of which has occupied many capable physicists and engineers over a period of years. While interferences are predicted in standard broadcast station allocations by tools employing the statistical method, we believe that therein lies strength of these tools and that predictions of station interference based upon them are meaningful.

(f) The extent to which limitations set out in International Agreements would be infringed.

40. It is necessary to consider the impact of the DBA proposal on international agreements and understandings affecting allocation of standard broadcast facilities, since these agreements provide stricter limitations upon the operation of unlimited time stations than upon daytime-only stations on almost all frequencies and since they define daytime operation as operation between local sunrise and local sunset.[33] Almost 400 of the U. S. daytime stations are currently assigned on frequencies on which other North American governments have clear channel stations protected from interference by U. S. co-channel stations. This protection is accorded on the same basis as those countries protect the larger numbers of clear channels on which the United States has priority under the relevant agreements. As to channels designated in the agreements as regional channels, any nation may make use of these frequencies, subject to the conditions as to power and prevention of objectionable interference set forth in the agreements. Any country making an assignment of any facilities on a frequency must notify the other countries involved of the assignment; if another country objects thereto, it becomes the subject of negotiation under the agreements. The agreements involved are the North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement of 1950 (to which the signatory parties are Canada, Cuba, the Dominican Republic, the Bahamas and Jamaica, and the United States of America), and the Agreement between the United States of America and United Mexican States, signed January 29, 1957. Pertinent provisions are found also in the Executive Agreement between the United States and Mexican governments which became effective March 29, 1941, and continues in force until ratification of the successor agreement signed January 29, 1957. In both the 1950 NARBA and the 1957 U.S.-Mexican agreement, definite standards of protection are set up for all of those frequencies, with different standards for day and night, (sunset and sunrise) operation. With respect to the Class I-A channels on which the respective countries have priority, the protection extends to the border of the country, and a co-channel signal from a station in another country exceeding 5 uv/m daytime or 25 uv/m nighttime is prohibited. Also contained in the 1950 NARBA, with respect to such channels, is a provision that no station is to be assigned in another country for nighttime operation within 650 miles of the border of the country having priority; the U. S.-Mexican agreement of 1957 states that no nighttime assignments will be made by either country (except in the specific cases mentioned therein) on a channel on which the other country has such priority.

41. While neither the 1957 agreement with the United Mexican states nor the 1950 NARBA has yet entered into formal effect through requisite ratification by the parties,[33a] the signatory governments, in the interest of avoiding chaotic mutual interference to the several broadcast services concerned are, in general practice, observing the limitations which these agreements stipulate. It is not possible, therefore, to disregard these international agreements. The Commission has so stated; in the Note to § 3.28 of its rules it is provided that, pending ratification and entry into force of these agreements: "• • • no assignment for a standard broadcast station will be made which would be inconsistent with the terms of these agreements." This policy has been uniformly applied by the Commission.

42. It is apparent that grant of the instant DBA proposal would violate the standards of protection set forth in these agreements and adhered to by the Commission, not only with respect to clear channels on which other nations have priority of use, but also with respect to regional channels. From the data submitted in this proceeding, it is readily apparent that operation by U. S. regional daytime stations during the non-daytime hours proposed by DBA would cause serious objectionable interference in many cases to stations in foreign countries. One example of interference which would be caused on a clear channel is seen in connection with operation on 740 kc, a channel on which Canada has Class I–A priority and Station CBL, Toronto, operates as a Class I–A station. Under maximum interference conditions which would prevail under the DBA proposal (7:00 p. m. in December), CBL would be limited, as a result of operation by U. S. stations on 740 kc after sunset, to its 11.6 mv/m contour, instead of rendering service out to its 0.5 mv/m contour and beyond. CBL's 0.5 mv/m groundwave contour includes all of southern Ontario between Georgian Bay and the eastern end of Lake Ontario. If limited to its 11.6 mv/m contour the station would render primary groundwave service at 7:00 p. m. in December only within an area with a radius of about 40 miles around its transmitter.

43. After the issuance of the December 19, 1957, notice in the present proceeding, the Commission requested the Department of State to elicit the views of the other nations which are signatories to the above-mentioned international agreements. The reply which has been received from the Dominion of Canada voices strong opposition to the proposal because of its effect upon the primary service of all classes of stations. Mexico is of the view that the DBA proposal involves very difficult problems and it indicates that no approval of the proposal will be forthcoming in the near future. Of the other signatory countries that have replied, only Bahama, Jamaica, Cuba and the Dominican Republic have indicated that they may not object to the proposal.

44. DBA and other proponents state that since the two agreements have not yet been ratified, the mere fact of their execution and existence is no reason to reject the DBA proposal. But this assertion ignores the fact that, though not ratified, the agreements have been of tremendous importance in affording some measure of protection to United States stations from the uncontrolled interference which could result if the United States, or other countries signatory to the agreements, gave no further consideration to their mutual commitments under such arrangements. We question whether under any circumstances we could appropriately undertake a change in our allocation policies so seriously inconsistent with international understandings, which would jeopardize the framework of mutual protection throughout the continent. We are not impelled to take such a serious step here.

(g) Need for the additional services which would be made possible by extending the hours of operation of daytime stations and the effect on the public interest of the consequent losses of the service of other classes of stations.

45. Under the provisions of § 3.24 (b) (2) of the rules, a proposed assignment which will cause objectionable interference to existing service will be permitted only when the public need for the new service clearly outweighs the need for the service which will be lost. This same principle applies in our consideration of the DBA proposal; the public interest will not be served by adopting the proposal unless the need for the service which daytime stations will render during non-daytime hours exceeds the need for the service of unlimited time stations which will be lost during such hours. In making this comparison of the relative need for the service that would be gained and lost by adoption of the proposal, we note that operation of daytime stations as contemplated by the DBA proposal would result in loss of existing service to a vastly greater population than that which would receive additional service. While this finding is a persuasive one, it would not necessarily be determinative if the need for the service which would be gained by a relatively small population were greater than the need for the presently existing service which would be lost. After carefully considering all of the comments filed in the instant proceeding (including letters from community groups and others in support of the DBA proposals, and also those portions of the record of the hearings conducted by the Select Committee on Small Business of the United States Senate in April 1957, which were incorporated by reference in some of the comments herein), we believe that such a preponderant need for the extended hours proposed by DBA is not established, but, rather, that the record shows a greater need for the preservation of service which would be lost under the proposal.

46. The proponents assert that there is a large, unsatisfied need for local service during the hours between 5:00 a. m. and 7:00 p. m. It is asserted that this need is not being met by the service rendered by distant stations because (1) with the increasing availability of closer signals, listeners are no longer content to make use of the weaker signal of a distant station for radio reception; and (2) even if the distant station provides a technically adequate signal, its program service is not geared to the needs and interests of the local community, and does not meet them. Of particular significance, state the proponents, is the fact that in the United States 913 communities, with a total population of more than 7,500,000, have available to them no local radio outlet other than a daytime-only station.[34] It is asserted that extended hours are necessary for daytime stations in order that the needs of these communities and surrounding areas for broadcast service may be more fully met.

47. In evaluating this argument, it must be borne in mind that the absence of a local nighttime standard broadcast station in these communities (the number of 913 has not been challenged, and is accepted here) does not mean that that number of communities are without nighttime primary service. It is established by the data furnished herein that of the 913 communities, approximately 535, with a population of nearly 6,400,000 are located in areas where 0.5 mv/m or better primary service is available nighttime.[35] The rural area around these 535 communities thus receives primary service nighttime; it cannot be determined from the data of record how many of these 535 communities (nearly all of which are of 2,500 population or more) receive by night the 2.0 mv/m signal required for primary service to urban communities, but it appears that most of them do. Many of these 535 communities are located in metropolitan or urbanized areas, and receive primary service from stations located in the principal city thereof or in another suburban community.[36] In other cases, some of these 535 communities receive primary service nighttime from a station located in the same county. We recognize the importance of providing a local outlet for as many communities in the nation as possible. This is one of our basic allocation objectives. Yet this objective should not be reached by changing the AM allocation rules so that an inefficient use of broadcast facilities would result therefrom. The need for and advantages accruing from extended hours for a local outlet are expressed by the proponents

[32] Section 3.79 of the Commission's rules.

[33] The definition of "daytime operations" in the North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement of 1950 (Annex II, section A (6)) is quoted in Paragraph 18 of the December 19, 1957, Notice initiating this proceeding.

[33a] To date, Canada and Cuba have ratified the North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement.

[34] Some of the daytime stations supporting the proposal are located not in any of these 913 communities but in cities well supplied with full-time service, including Baltimore, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Providence, Akron and Columbus, Ohio, and Greenville, S. C. These stations stress, in support of their request for additional hours, the unique or extraordinarily valuable character of their program service to their communities, including such matters as public-service programming and announcements; the fact that the full-time stations are all network affiliated, whereas the proponent's station would furnish an independent, locally-oriented service during the extended hours; foreign-language programming; religious programming; and programming of a higher cultural character than that available in the community from the full-time stations. We conclude herein that the need for additional local service in communities now having no local nighttime outlet does not justify the result sought by DBA; a fortiori, it cannot be concluded that the proposal should be granted because of the programming characteristics of stations in communities having a full-time local outlet such as those mentioned above. Furthermore, such characteristics of programming are of course highly changeable, and therefore are not a valid reason for changing the permanent, basic allocation structure.

[35] The figure of 535 communities is contained in reply comments filed on behalf of Station WING, Dayton, Ohio; it is stated that all of them have "interference-free groundwave service available at night." However, an examination of the exhibits cited in support of this assertion shows that some of the communities listed (e. g., those listed for Alabama) are over 2,500 population and receive only 0.5 mv/m but not 2.0 mv/m groundwave service.

[36] For example, DBA lists among the 913 communities Silver Spring and Wheaton, Maryland, and Alexandria, Fairfax and Falls Church, Virginia, all of which are in the Washington Metropolitan Area. Other suburban communities listed are Glendale and Inglewood (Los Angeles); San Mateo and San Rafael (San Francisco-Oakland); Evanston (Chicago); Covington and Newport, Kentucky (Cincinnati); Bossier City, Louisiana (Shreveport); Dundalk and Towson, Maryland (Baltimore); Cambridge, Medford and Quincy, Massachusetts (Boston); Inkster (Detroit); Anoka, Hopkins-Edina and St. Louis Park, Minnesota (Minneapolis); St. Charles and Clayton, Missouri (St. Louis); Morristown, New Jersey (Newark); Campbell, Ohio (Youngstown); Massilon, Ohio (Canton); Worthington, Ohio (Columbus); Braddock, Homestead, New Kensington-Tarentum, Pennsylvania (Pittsburgh); Prichard, Alabama (Mobile); Scottsdale, Arizona (Phoenix-Mesa); Groton, Connecticut (New London); Coral Gables, Florida (Miami); Decatur, East Point, Georgia (Atlanta); Rossville, Georgia (Chattanooga); New Albany, Indiana (Louisville); and Council Bluffs, Iowa (Omaha).

as including the following more specific elements (which, it is asserted, are not met by the stations located elsewhere):

(a) Need for service, particularly during evening and early morning hours during winter months, to convey information about bad weather and other emergency conditions. In wintertime (before sunrise) it would be desirable to have more broadcasting of school closings due to bad weather, changes in school bus routes, etc. On certain occasions daytime stations either could have rendered such service but were unable to do so because of their short hours, or rendered such service (in connection with tornadoes, etc.) in months when they were permitted to operate, but could not have done [17] so if the emergency situation had occurred at another time of year.

(b) Need for service to provide farm market and weather information in the evening and early morning, when farmers are able to hear it and make advantageous use of it (e. g., in connection with deciding whether or not to ship livestock). Wide-area stations, while they can and do provide agricultural information generally, cannot gear such information specifically to the needs of the local farmers in all parts of their wide and diverse areas.

(c) The advantage which would accrue to public-service organizations from the stations having more time to devote to public service programming and announcements. Because of the short operating hours during the months (late fall and winter) when business is good, stations must necessarily devote the bulk of their time to commercial material; some worthy causes (such as the March of Dimes) put on their drives in wintertime, when the short span of daytime operation limits the effectiveness which a station can have in supporting them.

(d) The general need for and advantage of providing desirable programs, such as news, at times when people are free to listen to them. During daytime hours in late fall, winter and early spring, programs can be presented only during hours when much of the potential audience is at work, in school, or otherwise not free to listen, and that it would be preferable to be able to present such programs during the dinner hours.

(e) Elimination of the confusion which results from lack of uniform hours. The audience becomes confused as to when the daytime station signs on and off and during what part of the year a program will be available at a certain time. The audience tends to identify the station with its shortest hours (the only hours during which it is always available); accordingly, it is difficult to build an audience for the additional hours which become available as daytime hours increase seasonally.

(f) The difficultly of building programs at particular hours during the year and then having to cancel or shift them when daytime hours become shorter. Sponsors will buy a particular program at one hour but not at another hour (e. g., a 5:30 news broadcast): this results in gaining a sponsor only to lose him when the program must be cancelled or shifted, and the same thing applies to the listening audience.

(g) Greater service to local advertisers. Local merchants are deprived of the opportunity to promote their products or services by the absence of a radio outlet during non-daytime hours, particularly during the months when business is at a high level (in particular the "pre-Christmas" months, October, November and December). This works to the detriment of the local community in that it gives "big city" advertisers an advantage because they can advertise over full-time stations in the larger communities and appeal to the local community audience, while the local advertisers have no outlet during important listening hours. The small business concern is hurt in this respect, since the local (daytime) station is often the only medium it can afford to use.

(h) The desirability of the hours involved, from the standpoint of the listener, the advertiser and the station (for example, hours up to 7:00 p. m. are valuable because television viewing does not reach its peak until after that hour).

(i) The advantage to the station, from the standpoint of both stability of staff and economy of operation, of being able to conduct its operations during generally the same hours all year, rather than (as at present) having to either support all year a staff adequate for its longest hours of operation, or hire new people for the longer hours every spring or summer.

(j) Advantages to the daytime-only stations, as such. The daytime stations are small business, their opportunities are limited by an archaic allocation system which at present works for the benefit of a few wide-area stations which no longer render a significant service to communities distant from where they are located. While figures may show a fair income for daytime stations as a group, a number of them are not doing well economically and would be hurt in any business recession.

(k) In general, the need for a medium of comunication in additional hours, particularly in communities where there is no daily newspaper and where (as in a few cases) the daytime station is the only station in an area of two or more counties.

48. Many of the proponent daytime stations submitted letters from city officials, representatives of civic, educational, religious and business groups, county agents, and similar persons, as well as from listeners, expressing views that some or all of the needs and potential advantages exist. It may be observed, in general, that these persons did not appear to be aware of the fact that during the extended hours the service area of a daytime station would be less than, and often only a small fraction of, the station's daytime service area. Some of them seem to be aware in a general way that the DBA proposal would create interference, but they do not appear to know the extent thereof.

49. We recognize that these needs and advantages of extended hours of operation by daytime stations exist insofar as they concern the public and the community rather than the station itself, and that, absent interference considerations, it would be desirable that a local outlet operate during whatever hours may be necessary to meet them. But these same needs and advantages are common to all radio service and any change in allocation rules which results in degradation of over-all radio service results in less meeting of the various needs and provides for less of the advantages than at present. We recognize the importance and value of permitting the only local outlet in a community to operate during additional hours, especially where, as in the case of some of these daytime stations, the resulting additional service would be the only primary service available during the hours in question. Yet the losses in service which would result, losses often near and in some cases within the very communities which the full-time stations are licensed to serve,[18] far outweigh the gains. The losses would thus impair the present ability of stations to meet the needs and provide the advantages expected of radio to an extent much greater than that to which the extended hours would afford daytime stations an opportunity to render similar service. For example, as to service in emergencies, it is desirable for a local station to be able to render such service; but not at the expense of the ability of other stations to render similar service, when the population lost would be much greater than the population gained.[19] The same consideration ap-

[17] One specific example of this kind of service was described by Station WLBH, Mattoon, Illinois. On that occasion, in January 1957, a large local industrial plant was not able to go into operation in the morning because of a break in a gas main (hundreds of miles away) during the night. The plant manager called the station manager about midnight and requested that the station broadcast announcements of the event between 6:00 a. m. and 7:00 a. m. so that workers at the plant would not come to work. The station was of course unable to do so since sunrise was not until after 7:00 a. m., and no other station in the area was available to make the announcement.

[18] Several opponents of the proposal submitted an engineering study of the effect of the subject proposal on the coverage of a number of 5 kw unlimited time regional stations. The study discloses that 64 percent of these stations would not provide interference-free service to the cities for which they are licensed and that 46 percent of them would not even be able to serve the principal business districts of their communities.

[19] As some of the opponents have noted, other methods are available to bring locally originated nighttime radio services to the 913 communities now without such service. In some cases the daytime stations on regional channels and on foreign clear channels could bring a full-time service to their principal communities by installing directional antennas for nighttime operation on the same or some other frequency. Where this would not be feasible, the daytime stations might consider constructing and operating FM stations. As shown by data in the record, FM stations can give much greater coverage of the communities and surrounding areas during night hours than that obtainable from a daytime-only station subject to the limitations which would prevail. It is reasonable to assume that the public would purchase FM receivers if there is sufficient unsatisfied need for radio services in these communities.

plies in the case of the Commission's CONELRAD system. The optimum value of this system is obtained only when radio service is maintained reasonably unimpaired.

50. With respect to service in emergencies and generally, it must be borne in mind that under the DBA proposal, while individual communities would gain some service, the nation as a whole would lose much more than it would gain. The area and population served by the daytime stations would be severely limited as compared to their daytime coverage, and the primary service rendered by full-time stations would suffer vast inroads. The result would be the curtailment of presently available primary service to large areas and populations, especially rural areas, during the hours in question.[20]

51. The proponents assert that extended hours of operation are needed to permit daytime stations to carry many programs of sole or primary interest to outlying rural areas. The licensees of a number of clear channel and unlimited-time regional stations reply that they already provide extensive unique programming designed solely for rural listeners; that this programming has a wide appeal to farm listeners, evidenced by mail received from such listeners in all parts of their service areas; and that these programs are principally scheduled during morning and evening mealtime hours, which are pre-sunrise and post-sunset hours during winter months. The mutually destructive interference which would result from permitting all stations on regional and clear channels to operate with daytime facilities in pre-sunrise and post-sunset hours would have the effect of largely wiping out the service to rural areas of both the full-time and the daytime stations.[21] In this connection, a national organization representing rural interests, the National Grange, filed an opposition in which it stated that the instant proposal would result in a severe reduction in satisfactory radio service to millions of persons in rural areas.[22] We are of the view that, instead of greater service to rural areas, the proposal would result in markedly less service.

52. One of the cornerstones of the DBA argument is that the distant stations do not provide a useful service for communities located at some distance from them and, furthermore, now that better signals are available, listeners are not content to listen to the mediocre signal of a distant station. In short, it is urged, the allocation scheme designed to protect wide-area coverage is archaic. DBA asserts that whether a station's service is of value cannot be ascertained by technical concepts and rules, but should be determined by surveys of the extent to which the station is regularly received by listeners. DBA asserts that such surveys would show distant stations have little or no listener significance. While not advancing such data itself (a few proponents advanced very fragmentary data of this sort), DBA asserts that it is clearly within the ability of the full-time stations to do so. The interference entailed by the DBA proposal would not however, affect merely, or principally, distant stations, but would have a most serious effect upon the service of regional stations close to or even within the community to which they are assigned.

53. A number of full-time stations, both clear channel and regional, made showings that their programming which was specifically geared to outlying communities and rural areas within their service contours. This programming includes agricultural programs, civic programs for each community and local sporting events. The Clear Channel Broadcasting Service (CCBS), in its comments filed on August 15, 1958, in the Clear Channel Proceeding (Docket No. 6741), submitted mail response tabulations of its member stations to show that large numbers of persons living great distances from clear channel stations listen to the nighttime skywave signals of these stations. This data reveals the following mail response for the listed clear channel stations, each of which elicited such response from its listeners by announcements made during periods of up to two weeks during the month of June 1958: [23]

WSM, Nashville, Tenn.	June 20–28	718 counties in 36 States.
WLW, Cincinnati, Ohio.	June 24–27	126 counties in 24 States.
WGN, Chicago, Ill.	June 17–25	290 counties in 34 States.
WWL, New Orleans, La.	June 9–22	476 counties in 32 States.
WHO, Des Moines, Iowa.	June 20–27	100 counties in 27 States.
WOAI, San Antonio, Tex.	June 23–27	289 counties in 26 States.

Storer Broadcasting Company, in its reply comments filed in this proceeding, tabulated the mail received from listeners of its Class I–B station WWVA, Wheeling, West Virginia, in the month of April, 1958. During that month mail was received from 41 states. 56 percent of the mail was received from states located entirely outside of the primary groundwave service contour of WWVA. In sum, no data of which the Commission is aware, shows or tends to show that the listening habits of the nation have changed in such a way that distant stations should no longer be protected or daytime stations be permitted to operate in spite of the resultant interference of the magnitude involved here.

54. Some proponents contend that extended hours for daytime broadcasters should be considered as a means for improving the capacity of daytime broadcasters as "little business" to compete with other, bigger stations. It would not be realistic, however, to treat the proposal in this light. Extended hours for daytime stations would adversely affect numerous other small broadcasters, including small unlimited time stations whose service areas and populations reached would be drastically curtailed by interference caused by extended hours of operation of daytime stations. Moreover, apart from the fact that the proposal does not involve a simple conflict between smaller broadcasters on the one side and bigger broadcasters on the other, we cannot lose sight of the primary basis on which the Commission is called upon to assess the effect of the proposal on the public interest; that is, its effect on services provided to the public. In this respect the evidence overwhelmingly establishes that adoption of the proposal would permit highly circumscribed increases in service by daytime stations at the prohibitive cost of destroying service now rendered to many millions of people by numerous other stations, both large and small.

OPERATION UNDER § 3.87 AS A PRECEDENT FOR THE DBA PROPOSAL

55. A number of the proponents claim that operation as contemplated by the subject proposal has already proved workable by the practice under § 3.87 of the Commission's rules, which permits all stations except certain Class II stations to begin operation with their daytime facilities at 4:00 a. m., unless undue interference is caused thereby to full-

[20] For example, a large area in New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, now served by New York City clear channel stations with a groundwave signal nighttime of at least 0.5 mv/m, would lose the service of these stations. Within this area of approximately 11,000 square miles, nearly 6,500 square miles would have no primary service available during these hours in spite of the fact that daytime-only stations would be serving very small portions of the area. Of the approximately 644,000 rural population within this area, about 323,000 would continue to receive primary service during these hours from daytime stations and existing full-time stations as limited by the additional interference; but about 321,000 persons, who now receive service from New York stations would have available to them no nighttime primary service from any source. Similarly, around Greenville, South Carolina, operation by daytime stations under the DBA proposal would cause severe losses to full-time Greenville stations during post-sunset hours. Daytime stations would serve portions of this area, and also additional adjacent areas not now receiving primary service during post-sunset hours. The record also discloses that "white" area would be similarly created around Dallas, Omaha, Salt Lake City, Phoenix and other cities.

[21] As an example of this loss of rural service, the licensee of Station KSAL, Salina, Kansas, asserts that 35 cities and towns and extensive rural area encompassing all of five counties and parts of other counties, now served at night by KSAL and by two other stations, would lose all primary nighttime service.

[22] Another national farm organization, the National Council of Farm Cooperatives, while not taking a firm position opposing the proposal, asks that the Commission carefully consider its possible adverse effect upon rural listeners.

[23] The CCBS comments in Docket No. 6741 also include listener data for other member stations. Since these other stations, however, obtained mail from listeners in response to announcements made over extended periods of time, instead of only during a short period in June 1958, they are not included in this tabulation.

time stations. It is asserted that relatively few complaints about interference have been received in connection with such operations, indicating an absence of substantial objectionable interference. We are of the opinion that this situation affords no basis for favorable consideration of the DBA proposal. The fact that few complaints have been received is doubtless a reflection of the fact that many full-time stations do not go into operation until some time after 4:00 a. m. and interference conditions are thereby minimized; whereas the DBA proposal would permit nighttime operation by daytime stations in the early evening when all full-time stations are in operation, and would therefore result in interference of the vast magnitude already discussed. Legally, the DBA proposal is substantially different from the present § 3.87 situation because the latter is a privilege which may be cancelled immediately by the Commission upon a showing of undue interference by a full-time station, while the DBA proposal would confer the privilege of nondaytime operation upon daytime stations as a matter of right, regardless of interference which would be caused.

CONCLUSIONS

56. Amendment of the rules as proposed by the DBA would not serve the public interest. The population which would gain service during these hours is vastly exceeded by the population which would lose the service of existing stations because of the additional interference which would result on all but a few of the 107 standard broadcast frequencies from the operation of daytime stations during the non-daytime hours (before sunrise and after sunset) contemplated by the proposal. The daytime stations so operating during non-daytime hours would generally serve only a very small fraction of the areas and populations which they serve during daytime hours, a fact which would sharply limit the gains in service which would result. As a result of the additional interference so created, clear channel, unlimited time Class II and Class III stations would be limited in service so that in many instances they could not serve even all of the communities to which they are assigned. While a first nighttime primary service would be afforded to some population during these hours, and a first local service would be afforded to more than 900 communities in the nation, extensive "white areas", in which the population would lose all nighttime primary service would be created. On virtually all of the clear channels all secondary service would be destroyed. Because of this destruction of secondary service (the only service received by some 20,000,000 persons in about one-half of the area in the United States) and vast impairment of primary service during the hours involved, service to rural areas would be lost. Severe interference to foreign stations, inconsistent with international understanding, would occur. We cannot conclude that, on balance, we are warranted in extending the proposed service. With respect to aspects of radio such as service in emergencies, this is a function of all broadcast service, and any overall degradation of broadcast service must necessarily create greater needs in those respects than those it fulfills. As to the argument that the gained local service would be of value to the local population, whereas the lost service from distant stations is of no consequence to the populations who would lose it, the record shows that the service lost would not be solely or principally that of distant stations but would occur close to the communities where such stations are located as well as at greater distances. Moreover, the record shows that many full-time stations, both clear and regional, program for the outlying communities which would lose service. Other arguments advanced, such as the economic interests of daytime stations and small communities and the precedent said to be afforded by the practice under § 3.87 of the rules, have been dealt with above. We are therefore persuaded that DBA's proposal would not serve the public interest and must be denied.

57. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That the above-captioned petition of Daytime Broadcasters Association, Inc. is denied, and this proceeding is terminated.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

SOUTHWEST NATURAL PRODUCTION CO.

ORDER FOR HEARING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATES

SEPTEMBER 19, 1958.

Southwest Natural Production Company (Southwest) on August 21, 1958, tendered for filing a proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule [1] for the sale of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change, which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

Description: Notice of Change, dated August 19, 1958.

Purchaser: Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company.

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 7 to Southwest's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2.

Effective date: October 1, 1958 (effective date is the effective date proposed by Southwest).

The increased rate and charge so proposed is intended to reflect (in whole or in part) the additional "excise, license, or privilege tax" of one cent per Mcf levied by the State of Louisiana pursuant to Act No. 8 of 1958 (House Bill No. 303), as approved on June 16, 1958, amending Title 47 of the Louisiana Revised Statutes of 1950. The Commission is advised that litigation is being instituted to challenge the constitutionality of the said Act No. 8 of 1958. In consideration of this fact, and in order to assure appropriate refund in the event said Act No. 8 of 1958 should be declared unconstitutional or otherwise held invalid by final judicial decision, it is deemed advisable to suspend the said proposed increased rate and charge.

This suspension, however, is based on the possibility of the additional tax being invalidated and only such tax increment of the proposed increased rate shall be subject to refund.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed change, and that Supplement No. 7 to Southwest's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rate and charge contained in Supplement No. 7 to Southwest's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, said supplement be and it is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until October 2, 1958, and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplement hereby suspended nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

[Docket No. G-15899]

LOUISIANA NEVADA TRANSIT CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

SEPTEMBER 19, 1958.

Take notice that Louisiana Nevada Transit Company (Applicant), a Nevada corporation with a principal place of business in Ada, Oklahoma, filed an application on August 5, 1958, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing Applicant to redeliver natural gas received in an emergency from Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company (Arkansas), through existing tap on Applicant's 8-inch main transmission pipeline near a point of intersection of their systems near Louisville, Arkansas, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully described in an application on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

The application recites: Applicant requested emergency deliveries of natural gas from Arkansas Louisiana to replace gas supplies curtailed while repairs were made on the Applicant's system near Okay, Arkansas. Deliveries were made by Arkansas Louisiana into the Applicant's 8-inch main transmission line between June 23, 1958 and July 20, 1958, through a temporary tap connection located near Okay, Arkansas and the existing connection located near Louisville, pursuant to § 157.22 of the Commission's rules.

Emergency deliveries totaling 239.7 Mcf were made to the Applicant on condition that an equivalent volume of gas would be redelivered by Louisiana Nevada on completion of repairs, and that the Applicant would pay the cost of installing and removing temporary interconnections and metering facilities. No monetary charge is to be made by either party as the arrangement is a gas-for-gas exchange, as indicated in a letter agreement dated May 28, 1958 attached to the application.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission, by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on November 5, 1958, at 9:30 a. m., e. s. t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before October 20, 1958. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

MIDWEST OIL CORP.

ORDER FOR HEARING, SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATE, AND ALLOWING INCREASED RATE TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

SEPTEMBER 19, 1958.

Midwest Oil Corporation (Midwest), on August 20, 1958, tendered, for filing a proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule [1] for sales of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change, which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

Description: Notice of Change, dated August 18, 1958.

Purchaser: Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation.

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 4 to Midwest's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 13.

Effective date: September 20, 1958 (effective date is the first day after expiration of the required thirty days' notice).

The increased rate and charge so proposed is intended to reflect (in whole or in part) the additional "excise, license, or privilege tax" of one cent per Mcf levied by the State of Louisiana pursuant to Act No. 8 of 1959 (House Bill No. 303), as approved on June 16, 1958, amending Title 47 of the Louisiana Revised Statutes of 1950. The Commission is advised that litigation is being instituted to challenge the constitutionality of the said Act No. 8 of 1958. In consideration of this fact, and in order to assure appropriate refund in the event said Act No. 8 of 1958 should be declared unconstitutional or otherwise held invalid by final decision, it is deemed advisable to suspend the said proposed increased rate and charge until September 21, 1958, and thereafter to permit it to become effective as of that date; provided that within 20 days from the date of this order Midwest Oil Corporation shall file with the Secretary of the Commission an appropriate undertaking to assure such refund as may be ordered.

The Commission finds:

(1) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed change, and that the above-designated supplement be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

(2) It is necessary and proper in the public interest in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that Midwest's proposed increased rate be made effective as hereinafter provided and that Midwest be required to file an undertaking as hereinafter ordered and conditioned.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rate and charge contained in the above-designated supplement to Midwest's FPC Gas Rate Schedule.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, said supplement be and it hereby is suspended and the use thereof deferred until September 21, 1958, and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

(C) The rate, charge, and classification set forth in the above-designated supplement to Midwest's FPC Gas Rate Schedule shall be effective as of September 21, 1958: Provided, however, That within 20 days from the date of this order, Midwest shall execute and file with the Secretary of the Commission the agreement and undertaking described in paragraph (E) below.

(D) Midwest shall refund at such times and in such amounts to the persons entitled thereto, and in such manner as may be required by final order of the Commission, the difference between the presently effective rate and charge and the proposed increased rate and charge hereby allowed to become effective in the event the additional tax of one cent per Mcf levied by the State of Louisiana is for any reason held to be invalid. Should such additional tax eventually be held invalid and the State of Louisiana makes refund, with interest, of the tax moneys collected pursuant to the said Act No. 8 of 1958, then, and in that event, a proportionate part of the interest so received by Midwest herein shall be passed on and paid to the persons entitled thereto at such times and in such amounts, and in such manner as may be required by final order of the Commission, Midwest shall bear all costs of any such refunding; shall keep accurate accounts in detail of all amounts received by reason of the increased rate or charge allowed by this order to become effective for each billing period, specifying by whom and in whose behalf such amounts were paid; and shall report (original and four copies), in writing and under oath, to the Commission quarterly, or monthly if Midwest

(E) As a condition of this order, within 20 days from the date of issuance thereof, Midwest shall execute and file in triplicate with the Secretary of this Commission its written agreement and undertaking to comply with the terms of paragraph (D) hereof, signed by a responsible officer of the corporation, evidenced by proper authority from the board of directors, and accompanied by a certificate showing service of copies thereof upon all purchasers under the rate schedule involved, as follows:

Shalett and Crow shall bear all costs of any such refunding; shall keep accurate accounts in detail of all amounts received by reason of the increased rate or charge allowed by this order to become effective, for each billing period, specifying by whom and in whose behalf such amounts were paid; shall report (original and four copies), in writing and under oath, to the Commission quarterly, or monthly if Shalett and Crow so elect, for each billing period, and for each purchaser, the billing determinants of natural gas sales to such purchasers and the revenues resulting therefrom, as computed under the rate in effect immediately prior to the date upon which the increased rate allowed by this order becomes effective, and under the rate allowed by this order to become effective, together with the differences in the revenues so computed.

(E) As a condition of this order, within 20 days from the date of issuance thereof, Shalett and Crow shall execute and file in triplicate with the Secretary of this Commission its written agreement and undertaking to comply with the terms of paragraph (D) hereof, signed and ac-

TRANSCONTINENTAL GAS PIPE LINE CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

Take notice that Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation (Applicant) a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Houston, Texas, filed on June 30, 1958 an application, together with a supplement thereto on July 7, 1958, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of an additional sales meter station and appurtenant facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission on a proposed 12-inch lateral line about 3,000 feet in length to be constructed and operated by Public Service Electric and Gas Company (Public Service), an existing customer, to connect with Applicant's existing 26-inch main line, all in Bergen County, New Jersey, as more fully described in an application on file with the Commission, and open to public inspection.

The application recites: (1) Public Service proposes to use the gas delivered through this new tap and meter station, for the present, to serve the gas requirements of its new Bergen Electric Generating Station which is currently being constructed by Public Service. The proposed meter station will be constructed on the same property as the new generating station belonging to Public Service. Use of such property for meter station makes it unnecessary to purchase property for the meter station at Transco's main line.

(2) Initial gas service is required at the Bergen Station for a small heating boiler which will require up to 24 Mcf per hour from September to November 1958 at which time the requirements will increase to 500 Mcf per hour. The increase in use commencing in November is contemplated to "boil out the main boilers" at the station and in addition some steam will be required for railroad car thawing due to colder weather. The gas going into Bergen Station will subsequently be used for pilot lights on the boilers after the station begins operation on coal. If surplus gas is available to Public Service it will be burned at the Bergen Station as boiler fuel. Public Service's lateral is expected to have a capacity to transport 132,000 Mcf per day.

The total capital cost of the proposed meter station is estimated at $56,000, which will be defrayed from company funds.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on November 6, 1958 at 9:30 a. m., e. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a noncontested hearing, dispose of the proceedings, pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before October 20, 1958. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure where a request therefor is made.

SHELL OIL CO. ET AL.

ORDER FOR HEARING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATES

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

Shell Oil Company (Operator) et al. (Shell) on August 25 and 26, 1958, tendered for filing proposed changes in its presently effective rate schedules[1] for sales of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed changes, which constitute increased rates and charges, are contained in the following designated filings:

Description: Notice of Change, dated August 21, 1958.

Purchaser: El Paso Natural Gas Company.

Rate Schedule Designation: (1) Supplement No. 10 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 20; (2) Supplement No. 8 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 18; (3) Supplement No. 7 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 34.

Effective Dates: Nos. (1) and (2)—September 25, 1958; No. (3)—September 26, 1958 (effective date is the first day after expiration of the required thirty days' notice).

In support of the proposed redetermined rate increases, Shell states that the increases are the result of the operation of a provision in its rate schedules agreed upon in good faith and at arms-length and the inclusion of this clause was an important element of the consideration to Shell to enter into these long term contracts. Also, Shell states, the increased prices will still be well below prices paid for similar gas in new contracts in the general vicinity of the sales.

The increased rates and charges so proposed have not been shown to be justified and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed changes and that Supplement No. 10 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 20, Supplement No. 8 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 18, and Supplement No. 7 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 34 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rates and charges contained in Supplement No. 10 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 20, Supplement No. 8 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 18, and Supplement No. 7 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 34.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Supplement No. 10 to [1] Present rates previously suspended and are in effect subject to refund in Docket Nos. G-13897, G-12953, G-14080.

Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 20 and Supplement No. 8 of Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 18 be and they are each hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until February 25, 1959, and Supplement No. 7 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 34 be and it is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until February 26, 1959, and until such further time as they are made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplements hereby suspended, nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the periods of suspension have expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

UNITED FUEL GAS CO.

ORDER FOR HEARING, SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGES IN RATES, AND ALLOWING INCREASED RATES TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

SEPTEMBER 19, 1958.

United Fuel Gas Company (United Fuel), on August 22, 1958, tendered for filing four tariff sheets[1] to its FPC Gas Tariff, Fifth Revised Volume No. 1 by which United Fuel proposes to increase its rate for sale of natural gas in the amount of $1,296,671 annually for gas produced or gathered by United Fuel in the State of Louisiana and sold under its FPC Gas Rate Schedules CDS-1, SGS-1, AOS-1 and ES-1.

Clauses in the contracts between United Fuel and its suppliers provide generally that United Fuel will reimburse its suppliers for 75 percent of any increase in the Louisiana Gathering Tax.

The increased rates and charges so proposed are intended to reflect (in whole or in part) the additional "excise, license, or privilege tax" of one cent per Mcf levied by the State of Louisiana pursuant to Act No. 8 of 1958 (House Bill No. 303), as approved on June 16, 1958, amending Title 47 of the Louisiana Revised Statutes of 1950. The Commission is advised that litigation is being instituted to challenge the constitutionality of the said Act No. 8 of 1958. In consideration of this fact, and in order to assure appropriate refund in the event said Act No. 8 of 1958 should be declared unconstitutional or otherwise held invalid by final judicial decision, it is deemed advisable to suspend the said proposed increased rates and charges until September 23, 1958, and thereafter to permit them to become effective as of that date; provided, that within 20 days from the date of this order United Fuel shall file with the Secretary of the Commission an appropriate undertaking to assure such refund as may be ordered. Due to the nature of the filing, it is deemed advisable to waive the requirements of Sections 154.22 and 154.63 of the Commission's Regulations and permit the sheets to become effective following a suspension of one day.

The Commission finds:

(1) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of said proposed changes, and that the above-designated tariff sheets be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

(2) It is necessary and proper in the public interest in carying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that United Fuel's proposed increased rates be made effective as hereinafter provided and that United Fuel be required to file an undertaking as hereinafter ordered and conditioned.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rates and charges contained in the above-designated revised tariff sheets.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, said First Revised Sheet Nos. 7, 27, and 33, and Second Revised Sheet No. 22, to United Fuel's FPC Gas Tariff, Fifth Revised Volume No. 1, are each hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until September 23, 1958, and until such further time as each is made effective in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

(C) The rates, charges, and classifications set forth in the above-designated filings shall be effective as of September 23, 1958: Provided, however, That within 20 days from the date of this order United Fuel shall execute and file with the Secretary of the Commission the agreement and undertaking described in paragraph (E) below.

(D) United Fuel shall refund at such times and in such amounts to the persons entitled thereto, and in such manner as may be required by final order of the Commission, the difference between the rates and charges found at Docket No. G-12195 to be just and reasonable and the proposed increased rates and charges hereby allowed to become effective in the event that the additional tax of one cent per Mcf levied by the State of Louisiana is for any reason held to be invalid. Should such additional tax eventually be held invalid and the State of Louisiana makes refund, with interest, of the tax monies collected pursuant to the said Act No. 8 of 1958, then, and in that event, a proportionate part of the interest so received by United Fuel herein shall be passed on and paid to the persons entitled thereto at such times and in such amounts, and in such manner as may be required by final order of the Commission. United Fuel shall bear all costs of any such refunding; shall keep accurate accounts in detail of all amounts received by reason of the increased rates or charges allowed by this order to become effective, for each billing period, specifying by whom and in whose behalf such amounts were paid; and shall report (original and four copies), in writing and under oath, to the Commission quarterly, or monthly if United Fuel so elects, for each billing period, and for each purchaser, the billing determinants of natural gas sales to such purchasers and the revenues resulting therefrom, as computed under the rates in effect immediately prior to the date upon which the increased rates allowed by this order become effective, and under the rates allowed by this order to become effective, together with the differences in the revenues so computed.

(E) As a condition of this order, within 20 days from the date of issuance thereof, United Fuel shall execute and file in triplicate with the Secretary of this Commission its written agreement and undertaking to comply with the terms of paragraph (D) hereof, signed by a responsible officer of the corporation, evidenced by proper authority from the board of directors, and accompanied by a certificate showing service of copies thereof upon all purchasers under the revised tariff sheets involved, as follows:

The tendered tariff sheets propose an increase in rate of 0.34¢ per Mcf in the commodity price for the gas sold under the designated rate schedules over and above the rates currently being collected by United Fuel subject to further orders of the Commission as to refunds at Docket No. G-12195.

MURPHY CORPORATION ET AL.

ORDER FOR HEARING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATES

SEPTEMBER 19, 1958.

Murphy Corporation et al. (Murphy) on August 22, 1958, tendered for filing a proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule[1] for the sale of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change, which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

[1] Rate in effect subject to refund in Docket No. G-15605.

Description: Notice of Change, dated August 20, 1958.

Purchaser: Mississippi River Fuel Corporation.

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 8 to Murphy's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 5.

Effective date: October 1, 1958 (effective date is the effective date proposed by Murphy).

The increased rate and charge so proposed is intended to reflect (in whole or in part) the additional "excise, license, or privilege tax" of one cent per Mcf levied by the State of Louisiana pursuant to Act No. 8 of 1958 (House Bill No. 303), as approved on June 16, 1958, amending Title 47 of the Louisiana Revised Statutes of 1950. The Commission is advised that litigation is being instituted to challenge the constitutionality of the said Act No. 8 of 1958. In consideration of this fact, and in order to assure appropriate refund in the event said Act No. 8 of 1958 should be declared unconstitutional or otherwise held invalid by final judicial decision, it is deemed advisable to suspend the said proposed increased rate and charge.

This suspension, however, is based on the possibility of the additional tax being invalidated and only such tax increment of the proposed increased rate shall be subject to refund.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed change, and that Supplement No. 8 to Murphy's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 5 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rate and charge contained in Supplement No. 8 to Murphy's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 5.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, said supplement be and it is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until October 2, 1958, and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplement hereby suspended nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

F. A. CALLERY, INC., ET AL.

ORDER FOR HEARING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGES IN RATES

SEPTEMBER 19, 1958.

F. A. Callery, Inc., et al. (Callery) on August 22, 1958, tendered for filing proposed changes in its presently effective rate schedules [1] for sales of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed changes, which constitute increased rates and charges, are contained in the following designated filings:

Description: Supplemental Agreement, dated March 20, 1958. Notice of Change, dated August 22, 1958.

Purchaser: United Gas Pipe Line Company.

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 2 to Callery's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 7; Supplement No. 3 to Callery's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 7.

Effective date: September 22, 1958 (effective date is the first day after expiration of the required thirty days' notice).

In support of the proposed rate increase Callery states that the agreement was negotiated at arm's length extending the primary term 14 years and that the proposed price is not in excess of the current market value of the gas.

The increased rates and charges so proposed have not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed changes, and that Supplement No. 2 to Callery's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 7, and Supplement No. 3 to Callery's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 7, be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rates and charges contained in Supplement No. 2 to Callery's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 7, and Supplement No. 3 to Callery's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 7.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, said supplements be and they are each hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until February 1, 1959, and until such further time as they are made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplements hereby suspended, nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the periods of suspension have expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Interested state commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

By the Commission.

The application recites: In Docket Nos. G-1757, G-6674 and G-11677 Applicant was authorized to transport and store natural gas in the Herscher and Cooks Mills storage fields, for the account of the customers of Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America and Texas Illinois Natural Gas Pipeline Company whose customers own the gas stored, and to whom it is redelivered upon request. Natural and Texas Illinois each own 50 percent of the capital stock of Gas Storage. In Docket No. G-6674, Gas Storage was authorized to withdraw a maximum of 430,000 Mcf per day from the Herscher storage field. In Docket No. G-11677, Applicant received authorization to develop and operate another gas storage project, the Cooks Mills Field in Coles and Douglas Counties, Illinois, but with no increase in the maximum daily withdrawal rate.

The Application further recites that the increased withdrawals from storage proposed in the instant application will be used to meet the increasing space heating requirements of existing customers of Natural and Texas Illinois. The present and proposed authorized daily withdrawal volumes of these customers are as follows:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on October 28, 1958, at 9:30 a. m., e. s. t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceeding pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before October 17, 1958. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

[Docket No. G-13258]

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

ORDER UPON MOTIONS FOR CONTINUANCE OF DATE OF HEARING AND FOR FURTHER LIMITATION OF ISSUES

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

By order issued herein on April 18, 1958, we, among other things, accepted Southern Natural Gas Company's (Southern) FPC Gas Tariff, Fifth Revised Volume No. 1, for filing in substitution for its Fourth Revised Volume No. 1 to said Tariff, to be effective as of April 16, 1958. As stated in the order, the rates and charges provided in the Fifth Revised Volume No. 1 would increase Southern's revenues from jurisdictional sales in an amount estimated at $11,022,471, based on adjusted sales for the year ended April 30, 1957. This amount, the order stated, was $7,152,177 less than the increase of $18,176,648 estimated to result from Fourth Revised Volume No. 1 to Southern's Tariff, which had been previously suspended by order issued herein on September 12, 1957.

The order of April 18, 1958, took notice of the fact that all of Southern's affected customers, excepting one, had agreed to pay the revised rates provided in the aforementioned Fifth Revised Volume No. 1.

For reasons stated therein, the order issued April 18, 1958, also provided that:

(D) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 (e) and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be hereafter fixed, limited to and concerning only (1) the level of the demand and commodity components of the rates contained in Southern's FPC Gas Tariff, Fifth Revised Volume No. 1, and (11) the "Conditions Relating to Refunds and Future Rate Reductions."

(E) Unless advised to the contrary within ten (10) days from the date of its issuance, this order shall be deemed to have been accepted by all parties.

The "Conditions Relating to Refunds and Future Rate Reductions" were submitted by Southern to the Commission concurrently with the tender of the then proposed Fifth Revised Volume No. 1 and constituted a part of the conditions of the aforementioned agreement between Southern and its customers.

The above quoted provisions of the order issued April 18, 1958, which was served on all parties, as well as all other provisions thereof, in accordance with the terms thereof, are deemed to have been accepted by Southern and all other parties to these proceedings, excepting possibly Georgia Natural Gas Company, since none advised the Commission to the contrary or sought rehearing on the order.

On August 22, 1958, Southern filed a motion to (i) indefinitely postpone the limited hearing in this proceeding, previously fixed to commence on September 23, 1958, or (ii) if indefinite postponement is denied, to continue the date of such hearing for one month and to further limit the issues to be heard therein.

Similar motions, or concurrences in Southern's motion, have been filed by the Public Service Commissions of Georgia, South Carolina, and Mississippi (which is not a party), and by two municipal associations and four customers of Southern. But only one of these parties, a customer company, requested further limitation of the issues if indefinite continuance is denied. The Cities of Birmingham, Gadsden, and Tuscaloosa, all in Alabama, jointly filed their objections to Southern's alternative motions.

The Commission finds: Good cause has been shown for granting a postponement of the date of hearing herein from September 23, 1958, to October 21, 1958; but good cause has not been shown for an indefinite continuance of said hearing or a further limitation of the issues to be the subject thereof.

The Commission orders:

(A) The hearing herein heretofore set to commence on September 23, 1958, is postponed to October 21, 1958, at the same hour and place.

(B) Except to the extent they may be deemed granted in paragraph (A) above, the aforesaid motion of Southern, and the other similar motions and concurrences filed herein, are each denied.

By the Commission.

ARKANSAS LOUISIANA GAS CO. AND MISSISSIPPI RIVER FUEL CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATIONS AND DATE OF HEARING

In the matters of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company, Docket No. G-15187; Mississippi River Fuel Corporation, Docket No. G-15190.

Take notice that Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company (Arkansas Louisiana) and Mississippi River Fuel Corporation (Mississippi), collectively referred to as Applicants, Delaware corporations with principal place of business at Slattery Building, Shreveport 94, Louisiana, and 407 North Eighth Street, St. Louis 1, Missouri, respectively, filed separate applications for certificates of public convenience and necessity in the above-captioned dockets on May 29, 1958, as amended July 24, 1958, and on June 2, 1958, respectively, pursuant to section 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing Applicants to render service as hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the applications which are on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

Arkansas Louisiana proposes in Docket No. G–15187 to construct and operate a meter and compressor (1320 horsepower) station adjacent to its existing Ruston Gasoline Plant, Lincoln Parish, Louisiana, at an estimated cost of $331,800 which will be financed out of cash on hand. Arkansas Louisiana also proposes to sell and deliver 35,000 Mcf of natural gas per day at 14.73 psia in interstate commerce to Mississippi for resale. This gas is to be sold and delivered through the aforesaid facilities at the outlet side of said plant from October 15 of each year through April 16 of the succeeding year for a five year period ending April 16, 1963 at a price of 26 cents per Mcf in accordance with an agreement, dated February 5, 1958, between Arkansas Louisiana and Mississippi and concurrently filed with the instant application as Rate Schedule XFS–16 of Arkansas Louisiana's FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 2.

Mississippi proposes in Docket No. G–15190 to construct and operate: (1) approximately 3.8 miles of 10-inch lateral supply line extending from the aforesaid Ruston plant, i. e., from the facilities proposed by Arkansas Louisiana in Docket No. G–15187, to the 18-inch section of Mississippi's existing 16 and 18 inch Woodlawn Field-Perryville transmission line, (2) a 1320 horsepower compressor station (Minden Compressor Station) at Minden, Webster Parish, Louisiana on the 16-inch section of said Woodlawn Field-Perryville transmission line and (3) approximately 36.8 miles of 26-inch transmission line partially looping the easternmost line of its existing dual Perryville-St. Louis transmission line at five different points. The estimated cost of these facilities is $3,655,400 which will be financed by Mississippi out of cash on hand. These facilities will be used for the purpose of supplying existing demands of Mississippi's existing customers.

Arkansas Louisiana seeks a limited certificate to terminate with the termination of the contract between itself and Mississippi. In support of its application, Arkansas Louisiana states that its minimum take obligations under its long-term gas purchase contracts, among other things, have created a short-term supply of gas in excess of its present system requirements; that the instant proposal will augment Mississippi's supply of gas during Mississippi's annual period of greatest demand, viz., the winter heating seasons; that Arkansas Louisiana can render the proposed service without impairing its ability to serve its own customers during the same period because the delivery is to be effected at the plant in the field and hence will not use or require any of its existing pipeline capacity; that the instant proposal permits Arkansas Louisiana to avail itself of the premium price applicable to this type of seasonal peak load service; and that the short-term excess supplies of gas available annually, based solely on take obligations applicable to reserves owned and controlled by Arkansas Louisiana on January 1, 1958, amount to: 51,375 Mcf in 1958; 47,245 in '59; 37,091 in '60; 27,521 in '61; 18,467 in '62; and 20,631 in '63.

In support of its application, Mississippi states that the instant gas will enable it to maintain, on a permanent basis, a daily rated sales capacity approximately equal to that capacity realized prior to April 15, 1958 on which date a service agreement with Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation calling for the delivery of 20,000 Mcf per day to Mississippi was terminated; that this gas will provide flexibility in the operation of Mississippi's system and insure against failure of service which might otherwise occur through the curtailment or interruption of deliveries from other suppliers during the six-month periods of annual peak demand on its system; and that this gas will augment its gas supply and conserve reserves committed to it under long-term contracts with others.

These related matters should be heard on a consolidated record and disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission, by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on October 14, 1958, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such applications: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicants to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before October 13, 1958. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

Secretary.

SHELL OIL CO.

ORDER FOR HEARING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATES

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

Shell Oil Company (Shell) on August 25 and 26, 1958, tendered for filing proposed changes in its presently effective rate schedules[1] for sales of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed changes, which constitute increased rates and charges, are contained in the following designated filings:

Description: Notices of Change, dated August 21, 1958.

Purchaser: El Paso Natural Gas Company.

Rate schedule designation: (1) Supplement No. 2 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 108. (2) Supplement No. 6 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 134. (3) Supplement No. 3 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 142. (4) Supplement No. 10 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 17. (5) Supplement No. 2 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 95. (6) Suplement No. 11 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 41. (7) Supplement No. 6 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 16. (8) Supplement No. 6 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 33. (9) Supplement No. 2 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 40.

Effective dates: (1) through (4) September 25, 1958. (5) through (9) September 26, 1958 (effective date is the first day after expiration of the required thirty days' notice).

In support of the proposed redetermined rate increases, Shell states that the increases are the result of the operation of a provision in its rate schedules agreed upon in good faith and at arm's-length and the inclusion of this clause was an important element of the consideration to Shell to enter into these long-term contracts. Also, Shell states, the increased prices will still be well below prices paid for similar gas in new contracts in the general vicinity of the sale.

The increased rates and charges so proposed have not been shown to be justified and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed changes and that Supplement No. 2 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 108, Supplement No. 6 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 134, Supplement No. 3 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 142, Supplement No. 10 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 17, Supplement No. 2 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 95, Supplement No. 11 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 41, Supplement No. 6 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 16, Supplement No. 6 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 33, and Supplement No. 2 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 40 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rates and charges and that Supplement No. 2 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 108, Supplement No. 6 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 134, Supplement No. 3 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 142, and Supplement No. 10 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 17 be and they are each hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until February 25, 1959, and Supplement No. 2 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 95, Supplement No. 11 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 41, Supplement No. 6 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 16, Supplement No. 6 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 33, and Supplement No. 2 to Shell's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 40 be and they are each hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until February 26, 1959, and until such further time as they are made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplements hereby suspended, nor the rate schedules sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the periods of suspension have expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

Purchaser: El Paso Natural Gas Company.

Rate schedule designation: (1) Supplement No. 9 to Tidewater's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 38. (a) Supplement No. 11 to Tidewater's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 43.

Effective date: September 25, 1958 (effective date is the effective date proposed by Tidewater).

In support of the proposed redetermined rate increases Tidewater cites the "favored nation" provisions of the pricing sections of its contracts and states that the aforementioned provisions of its contracts were arrived at by arms-length bargaining, and that they are just and reasonable and are an integral part of the consideration upon which the contracts are based.

The increased rates and charges so proposed have not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed changes, and that Supplement No. 9 to Tidewater's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 38, and Supplement No. 11 to Tidewater's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 43 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rates and charges contained in Supplement No. 9 to Tidewater's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 38, and Supplement No. 11 to Tidewater's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 43.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, said supplements be and they are each hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until February 25, 1959, and until such further time as they are made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplements hereby suspended, nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the periods of suspension have expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Interested state commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

R. W. FAIR ET AL.

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

R. W. Fair et al. (Fair) on August 25, 1958, tendered for filing a proposed change in his presently effective rate schedule[1] for the sale of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change, which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

Description: Notice of Change, dated August 21, 1958.

Purchaser: Mississippi River Fuel Corporation.

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 7 to Fair's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1.

Effective date: September 25, 1958 (effective date is the first day after expiration of the required thirty days' notice).

In support of the proposed two-step periodic rate increase, Fair merely cites the contract provision providing for the increased rate.

The increased rate and charge so proposed has not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed change, and that Supplement No. 7 to Fair's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rate and charge contained in Supplement No. 7 to Fair's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, said supplement be and it is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until February 25, 1959, and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplement hereby suspended nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

ORDER FOR HEARING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATES

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

[1] A previous increase was suspended in Docket No. G–10646 until December 9, 1956, but motion to place the suspended rate in effect subject to refund was never filed by Fair.

proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule for the sale of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change, which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

Description: Notice of Change, dated August 25, 1958.
Purchaser: Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company, Inc.
Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 3 to Phillips' FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 302.
Effective date: October 1, 1958 (effective date is the effective date proposed by Phillips).

In support of the proposed periodic rate increase, Phillips cites the contract provisions therefor and states that to disallow producers and sellers of gas rates which return costs plus a fair return on investment would amount to confiscation of property. Phillips also refers to evidence submitted in the proceedings in Docket No. G-1148, et al., purporting to show that a price of approximately 17.25 cents per Mcf is required to produce such return. Phillips states additionally that the contract was negotiated in good faith and the increased price is just and reasonable.

The increased rate and charge so proposed has not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed change, and that Supplement No. 3 to Phillips' FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 302 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rate and charge contained in Supplement No. 3 to Phillips' FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 302.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, said supplement be and it is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until March 1, 1959, and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplement hereby suspended nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

DAN J. HARRISON, JR., ET AL.

ORDER FOR HEARING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATE

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

Dan J. Harrison, Jr. (Operator) et al. (Harrison) on August 15, 1958, tendered for filing a proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule for the sale of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change, which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

Description: Notice of Change, dated August 12, 1958.
Purchaser: Texas Gas Corporation.
Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 6 to Harrison's FPC Gas [1] Rate Schedule No. 2.
Effective date: November 1, 1958 (effective date is that proposed by Harrison).

In support of the two-step increase, Harrison cites the contract provisions and states that the proposed increased rate represents the fair market value of the gas over the life of the contract which stems from arm's length bargaining.

The increased rate and charge so proposed has not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed change, and that Supplement No. 6 to Harrison's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rate and charge contained in Supplement No. 6 to Harrison's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, said supplement be and it is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until April 1, 1959, and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplement hereby suspended nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

H. L. HAWKINS ET AL.

ORDER FOR HEARING AND SUSPENDING PROPOSED CHANGE IN RATE

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

H. L. Hawkins et al. (Hawkins) on August 15, 1958, tendered for filing a proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule for the sale of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change, which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

Description: Notice of Change, dated August 13, 1958.
Purchaser: United Fuel Gas Company.
Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 2 to Hawkin's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 7.
Effective date: November 1, 1958 (effective date is that proposed by Hawkins).

In support of the proposed periodic rate increase, Hawkins' states that the contractually provided proposed increased price is less than that currently being offered by buyers. Hawkins' present rate was suspended at Docket No. G-15628 and is currently in effect subject to refund in so far as such rate related to the Louisiana Gas Gathering Tax.

The increased rate and charge so proposed has not been shown to be justified, and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the said proposed change, and that Supplement No. 2 to Hawkins' FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 7 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rate and charge contained in Supplement No. 2 to Hawkins' FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 7.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, said supplement be and it is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until April 1, 1959, and until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplement hereby suspended nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(Horizon) on August 15, 1958, tendered for filing a proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule for the sale of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. [Docket No. G-15528]

HOME GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

Take notice that Home Gas Company (Applicant), a New York corporation with a principal place of business in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, filed on July 22, 1958, an application pursuant to section 7 (b) of the Natural Gas Act for permission and approval to abandon parallel sections of two 6-inch transmission lines (A-3 and A-4), approximately 3.8 miles in length, extending from a point in the Town of Union north of Endicott to a point in the Town of Maine, north of Johnson City, known as "Westover Connection" with Columbia Gas of New York, Inc. (Columbia), subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully described in the application on file with the Commission, and open for public inspection.

The application recites that in 1953, the transmission lines now proposed for abandonment, were purchased by Applicant from an oil company and are presently used for delivery of gas into the system of Columbia, Applicant's affiliate and distributing utility in a number of towns in New York including Binghamton, Johnson City and Endicott. Applicant proposes to sell the subject transmission lines to Columbia. Columbia will use the lines, together with another line to be constructed by it, as distribution lines for transfer of propane-air gas from its Johnson City propane plant to the Village of Endicott and improve its service in this area.

Applicant states that no service will be abandoned as a result of this transaction because its other transmission lines in this area are capable of rendering adequate service to its customers.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on November 4, 1958, at 9:30 a. m., e. s. t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. [Docket No. G-16012]

MICHIGAN WISCONSIN PIPE LINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

Take notice that Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with principal place of business at 500 Griswold Street, Detroit, Michigan, filed in Docket No. G–16012 on August 18, 1958, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing Applicant to render service as hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the application which is on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

Applicant proposes to construct and operate approximately 13.2 miles of 8⅝-inch line in order to complete the looping of Applicant's existing 43.94-mile lateral which extends southward from Applicant's 24-inch main line to Keokuk, Iowa. The Keokuk lateral consists of three segments: (1) Two parallel 6⅝-inch lines extending about 12.94 miles from Applicant's main line to the point from which a 4½-inch branch line extends eastward to render supplemental service to Burlington, Iowa, (2) a single 6⅝-inch line extending about 13.18 miles from the Burlington-line intersection to the point from which 3½-inch and 6⅝-inch parallel lines extend eastward to serve Ft. Madison, Iowa, and (3) parallel 4½-inch and 6⅝-inch lines extending about 17.82 miles from the Ft. Madison junction directly to Keokuk. It is the middle section, described as No. 2 above, which Applicant now proposes to loop, thereby completing the looping of the facilities through which Applicant renders service to its three existing utility customers which in turn distribute gas in the communities of Burlington, Ft. Madison and Keokuk.

Applicant states that, without the installation of the proposed 13.2 miles of 8⅝-inch pipeline, Applicant's facilities will be inadequate to meet the maximum daily requirements of the three distributors during the coming heating season. Applicant estimates the 1958–59 peak-day requirements of the markets involved to be 30,300 Mcf and, according to Applicant's flow diagrams, the unlooped portion of the Keokuk lateral would be primarily responsible for a drop in pressure from 700 pounds per square inch gage on Applicant's main line to a zero delivery pressure at Keokuk and Burlington. Addition of the proposed loop would not only relieve the situation at Keokuk, which is directly affected, but would also afford relief to Burlington by enabling Applicant to utilize to a greater degree the 4½-inch branch line extending from the Keokuk lateral to Burlington.

No additional service is proposed beyond that authorized by the Commission and permitted under Applicant's effective FPC Gas Tariff. The markets in question are presently served under "requirements-type" service agreements between Applicant and the distributors, and the design loads used in the application are within presently existing tariff limitations.

Applicant estimates that the cost of constructing the proposed facilities will total $401,000, which will be financed from funds on hand.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held in October 23, 1958, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a noncontested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. PECKHAM PLAN FUND, INC. AND PECKHAM PLAN FUND MANAGEMENT CORP.

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

Notice is hereby given that Peckham Plan Fund, Inc. ("Fund"), a registered open-end management investment company, and Peckham Plan Fund Management Corporation ("Peckham"), the proposed investment adviser of the Fund, have filed an application pursuant to section 6 (c) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("act") for an order of the Commission exempting the Fund from the provisions of sections 16 (a) and 32 (a), and Peckham from the provisions of section 15 (a) of the act.

The application discloses that the Fund was organized on February 13, 1958, under the laws of the State of California. The Fund registered on April 3, 1958 under the Act and has filed a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933 covering 20,000 shares of its capital stock. Prior to beginning operation as an investment company, the Fund proposes to enter into an investment advisory contract with Peckham. The date of its first annual meeting of stockholders is fixed by its by-laws as September 19, 1958 at which time the Fund had no stockholders. It is proposed to take appropriate stockholder action within six months following the effective date of Fund's registration statement filed under the Securities Act of 1933 with respect to an investment advisory contract, the selection of the Fund's independent public accountants, and the election of directors.

The Fund requests an order of the Commission under section 6 (c) of the act exempting the Fund from the provisions of sections 16 (a) and 32 (a), and Peckham from the provisions of section 15 (a) of the act so that the Fund may operate for a limited period without stockholder election of directors, without stockholder approval of the selection of independent public accountants, and without stockholder approval of an investment advisory contract as required, respectively, by those sections of the act, until stockholder approval can be obtained following the public offering of its capital stock.

Section 6 (c) of the act provides, among other things, that the Commission, by order upon application, may conditionally or unconditionally exempt any person from any provision or provisions of the act or of any rule or regulation thereunder, if and to the extent that such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than October 3, 1958, at 5:30 p. m., submit to the Commission in writing any facts bearing upon the desirability of a hearing on the matter and may request that a hearing be held, such request stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application may be granted as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act.

III. The Commission being of the opinion that the public interest requires the summary suspension of trading in such security on the American Stock Exchange and that such action is necessary and appropriate for the protection of investors; and

The Commission being of the opinion that such suspension is necessary in order to prevent fraudulent, deceptive, or manipulative acts or practices, with the result that it will be unlawful under section 15 (c) (2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and the Commission's Rule X-15C2-2 thereunder for any broker or dealer to make use of the mails or of any means or instrumentality of interstate commerce to effect any transaction in, or to induce or attempt to induce the purchase or sale of, such security otherwise than on a national securities exchange;

AUTHORITY: §§ 929.0 to 929.111 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753 as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c.

§ 929.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Eastern South Dakota marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act.

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined in the order as hereby amended, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(5) It is hereby found that the necessary expense of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler, as his pro rata share of such expense, 5 cents per hundredweight or such amount not to exceed 5 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to butterfat and skim milk contained in (i) producer milk, (ii) other source milk at a pool plant which is allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 929.46, and (iii) Class I milk distributed in the marketing area (except to a pool plant) from a nonpool plant not subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the Act.

(b) Additional findings. (1) It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order effective not later than October 1, 1958.

(2) The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The recommended decision of the Acting Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service was issued July 25, 1958 and the decision of the Acting Secretary containing all amendment provisions of this order, was issued September 3, 1958. The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective October 1, 1958, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendment for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (See section 4 (c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c (9) of the act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order as hereby amended; and

(3) The issuance of the order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum and who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Eastern South Dakota marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

(f) The utilization of all skim milk and butterfat required to be reported pursuant to this section, including a separate statement of the disposition of Class I milk outside the marketing area.

§ 929.31 Other reports. (a) Each producer-handler shall make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may prescribe.

(b) Each handler, except a producer-handler, shall report to the market administrator in detail and on forms prescribed by the market administrator:

(1) On or before the 20th day after the end of the month for each of his pool plants his producer payroll for such month which shall show for each producer:

(i) His name and address,

(ii) The total pounds of milk received from such producer including for the months of March through June, the total pounds of base and excess milk,

(iii) The number of days, if less than the entire month, for which milk was received from such producer,

(iv) The average butterfat content of such milk, and

(v) The net amount of such handler's payment, together with the price paid and the amount and nature of any deductions;

(3) Prior to his diversion of producer milk to a nonpool plant, his intention to divert such milk, the proposed date or dates of such diversion and the plant to which such milk is to be diverted; and

(4) Such other information with respect to the utilization of butterfat and skim milk as the market administrator may prescribe.

§ 929.32 Records and facilities. Each handler shall maintain and make available to the market administrator or to his representative during the usual hours of business such accounts and records of his operations, together with such facilities as are necessary for the market administrator to verify or establish the correct data with respect to:

(a) The receipt and utilization of all skim milk and butterfat handled in any form during the month;

(b) The weights and butterfat and other content of all milk, skim milk, cream, and other milk products handled during the month;

(c) The pounds of skim milk and butterfat contained in or represented by all milk products on hand at the beginning and end of each month; and

§ 929.33 Retention of records. All books and records required under this order to be made available to the market administrator shall be retained by the handler for a period of 3 years to begin at the end of the month to which such books and records pertain: Provided, That if, within such 3-year period, the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that the retention of such books and records is necessary in connection with a proceeding under section 8c (15) (A) of the act or a court action specified in such notice, the handler shall retain such books and records, or specified books and records, until further written notification from the market administrator. In either case, the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 929.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. The skim milk and butterfat which are required to be reported pursuant to § 929.30 shall be classified each month by the market administrator, pursuant to the provisions of §§ 929.41 through 929.46.

§ 929.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in § 929.44 the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including concentrated and reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat (1) disposed of in the form of a fluid milk product and (2) not accounted for as Class II milk.

(b) Class II milk. Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) used to produce any product other than a fluid milk product; (2) contained in inventory of fluid milk products on hand at the end of the month; and (3) in shrinkage allocated to receipts of producer milk and other source milk (except milk diverted to a nonpool plant pursuant to § 929.14) but not in excess of 2 percent of such receipts of butterfat, 2 percent of such receipts of skim milk in the months of July through February and 5 percent of such receipts of skim milk in the months of March through June.

§ 929.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall allocate shrinkage over a handler's receipts as follows:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the resulting amounts between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat contained in producer milk and other source milk.

§ 929.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat can prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

§ 929.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of each month from a pool plant shall be classified:

(a) As Class I milk, if transferred in the form of a fluid milk product to another pool plant unless utilization as Class II milk is claimed for both plants on the reports submitted for the month to the market administrator pursuant to § 929.30: Provided, That the skim milk or butterfat so assigned to Class II milk shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in Class II milk in the plant of the transferee-handler after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to § 929.46 and any additional amounts of such skim milk or butterfat shall be classified as Class I milk: And provided further, That if other source milk was received at either or both plants the skim milk or butterfat so transferred shall be classified at both plants so as to allocate the greatest possible Class I utilization to the producer milk at both plants;

(b) As Class I milk, if transferred to a producer-handler in the form of a fluid milk product;

(c) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of a fluid milk product to a nonpool plant located more than 150 miles, by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator, from the nearest of the Post Offices of Aberdeen, Huron, and Watertown, South Dakota; and

(d) As Class I milk, if transferred or diverted in the form of a fluid milk product in bulk to a nonpool plant located more than 150 miles, by the shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator, from the nearest of the Post Offices of Aberdeen, Huron, and Watertown, unless:

(1) The transferring or diverting handler claims classification in Class II milk in his report submitted to the market administrator pursuant to § 929.30 for the month within which such transactions occurred;

(2) The operator of such nonpool plant maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat received at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification; and

(3) The skim milk and butterfat in the fluid milk products (except in ungraded cream disposed of for manufacturing uses) disposed of from such nonpool plant do not exceed the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in milk received during the month from dairy farmers who the market administrator determines constitute the regular sources of supply for such plant: Provided, That any skim milk or butterfat in fluid milk products (except in ungraded cream disposed of for manufacturing uses) disposed of from the nonpool plant which is in excess of receipts from such dairy farmers shall be assigned to the fluid milk products so transferred or diverted and classified as Class I milk: And provided further, That if the total skim milk and butterfat which were transferred or diverted during the month to such nonpool plant from all plants subject to the classification and pricing provisions of this order and other orders issued pursuant to the act is more than the skim milk and butterfat available for assignment to Class I milk pursuant to the preceding proviso hereof, the skim milk and butterfat assigned to Class I milk at a pool plant shall be not less than that obtained by prorating the assignable Class I milk at the transferee plant over the receipts at such plant from all plants subject to the classification and pricing provisions of this and other orders issued pursuant to the act.

§ 929.45 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the reports of receipts and utilization for each pool plant and shall compute the pounds of butterfat and skim milk in each class at each such plant: Provided, That if any of the water contained in the milk from which a product is made is removed before the product is utilized or disposed of by a handler, the pounds of skim milk disposed of in such product shall be considered to be an amount equivalent to the nonfat milk solids contained in such product plus all of the water reasonably associated with such solids in the form of whole milk.

§ 929.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After making the computations pursuant to § 929.45, the market administrator shall determine the classification of producer milk received at the pool plants of each handler each month as follows:

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk assigned to producer milk pursuant to § 929.41 (b) (3);

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class, in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk in other source milk received in the form of fluid milk products which were not subject to the Class I pricing provisions of an order issued pursuant to the act;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class, in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk in other source milk other than that received in the form of fluid milk products;

(4) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk an amount equal to such remainder, or the product obtained by multiplying the pounds of skim milk in producer milk by 0.95, whichever is less;

(5) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk in other source milk which were received in the form of fluid milk products which are subject to the Class I pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act;

(6) Add to the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (4) of this paragraph;

(7) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk in fluid milk products received from other pool plants according to the classification of such products as determined pursuant to § 929.44 (a);

(8) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class, in series beginning with Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk contained in inventory of fluid milk products on hand at the beginning of the month; and

(9) Add to the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and if the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk contained in producer milk, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II. Any amount of excess so subtracted shall be called "overage".

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure prescribed for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Determine the weighted average butterfat content of producer milk remaining in each class computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(a) Class I milk price. The Class I milk price shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month, plus $1.40.

(b) Class II milk price. The Class II milk price shall be the price obtained by adding the amounts computed pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, and subtracting 80 cents therefrom.

(1) Multiply the Chicago butter price by 4.24.

(2) Multiply by 8.2 the weighted average of carlot prices per pound for spray process nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published by the Department for the period from the 26th day of the preceding month through the 25th day of the current month.

§ 929.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers. For milk containing more or less than 3.5 percent butterfat, the class prices for the month calculated pursuant to § 929.51 shall be increased or decreased, respectively, for each one-tenth percent butterfat at the appropriate rate, rounded to the nearest one-tenth cent, determined as follows:

(b) Class II prices. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the current month by 0.110.

§ 929.53 Location differentials to handlers. For producer milk which is received at a pool plant located 100 miles or more from the Post Offices of Aberdeen, Huron, and Watertown, South Dakota, by the shortest hard surfaced highway distance as determined by the market administrator, and which is classified as Class I milk, the price specified in § 929.51 (a) shall be reduced by 15 cents for the first 110 miles or less and by 1.5 cents for each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof that such plant is from the nearest of the Post Offices of Aberdeen, Huron, and Watertown: Provided, That for the purpose of calculating the location differential adjustment applicable pursuant to this section, fluid milk products that are transferred in bulk form between pool plants shall be assigned to any remainder of Class II milk in the transferee plant after making the calculations prescribed in § 929.46 (a) (4) and the comparable steps in (b) for such plant, such assignment to transferor plants to be made in sequence according to the location differential applicable to each plant, beginning with the plant having the largest differential.

§ 929.54 Use of equivalent prices. If for any reason a price quotation required by this order for computing class prices or for other purposes is not available in the manner described, the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to the price which is required.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 929.60 Producer-handler. Sections 929.40 through 929.46, 929.50 through 929.52, 929.70 through 929.73 and 929.80 through 929.87 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 929.61 Plants subject to other Federal orders. The provisions of this part shall not apply to a distributing plant or a supply plant during any month in which such plant would be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act unless such plant is qualified as a pool plant pursuant to § 929.10 and a greater volume of fluid milk products is disposed of from such plant to retail or wholesale outlets and to pool plants in the Eastern South Dakota marketing area than in the marketing area regulated pursuant to such other order: Provided, That the operator of a distributing plant or a supply plant which is exempt from the provisions of this order pursuant to this section shall, with respect to the total receipts and utilization or disposition of skim milk and butterfat at the plant, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require (in lieu of the reports required pursuant to § 929.30) and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

§ 929.62 Handlers operating nonpool plants. Each handler in his capacity as the operator of a nonpool plant shall, on or before the 13th day after the end of each month, pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund an amount obtained by multiplying the total hundredweight of butterfat and skim milk disposed of as Class I milk from such plant to retail or wholesale outlets (including sales by vendors and plant stores) in the marketing area during the month by the rate determined pursuant to § 929.63.

§ 929.63 Rate of payment on unpriced milk. The rate of payment per hundredweight to be made by handlers on unpriced other source milk allocated to Class I shall be any plus amount obtained by subtracting from the Class I price adjusted by the Class I butterfat and location differentials applicable at a pool plant of the same location as the nonpool plant supplying such other source milk;

(a) During the months of March through June, the Class II price adjusted by the Class II butterfat differential; and

(b) During the months of July through February, the uniform price pursuant to § 929.72 adjusted by the Class I butterfat differential.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 929.70 Computation of value of milk for each handler. The value of producer milk received during each month by each handler shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Multiply the pounds of milk in each class by the applicable class price and add together the resulting amounts;

(b) Add the amounts computed by multiplying the pounds of overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 929.46 (a) (9) and the corresponding step of (b) by the applicable class prices;

(c) Add the amount obtained in multiplying the difference between the Class II price for the preceding month and the Class I price for the current month by the lesser of (1) the hundredweight of producer milk classified in Class II less shrinkage during the preceding month or (2) the hundredweight of milk subtracted from Class I pursuant to § 929.46 (a) (8) and the corresponding step of (b);

(d) Add an amount calculated by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat subtracted from Class I milk pursuant to § 929.46 (a) (2) and (3) and the corresponding step of (b) by the rate of payment on unpriced milk determined pursuant to § 929.63 at the nearest nonpool plant(s) from which an equivalent amount of other source skim milk or butterfat was received: Provided, That if the source of any Class I products at a pool plant are not clearly established or if such skim milk is in the form of nonfat dry milk solids, they shall be considered to have been received from a source at the location of the pool plant where they are classified.

§ 929.71 Computation of aggregate value used to determine uniform price. For each month the market administrator shall compute an aggregate value from which to determine the uniform price per hundredweight for producer milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content, f. o. b. plants located within 100 miles of the post offices of Aberdeen, Huron, and Watertown, South Dakota, as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 929.70 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed in § 929.30 for such month, except those in default of payments required pursuant to § 929.84 for the preceding month;

(b) Add or subtract for each one-tenth percent that the average butterfat content of producer milk represented by the values included under paragraph (a) of this section is less or more, respectively, than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying such differences by the butterfat differential to producers, and multiplying the result by the hundredweight of such producer milk;

(c) Add an amount equal to the sum of the location differential deductions to be made pursuant to § 929.82; and

(d) Add an amount equal to one-half of the unobligated cash balance in the producer-settlement fund.

§ 929.72 Computation of uniform price. For each of the months of July through February, the market administrator shall compute a uniform price for producer milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content f. o. b. pool plants located within 100 miles of the post offices of Aberdeen, Huron, and Watertown, South Dakota, as follows:

(a) Divide the aggregate value computed pursuant to § 929.71 by the total hundredweight of producer milk included in such computations; and

(b) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for producer milk.

§ 929.73 Computation of uniform price for base milk and excess milk. For each of the months of March through June, the market administrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and for excess milk, each of 3.5 percent butterfat content, f. o. b. pool plants located within 100 miles of the post offices of Aberdeen, Huron, and Watertown, South Dakota, as follows:

(a) From the reports submitted by handlers pursuant to § 929.30 determine the aggregate classification of producer milk included in the computation of value pursuant to § 929.71 and the total hundredweight of such milk that is base milk and that is excess milk;

(b) Determine the value of such excess milk on a 3.5 percent butterfat basis by multiplying the total hundredweight of such milk that is not greater than the total Class II milk pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section by the Class II milk price and by adding thereto the value obtained by multiplying the hundredweight of such excess milk that is greater than the quantity of such Class II milk by the Class I milk price;

(c) Divide the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (b) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk, and subtract not less than 4 nor more than 5 cents from the price thus computed. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for excess milk;

(d) Subtract the value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (b) of this section from the aggregate value of all milk obtained in § 929.71; and

(e) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (d) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk obtained in paragraph (a) of this section, and subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the price thus computed. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for base milk.

§ 929.74 Notification of handlers. On or before the 10th day of each month the market administrator shall notify each handler with respect to his pool plants:

(a) The amount and value of milk in each class computed pursuant to §§ 929.46 and 929.70 and the totals of such amounts and values;

(b) The uniform price computed pursuant to § 929.72 or § 929.73, whichever is applicable;

(c) The amount due such handler from the producer-settlement fund;

(d) The total amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 929.80 and 929.84; and

(e) The amount to be paid by such handler pursuant to § 929.87.

PAYMENT FOR MILK

§ 929.80 Time and method of payment for producer milk. (a) Each handler shall pay each producer for producer milk for which payment is not made to a cooperative association pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, as follows:

(1) On or before the last day of each month, for producer milk received during the first 15 days of the month, at not less than the Class II price for the preceding month; and

(2) On or before the 15th day after the end of each month, for milk received during such month, an amount computed at not less than the uniform prices per hundredweight pursuant to §§ 929.72 and 929.73 subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 929.81 plus or minus adjustments for errors made in previous payments to such producer; and less (i) payment made pursuant to paragraph (1) hereof, (ii) location differential deductions pursuant to § 929.82, and (iii) proper deductions authorized by such producer.

(b) Each handler shall make payment to a cooperative association for producer milk which it caused to be delivered to such handler, if such cooperative association is authorized to collect such payments for its members and exercises such authority, an amount equal to the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable for such producer milk, as follows:

(1) On or before the 26th day of each month for producer milk received during the first 15 days of the month; and

(2) On or before the 13th day after the end of each month for milk received during such month.

(c) In making the payments for producer milk pursuant to this section, each handler shall furnish each producer or cooperative association from whom he has received milk with a supporting statement in such form that it may be retained by the recipient, that shall show:

(1) The month and identity of the handler and of the producer;

(2) The daily and total pounds and the average butterfat content of milk received from each producer, including for the months of March through June, the pounds of base milk and excess milk;

(3) The minimum rate or rates at which payment to the producer is required pursuant to the order;

(4) The rate that is used in making the payment, if such rate is other than the applicable minimum rate;

(8) The amount or the rate per hundredweight and nature of each deduction claimed by the handler; and

(9) The net amount of payment to such producer or cooperative association.

§ 929.81 Butterfat differentials to producers. The uniform prices for producer milk shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of one percent that the butterfat content of such milk is above or below 3.5 perecnt, respectively, at the rate determined by multiplying the total pounds of butterfat in the producer milk allocated to Class I and Class II milk during the month pursuant to § 929.46 by the respective butterfat differential for each class, dividing the sum of such values by the total pounds of such butterfat, and rounding the resultant figure to the nearest one-tenth of a cent.

§ 929.82 Location differentials to producers. The uniform price pursuant to § 929.72 and the uniform price for base milk pursuant to § 929.73 for producer milk received at a pool plant located 100 miles or more from the Post Offices of Aberdeen, Huron and Watertown, South Dakota, by the shortest hard-surfaced highway distance as determined by the market administrator, shall be reduced by 15 cents for the first 110 miles or less and by 1.5 cents for each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof that such plant is from the nearest of the Post Offices of Aberdeen, Huron and Watertown, South Dakota.

§ 929.83 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made to such fund and out of which he shall make all payments from such fund pursuant to §§ 929.62, 929.84, 929.85, and 929.86: Provided, That the market administrator shall offset the payment due to a handler against payments due from such handler.

§ 929.84 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 12th day after the end of each month each handler shall pay to the market administrator the amount by which the obligation pursuant to § 929.80 of such handler to producers for milk received at a pool plant during the month is less than the value of such producer milk pursuant to § 929.70: Provided, That to this amount shall be added one-half of 1 percent of any amount due the market administrator pursuant to this section for each month or any portion thereof that such payment is overdue.

§ 929.85 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of each month the market administrator shall pay to each handler the amount by which the obligation pursuant to § 929.80, of such handler for producer milk received during the month exceeds the value of such producer milk pursuant to § 929.70: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this section the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available. A handler who has not received the balance of such payments from the market administrator shall not be considered in violation of § 929.80 if he reduces his payments to producers by not more than the amount of the reduction in payment from the producer-settlement fund.

§ 929.86 Adjustment of accounts. Whenever verification by the market administrator of reports of payments of any handler discloses errors made in payments to or from the producer-settlement fund, the market administrator shall promptly bill such handler for any unpaid amount and such handler shall, within 15 days of such billing make payments to the market administrator of the amount so billed. Whenever verification discloses that payment is due from the market administrator to any handler, the market administrator shall, within 15 days, make such payment to such handler. Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payment by a handler to any producer or to a cooperative association discloses payment of less than is required by § 929.80, the handler shall make up such payment to the producer or cooperative association not later than the time of making payment next following such disclosure.

§ 929.87 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of the administration of the order, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of each month 5 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe with respect to butterfat and skim milk contained in (a) producer milk, (b) other source milk at a pool plant which is allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 929.46, and (c) Class I milk disposed of in the marketing area (except to a pool plant) from a nonpool plant not subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act.

§ 929.88 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this part to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or wilful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this part shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler within the applicable period of time, files pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

DETERMINATION OF BASE

§ 929.90 Daily base. The daily base for each producer shall be determined by the market administrator and shall be the amount obtained by dividing the total pounds of producer milk received from such producer at all pool plants during the months of September through November immediately preceding by the number of days on which such milk is received from such producer: Provided, That for the purpose of calculating the daily base of a producer pursuant to this section, the number of days included in his producer milk deliveries shall be the number of days of production of producer milk and the deliveries of any dairy farmer during the preceding September through November to a nonpool plant that is a pool plant in any of the months of March through June shall be considered producer milk received at a pool plant: Provided further, That if no milk is received from a producer at a pool plant during the months of September through November or if milk is received on less than 60 days during such months, the daily base of such producer shall be calculated for each of the months of March through June by dividing the pounds of producer milk received from such producer during the month by the number of days in such month and mul-

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE, 1954

Chapter I—Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury

[T. D. 6318]

PART 1—INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1953

STATUTORY SUBSISTENCE ALLOWANCE OF POLICEMEN

In order to conform the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) to the decisions of U. S. v. W. J. and Cleopatra Shirah, (1958) 253 F. 2d 798, and J. W. and Leona Parrish v. U. S., (1958) 158 F. Supp. 238, and to section 3 of the Technical Amendments Act of 1958, such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 1.120 of the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR 1.120) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following historical note:

§ 1.120 Statutory provisions; statutory subsistence allowance received by police. • • •

[Section 120 repealed by sec. 3 of the Technical Amendments Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 1607)]

PAR. 2. Section 1.120–1 of the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR 1.120–1) is amended by revising paragraph (a) and by adding a new paragraph (d), as follows:

§ 1.120–1 Statutory subsistence allowance received by police. (a) Section 120 excludes from the gross income of an individual employed as a police official by a State, Territory, or possession of the United States, by any of their political subdivisions, or by the District of Columbia, any amount received as a statutory subsistence allowance to the extent that such allowance does not exceed $5 per day. For purposes of this section, the term "statutory subsistence allowance" means an amount which is designated as a subsistence allowance under the laws of a State, a Territory, or a possession of the United States, any political subdivision of any of the foregoing, or the District of Columbia and which is paid to an individual who is employed as a police official of such governmental unit. A subsistence allowance paid to a police official by any of the foregoing governmental units which is not so provided by statute may not be excluded from gross income under the provisions of section 120. The term "police official" includes an employee of any of the foregoing governmental units who has police duties, such as a sheriff, a detective, a policeman, or a State police trooper, however designated.

(d) In the case of taxable years ending after September 30, 1958, section 120 and this section do not apply to amounts received as a statutory subsistence allowance for any day after September 30, 1958.

Because this Treasury decision consists of only liberalizing amendments to existing regulations and an amendment necessitated by the repeal of section 120 by section 3 of the Technical Amendments Act of 1958, it is found that it is unnecessary to issue this Treasury decision with notice and public procedure thereon under section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, or subject to the effective date limitation of section 4 (c) of such act.

(68A Stat. 917; 26 U. S. C. 7805)

Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Approved:

NELSON P. ROSE,
Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

SUBPART A—GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 25.1 Purpose. The regulations in this part set forth the specifications and requirements for multiple-shot blasting units to procure their approval and certification as permissible for use in coal mines; procedures for applying for such certification; and fees.

§ 25.2 Definitions. As used in this part—

(a) "Permissible," as applied to a multiple-shot blasting unit, means that the unit conforms to the specifications and requirements of this part, and that a certificate of approval to that effect has been issued.

(b) "Certificate of approval" means a formal document issued by the Bureau stating that the unit has met the specifications and requirements in this part and authorizing the use and attachment of an official approval plate.

(c) "Blasting unit" means an apparatus for detonating high explosives by applying electric current to electric detonators.

(d) "Multiple-shot blasting unit" means a blasting unit capable of detonating short-delay electric detonators, as further defined in § 25.20 or § 25.25.

(e) "Short-delay electric detonator" means a delay-type detonator (blasting cap) the delay periods of which range in nominal value from 25 to 500 milliseconds, and which will initiate (detonate) multiple charges of high explosives in succession with one application of the firing current.

(f) "Bureau" means the United States Bureau of Mines.

(g) "Applicant" means an individual, partnership, company, corporation, association, or other organization that designs, manufactures, or assembles, and that seeks a certificate of approval or preliminary testing of, a multiple-shot blasting unit.

§ 25.3 Consultation. By appointment, applicants or their representatives may visit the Bureau's Central Experiment Station, 4800 Forbes Avenue, Pittsburgh 13, Pennsylvania, to discuss with qualified Bureau representatives proposed designs of equipment to be submitted in accordance with the requirements of the regulations of this part. No charge is made for such consultation.

§ 25.4 Fees for investigation. (a) The fee for a complete investigation of a multiple-shot blasting unit is $250.

(b) The full fee must accompany an application for retesting a unit which has been previously tested and disapproved; but if less work is involved than for a complete investigation, the charge will be in proportion to the work done, and any surplus will be refunded to the applicant.

(c) The fee for tests covering only part of a complete investigation, such as to assist an applicant in developing a unit, will be charged according to the work involved and will be in proportion to that charged for a complete investigation. A fee for such tests shall be determined in advance by the Bureau and the applicant notified accordingly in writing.

(d) Ordinarily a fee is not charged for an application covering an extension of approval that does not require test work. Each case, however, will be considered individually, and if a fee is required, the applicant will be notified accordingly, and the fee must be paid in advance before the investigation will be undertaken.

§ 25.5 Tests and investigations. Unless the application states otherwise, it will be presumed that a complete investigation for certification is desired. However, the application may be expressly limited to some element or phase less than a complete investigation; and in any case if the tests at any stage indicate that the unit does not conform to the specifications in this part, the Bureau may treat the application as one for a partial investigation up to that point. Complete investigation for certification will not be undertaken unless the unit has been fully developed, is ready to be marketed, and is submitted completely assembled including parts, connectors, and all related materials.

§ 25.6 Applications. (a) No investigation or testing will be undertaken by the Bureau except pursuant to a written application, in duplicate, accompanied by a check, bank draft, or money order, payable to the United States Bureau of Mines, to cover the fees, and all prescribed drawings, specifications, and related material. The application and all related matters and all correspondence concerning it shall be sent to the Central Experiment Station, Bureau of Mines, 4800 Forbes Avenue, Pittsburgh 13, Pennsylvania, Attention: Chief, Branch of Electrical-Mechanical Testing.

(b) The unit to be tested may be shipped (charges prepaid) at the same time the application is submitted, or at the option of the applicant shipment of the unit may be deferred until the Bureau has notified the applicant that the application will be accepted.

(c) Drawings and specifications shall be adequate in number and detail to identify fully the design of the unit and to disclose its materials, detailed dimensions of all parts, and wiring diagram. Drawings must be numbered and dated to insure accurate identification and reference to records, and must show the latest revision. Specifications must be given for materials, components, and subassemblies.

§ 25.7 Specifications; all types of units. (a) The Bureau will not test or investigate any unit that in its opinion is not constructed of suitable materials, that evidences faulty workmanship, or that is not designed upon sound engineering principles. In addition to any specifications or requirements imposed by the regulations in this part, the Bureau may impose such further specifications or requirements as in its opinion are necessary or proper to investigate or test the particular device submitted.

(b) Any unit that satisfies all of the requirements of this part may be certified as permissible.

(c) Adequacy of design and construction will be determined in connection with the following factors: Kind and durability of materials, test of active parts, resistance to moisture, drop test, insulation measurements, durability of construction, practicality in operation, suitability for underground service, and performance characteristics during the investigation.

(d) The unit must not ignite explosive gas-air mixtures or cause misfires or premature firing under any condition of use.

(e) The firing operation must be accomplished by a removable key or other acceptable means to prevent accidental or premature firing.

(f) A suitable means, incorporated as an integral part of the blasting unit, shall be provided to indicate, before each round of shots is fired, the ability of the unit to meet the average current and energy requirements, as stated in paragraphs (h) and (i) of this section.

(g) The voltage must be cut off or be reduced within 15 milliseconds (0.015 second) after the firing contact is made to such a value that no incendive spark (an electric spark of sufficient intensity to ignite flammable methane-air mixtures) can result from accidental post-firing contact of wires in the firing circuit.

(h) The average current produced by the unit shall be not less than 1.5 amperes, based on a 5-millisecond application to the bridgewire of the short-delay electric detonator.

(i) The energy applied to the firing circuit of the blasting unit shall be as stated in § 25.21 (a) or § 25.26 (a).

(j) The difference of potential at the terminals of the blasting unit shall be as stated in § 25.21 (b) or § 25.26 (b).

(k) Terminals of the unit for connecting the firing (blasting) cable shall be well insulated, without exposed parts that can become "alive" when energized.

(l) The housing for the unit shall be sealed to prevent tampering with the contents, and mechanically strong for mine service.

§ 25.8 Specifications; particular types of units. (a) Generator type: The energy output shall not depend upon the physical effort of an operator of the blasting unit.

(b) Generator or battery, condenser-discharge type:

(1) Condensers must be capable of withstanding 25,000 charge and discharge cycles at the normal rate specified by the applicant.

(2) An automatic means shall be provided to insure that no residual electrical charge will remain in the condenser(s) when the blasting unit is not in use.

(3) Firing shall not occur automatically upon operation of the device provided for charging the condenser(s) but must be accomplished by a separate manual operation.

(4) If battery-powered, the unit shall be so designed and constructed that the battery can be replaced without disturbing or damaging other electrical components.

§ 25.9 Conduct of investigations and demonstrations. (a) Prior to the issuance of a certificate of approval, only Bureau personnel, representatives of the applicant, and such other persons as may be mutually agreed upon, may observe the investigations or tests. After the issuance of a certificate of approval, the Bureau may conduct such public demonstrations and tests of the approved unit as it sees fit. The conduct of all investigations, tests, and demonstrations shall be under the sole direction and control of the Bureau, and any other persons shall be present only as observers. The Bureau shall hold as confidential and shall not disclose the results of chemical analyses of material or the contents of the application and its accompanying drawings, specifications, and related material.

§ 25.10 Certificate of approval. (a) Upon the completion of the investigation the Bureau shall issue to the applicant either a certificate of approval or a written notice of disapproval. If a certificate of approval is issued, no test data or detailed results of the test will accompany it. If the unit is disapproved, the notice of disapproval will be accompanied by details of the defects, with a view to possible correction. The Bureau will hold as confidential the results of tests of units that are disapproved.

(b) Only formal written certificates of approval or notices of disapproval will be given.

(c) A certificate of approval will be accompanied by a list of the drawings and specifications covering the details of design and construction upon which the approval is based, and with the official approval number marked thereon. Applicants shall keep exact duplicates of the drawings and specifications that have been submitted to the Bureau and that relate to any unit which has received a certificate of approval, and these are to be adhered to exactly in production of the approved unit for commercial purposes.

§ 25.11 Approval plate. (a) A certificate of approval will be accompanied by a photograph of a design for an approval plate, bearing the seal of the Bureau, space for the approval number, the type, the serial number, the class of unit to which the approval relates, and the name of the applicant. When necessary, an appropriate statement of the precautions to be observed in maintaining the unit in an approved condition shall be added.

(b) The applicant shall reproduce the design either as a separate plate or by stamping or molding it in some suitable place on each unit to which it relates. The size, type, method of attaching and location of approval plates are subject to the approval of the Bureau. The method of affixing the plate shall not impair the explosion-proof features of any enclosure.

(c) The approval plate identifies the unit to which it is attached as permissible, and is the applicant's guarantee that the unit complies with the specifications and requirements in this part. Without an approval plate, no unit has the status of "permissible" under the provisions of this part.

(d) Use of the approval plate obligates the applicant to maintain the quality of each unit bearing it and guarantees that it is manufactured and assembled according to the drawings and specifications upon which a certificate of approval is based. Use of the approval plate is not authorized except on units that conform strictly with the drawings and specifications upon which the certificate of approval is based.

§ 25.12 Changes after approval. If an applicant desires to change any feature of an approved unit and still have it covered by an existing certificate of approval, he shall first obtain the Bureau's approval of the change, pursuant to the following procedures:

(a) Application shall be made, as for an original certification, requesting that the existing certificate of approval be extended to cover the proposed change. The application shall be accompanied by drawings and specifications and related material as in the case of an original application.

(b) The application will be examined by the Bureau to determine whether inspection and testing of the modified unit or any part thereof will be required. Generally, inspection and testing will be necessary if there is a possibility that the modification may affect adversely the performance of the unit. The Bureau will inform the applicant whether such inspection and testing is required, the parts or materials to be submitted for that purpose, and the fee required.

(c) If the proposed modification meets the requirements and specifications of this part, a formal "extension of approval" will be issued accompanied by a list of new and corrected drawings and specifications to be added to those already on file as the basis for the certificate of approval.

§ 25.13 Withdrawal of approval. The Bureau reserves the right to rescind, for cause, at any time, any approval granted under this part.

SUBPART B—BLASTING UNITS CAPABLE OF DETONATING 10 SHORT-DELAY ELECTRIC DETONATORS

§ 25.20 Definition. As used in this subpart: "Multiple-shot blasting unit" means that the unit is capable of consistently detonating not to exceed ten (10) short-delay electric detonators with a single application of electrical energy to the firing circuit, with the detonators connected in series, and with a total firing-circuit resistance of not less than 125 ohms.

§ 25.21 Specifications. (a) The electrical energy applied to the firing circuit by the multiple-shot blasting unit shall be not less than 1.4 watt-seconds under any condition of use.

(b) The difference of potential at the terminals of the multiple-shot blasting unit shall not exceed 375 volts.

SUBPART C—BLASTING UNITS CAPABLE OF DETONATING 20 SHORT-DELAY ELECTRIC DETONATORS

§ 25.25 Definition. As used in this subpart—(a) "Multiple-shot blasting unit" means that the unit is capable of consistently detonating not to exceed twenty (20) short-delay electric detonators with a single application of electrical energy to the firing circuit, with the detonators connected in series, and with a total firing-circuit resistance of not less than 150 ohms.

§ 25.26 Specifications. (a) The electrical energy applied to the firing circuit by the multiple-shot blasting unit shall be not less than 1.7 watt-seconds under any condition of use.

(b) The difference of potential at the terminals of the multiple-shot blasting unit shall not exceed 400 volts.

Chapter I—Office of the Secretary of Defense

Subchapter C—Military Personnel

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The following miscellaneous amendments to this Part 56 have been authorized by the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare:

1. Section 56.1–3 (j) (3) has been amended by deleting the second sentence; § 56.1–3 (j) (3), as amended, now reads:

(3) Maternity and infant care. Medical and surgical care for the mother incident to pregnancy including prenatal care, delivery, post-natal care, including care of the infant, and treatment of complications of pregnancy.

2. In § 56.1–3 (j), subparagraph (5) has been deleted in its entirety; subparagraphs (6) to (10) of § 56.1–3 (j) have been renumbered (5) to (9).

3. Section 56.2–2 (b) (5) has been amended by adding two sentences; § 56.2–2 (b) (5), as amended, now reads:

(5) Entitlement to care in civilian facilities. All DD Forms 1173 will contain an appropriate notation as to those dependents who have entitlement to medical care at both medical facilities of the uniformed services and civilian medical facilities. Thus, each card covering a dependent eligible for civilian medical care (see § 56.1–3 (e)) will have a notation thereon showing that care in civilian facilities is authorized even though the situations in which such care may be obtained at Government expense are limited. For example, such a dependent residing with the sponsor, or living in an area to which the sponsor is assigned, and whose freedom of choice has been restricted pursuant to § 56.3–2 shall not be entitled generally to receive medical care in civilian facilities at Government expense, but shall be so entitled only in the case of an emergency and under other circumstances outlined in this part or in the joint regulations.

4. Section 56.3–2 (a) has been amended by adding a phrase; § 56.3–2 (a), as amended, now reads:

§ 56.3–2 Between civilian medical facilities and uniformed services facilities within continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. (a) Dependents eligible for civilian medical care who are not residing with their sponsors, or in an area to which their sponsor is assigned, shall have free choice between uniformed services medical facilities and civilian medical facilities.

5. Section 56.3–2 (b) has been amended by changing the references at the end; § 56.3–2 (b), as amended, now reads:

(b) Outpatient medical care at Government expense for dependents eligible for civilian medical care is not authorized from civilian sources, except that certain specified treatment for such dependents who are not hospitalized, will be authorized when in accordance with § 56.5–2 (f), or § 56.5–3 (d) (1) or (2).

6. Section 56.3–2 (c) has been amended by adding a phrase; § 56.3–2 (c), as amended, now reads:

(c) Dependents eligible for civilian medical care who reside with their sponsors, or in an area to which their sponsor is assigned, shall have free choice between uniformed services medical facilities and civilian medical facilities except that the Secretary of a uniformed service with the approval of the Secretary of Defense or the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, as appropriate, may require such dependents in a prescribed area to seek medical care in a uniformed services medical facility if he finds that:

7. New § 56.3–2 (e) has been added to read as follows:

(e) In lieu of the restrictions described in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section, the Secretary of Defense may specify a date as of which the restrictions described below will be effective. On and after the specified date, a restriction on freedom of choice shall be effective as to dependents in continental United States, Puerto Rico, Hawaii, and Alaska, who are eligible for civilian medical care, who reside with their sponsors, or in an area to which their sponsor is assigned, who require care authorized under this part from civilian sources but have not commenced receiving such care from civilian sources on the aforesaid specified date (or, in the case of a maternity patient, whose care by her civilian physician on that date has not reached the second trimester), and who reside in an area where adequate medical facilities of a uniformed service are available for such dependents. No restriction on freedom of choice will be imposed on such dependents residing in areas where adequate medical facilities of a uniformed service are not available. However, in order that the restriction may be appropriately administered, each dependent who resides with the sponsor, or in an area to which the sponsor is assigned, and who requires care authorized under this part from civilian sources but has not commenced receiving such care from civilian sources on the specified date (or, in the case of a maternity patient, whose care by her civilian physician on that date has not reached the second trimester), will be required to contact a uniformed services installation. For those residing in areas where an adequate medical facility of a uniformed service is not available, a certificate authorizing care from civilian sources at Government expense will be issued. Such a certificate may also be issued to a dependent residing with the sponsor, or residing in an area to which the sponsor is assigned, where adequate medical facilities of a uniformed service are normally available if it is found that the uniformed services medical facility involved temporarily lacks capacity to care for that dependent. The certificate, issued in the manner described above, shall be evidence of entitlement of the dependent to care authorized under this part from civilian sources at Government expense. In determining whether a dependent covered under this paragraph is residing in an area where adequate medical facilities of a uniformed service are available, the criteria outlined in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section shall apply. Detailed procedures concerning the format of the certificate and the manner in which it is to be issued may be set forth in the joint regulations. Spouses and children are considered to be residing with their sponsor if they reside in the area to which the sponsor is assigned, in the area of his permanent duty station, or the home port or home yard of a ship, even though the sponsor may be temporarily away, by reason of temporary duty with his unit or ship, from the area to which he is assigned, the permanent duty station or his home port or home yard respectively, or by reason of the sponsor's absence on individual temporary duty or temporary additional duty order.

8. Section 56.3–3 has been revised to read as follows:

§ 56.3–3 Exceptions; emergency care and other circumstances. (a) Any restrictions on freedom of choice and the requirement for the certificate described in § 56.3–2 (e) shall be waived:

(1) When circumstances indicate that it was necessary for the eligible dependent to obtain authorized medical care from civilian facilities due to a bona fide emergency, e. g., serious injury following an accident or illness or sudden onset requiring immediate treatment authorized to be obtained from civilian sources at the nearest available medical facility to preserve life, health, or to prevent undue suffering; or

(2) During the period of absence on a trip of the eligible dependent from the area to which the sponsor is assigned. This exception is not to be used to circumvent the restrictions imposed on freedom of choice.

(b) Additionally, the restrictions initially imposed by the Secretary of Defense on a specified date pursuant to § 56.3–2 (e) and the requirement for a certificate described therein shall be waived with regard to any eligible dependent who has commenced receiving care authorized under this part from civilian sources prior to that specified date (except that, for maternity patients, care in the second trimester by her civilian physician on that date must have commenced prior thereto). The dependent involved will be entitled to complete any care which was authorized under this part prior to the date specified by the Secretary of Defense and which has been commenced in accordance with the preceding sentence.

9. Section 56.4–4 (a) (3) has been revised to read as follows:

(3) Medical or surgical care that is desired or requested by the patient which, in the opinion of cognizant medical authority is not medically indicated; e. g., surgery solely for cosmetic purposes.

10. Section 56.5–2 (b) has been amended by inserting the word "acute" after the second word; § 56.5–2 (b), as amended, now reads:

(b) Treatment of acute surgical conditions only during hospitalization except as otherwise provided in this part.

11. Section 56.5–2 (g) has been revised to read as follows:

(g) The commanding officer of a uniformed services hospital or the Surgeon General of a uniformed service having jurisdiction over a hospital may authorize transfer of any patient, hospitalized in a civilian hospital under paragraphs (a) to (f) of this section, to that uniformed services medical facility on the basis of space, facility, and personnel availability. (See § 56.4–2 and § 56.4–3) In such case transfer to a uniformed service hospital at Government expense is authorized.

12. Section 56.5–3 (d) (1) (v) has been deleted in its entirety.

13. Section 56.5–3 (d) (2) (iii) has been amended by revising the last sentence; § 56.5–3 (d) (2) (iii), as amended, now reads:

(iii) Necessary or required infant care shall be provided during the period of hospitalization following delivery. If the infant requires further hospitalization following delivery, such care is authorized as a continuation of the original admission. Also, in the case of a home or office delivery, necessary or required infant care may be provided on an outpatient basis for a period not to exceed 10 days following the date of delivery.

14. Section 56.5–3 (d) (3) has been deleted in its entirety.

15. Section 56.5–4 (b) has been amended to read as follows:

(b) Nervous and mental disorders (see § 56.1–3 (j) (6)), including acute emotional disorders, except that care of this type may be furnished to a dependent requiring same during the period of hospitalization of that dependent for a condition that does qualify as authorized care under § 56.5–2.

16. Section 56.5–4 (c) has been revised to read as follows:

(c) Medical or surgical care that is desired or requested by the patient which in the opinion of the cognizant medical authority can be planned, subsequently scheduled, and effectively treated at a later date without detriment to the patient; e. g., diagnostic surveys, cosmetic surgery, reconstructive surgery, tonsillectomies, uncomplicated hernias, and interval appendectomies.

17. New § 56.5–5 (c) has been inserted to read as follows:

(c) On and after the effective date specified by the Secretary of Defense pursuant to § 56.3–2 (e), an eligible dependent who is residing with the sponsor, or in the area to which the sponsor is assigned, and who has not commenced receiving care from civilian sources prior to that date (or, in the case of a maternity patient, whose care from her civilian physician on that date has not reached the second trimester), in addition to complying with paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, will be required to present a Certificate of Authorization to the attending physician and the hospital, when both are involved, and to the appropriate party when only one is involved, for attachment to the claim form. Sources of civilian care other than the hospital or the attending physician may, in lieu of attaching a Certificate of Authorization to the claim form, accept a statement from the person signing the certification in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section that a Certificate of Authorization has been furnished to the attending physician (identifying him by name) or to the hospital (identifying it by name). The certificate shall be obtained from uniformed services installations and shall cover only care authorized to be obtained from civilian sources under this part. A statement by the person signing the certification in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section that the patient is not residing with the sponsor, or in the area to which the sponsor is assigned, may be accepted by the source of care unless that source has actual knowledge to the contrary. The requirement for the certificate shall be waived in the case of an emergency, and in other circumstances outlined in § 56.3–3. A statement from the attending physician on the claim form that the case is an emergency (see § 56.3–3 (a) (1)) will be sufficient to justify an exception. Also, a statement by the person signing the certification in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section that the patient is away on a trip from the area to which the sponsor is assigned will be sufficient to justify an exception, unless the source of care has actual knowledge to the contrary. Where representations are made by the source of civilian medical care that it was not aware of the requirements contained in this paragraph and that it furnished care authorized under this part to a person claiming to be a spouse or child eligible for civilian medical care, and possessing a valid DD Form 1173, then the matter will be brought to the attention of the uniformed service concerned for determination whether a Certificate of Authorization can be issued. If it is determined by the uniform service concerned that the Certificate cannot be furnished, then the matter will be brought to the attention of the member concerned as an unpaid debt. In special circumstances, and where the source of civilian care shows that collection has not been possible, then the Executive Agent or his designee may authorize payment to be made to that source, provided the claim covers care authorized under this part and was otherwise executed in accordance with all requirements except those set forth above concerning the Certificate of Authorization.

18. Present § 56.5–5 (c) and (d) have been redesignated § 56.5–5 (d) and (e); § 56.5–5 (d) has been revised to read as follows:

(d) In cases of spouses and children receiving treatment in a civilian medical facility at Government expense at the time entitlement to receive medical care from civilian sources ceases (by reason of release from active duty, or otherwise), the Government's responsibility ceases, insofar as the source of civilian care is concerned, as of the date of receipt of knowledge by the source of care that the dependent's entitlement to medical care from civilian sources has terminated or the normal expiration date on the DD Form 1173, whichever is earlier. In any case, the Government's responsibility ceases, insofar as the dependent or member is concerned, as of the date the dependent ceases to be entitled to receive care (by reason of release of the member from active duty, or otherwise) from civilian sources at Government expense. (See § 56.2–2 (b) (5).) Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Government will be responsible for paying for care rendered to patients covered by paragraph (c) of this section, only if the conditions set forth in that paragraph are met.

19. Section 56.5–6 (f) has been deleted in its entirety; paragraphs (g), (h), and (i) of § 56.5–6 have been renumbered (f), (g), and (h).

20. Section 56.5–9 has been amended by adding a sentence; § 56.5–9, as amended, now reads:

§ 56.5–9 Government liability for payment of civilian medical care costs. As prescribed in § 56.2, the uniformed services shall provide dependents with means of identification. When spouses and children of members of the uniformed services are provided civilian medical care, it is expected that the attending physician and medical facility will use reasonable care and precaution in identifying them. When medical care has been provided in good faith by the attending physician and medical facility and it is subsequently determined that the persons concerned were not in fact entitled to medical care at Government expense under Public Law 569, collection and other legal action shall be taken only against the sponsor or individual who was not entitled to the medical care. Where fraud is involved, the matter may be referred to the Attorney General of the United States with recommendation for prosecution. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Government will be responsible for paying for care rendered to patients covered by § 56.5–5 (c), only if the conditions set forth in that paragraph are met.

PART 719—NAVAL COURTS AND CERTAIN FACT-FINDING BODIES

SPECTATORS

Scope and purpose. The following amendment revises § 719.1 to conform with the recently amended text of the corresponding provision of the 1955 Naval Supplement to the Manual for Courts-Martial.

1. Section 719.1 is revised to read as follows:

§ 719.1 Spectators. The sessions of courts-martial shall be public and, in general, all persons, except those who may be required to give evidence, shall be admitted as spectators. Whenever necessary to prevent dissemination of classified information to other than authorized persons, the convening authority, the law officer, or the president of a special court-martial shall direct that the public be excluded from a trial or portion thereof. Anyone whose conduct interferes in any way with the administration of justice may be removed. Where a child is a witness and cannot testify coherently before an audience, it is permissible for the court temporarily to exclude the public in order that competent testimony may be obtained. Pursuant to the request of the accused, the law officer or the president of a special court-martial, when the testimony or anticipated testimony is of a nature to warrant such action, may direct spectators to withdraw during the presentation of that evidence. It is appropriate at any time for the law officer or the president of a special court-martial to warn certain classes of spectators, such as women, children and others, when the nature of the anticipated testimony may be offensive to them. The accused, by motion requesting a closed hearing, may waive his right to a public trial.

PART 156—UNIFORM SYSTEM OF RECORDS AND REPORTS OF PROPERTY CHANGES; PIPE-LINE CARRIERS

CHANGE IN FILING DATE

SEPTEMBER 23, 1958.

An order entered May 23, 1958, revised the regulations governing the reporting of property changes of pipe line carriers for valuation purposes. Section 156.8 of the revised regulations require the reporting forms to be prepared as of December 31 of each year, and to be filed not later than the next succeeding September 30. Representations have been made on behalf of the pipe line carriers that, in the year of change-over to the new reporting forms, it has been impossible to restate the data for the year 1957 so as to file the reports on or before the prescribed filing date.

Notice is hereby given that reports of property changes made during the year 1957 by pipe line carriers will be accepted as timely filed if the reports are received on or before December 31, 1958. This is not a precedent for future years, and the prescribed filing date of September 30 remains in full force and effect.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 927]

MILK IN NEW YORK-NEW JERSEY MARKETING AREA

COOPERATIVE PAYMENTS RULES AND REGULATIONS; NOTICE OF REOPENED MEETING

Pursuant to provisions of § 927.81 of the order, as amended (7 CFR Part 927; 22 F. R. 4643), regulating the handling of milk in the New York-New Jersey marketing area, and of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.), notice is hereby given of reopening on October 2, 1958, at 10 a. m., e. d. s. t., at the office of the Market Administrator, 205 East 42d Street, New York, New York, of the meeting previously held June 12, 1958, for consideration of amendments to the regulations issued pursuant to said § 927.81 of the order. Interested persons will be afforded an opportunity at the meeting to be heard through the submission of data, views, or arguments orally or in writing. All material presented in writing should be in quintuplicate. Copies of the said proposed rules and regulations, as hereinafter set forth may be procured from the Market Administrator, 205 East 42 Street, New York 17, New York.

The proposed amendments to the regulations to be considered at said meeting include all of those included in the previous notice of meeting (23 F. R. 3969). It will especially consider the following proposed by the Market Administrator on the basis of the previous meeting:

1. Amend § 927.402 by adding a new paragraph (f) as follows:

(f) Amount per hundredweight received from any member who is not a producer as defined in § 927.6.

2. Amend § 927.403 by changing the period to a comma at the end of paragraph (i) thereof and adding the following words: ", together with the method of reimbursement for services, if any, to such organization."

3. Amend § 927.405 by adding a new paragraph (f) as follows:

(f) Performing services for dairy farmer members who are not producers as defined in § 927.6 of the orders or affiliated organizations, if any, and the nature and expense of such services.

4. Add new § 927.413 (d) as follows:

(d) A producer who applies for membership in a qualified cooperative or federated cooperative within one month of the effective date of his purported withdrawal from another qualified cooperative or federated cooperative shall be considered to be claimed as a member by both cooperatives until the beginning of the fourth month following the effective date of said withdrawal unless with the effective date of his new membership there is (1) a change in the plant to which his milk is delivered, (2) a shift from can delivery to bulk tank delivery, or (3) a release in writing by his old cooperative filed with the market administrator. In case a cooperative so releases a member, such cooperative shall not again claim such producer as a member prior to the end of twelve months from the date of such release. This provision, however, shall not limit a producer's right to change his affiliation from one cooperative to another or to authorize the payment of cooperative dues through a deduction from his milk check.

5. Add to § 927.420 (a) the following sentences: "The annual report shall describe any changes which have occured with respect to the information required pursuant to §§ 927.401 through 927.406 since the previous annual report or application, whichever is later. It shall also outline the program being carried on by the field staff."

6. Amend § 927.420 by adding a new paragraph (d) as follows:

(d) A qualified cooperative or federated cooperative shall file evidence of any change in its operations as originally reported under §§ 927.402 (f), 927.403 (i), and 927.405 (f) not later than the end the month following the month in which such change is made.

7. Add a new § 927.428 as follows:

§ 927.428 Activities of a federation not market-wide in character. Each federated cooperative shall pay to its federation the sum of one quarter of one cent per hundredweight of milk received by it from members unless the federation establishes to the satisfaction of the market administrator that such federation is engaged in no activities that are not market-wide in character.

8. Add a new § 927.429 as follows:

§ 927.429 Receipts of money from members. Any cooperative or federated cooperative which makes patronage payments to its members which result in a net receipt from members of less than one cent per hundredweight shall be subject to disqualification for failure to meet the requirements of § 927.81 (b) (1) (i) or (b) (2) (iii). A cooperative, however, may allocate reserves to its members: Provided, That no payments of such allocations may be made prior to a lapse of ten years from the period for which they are applicable.

9. Change all section references from "§ 927.76" to "§ 927.81."

[Docket No. AO-227-A9]

HANDLING OF MILK IN THE NEOSHO VALLEY MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Pittsburg, Kansas, on August 26, 1958, pursuant to notice thereof issued on August 19, 1958 (23 F. R. 6509).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, on September 8, 1958 (23 F. R. 7085) filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision containing notice of the opportunity to file written exceptions thereto.

Preliminary statement. The hearing on the record of which the proposed amendments, as hereinafter set forth, to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, were formulated, was conducted at Pittsburg, Kansas, on August 26, 1958, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued August 19, 1958 (23 F. R. 6509).

The material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

1. The definition of an approved plant.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

Approved plant. The definition of an approved plant should be changed so as to provide for a supply plant as well as for a distributing plant.

The essential function of a supply plant is to assemble milk into tank truck lots for economical shipment to distributing plants. This is particularly an important function with respect to milk gathered in 10 gallon cans but also applies to milk picked up from the farms by bulk tank trucks to the extent that their loads are consolidated into larger tankers. In addition, supply plants may be equipped to manufacture the reserve milk, thereby saving the cost of transporting the whole milk to city plants.

The present order provides only for the definition of an approved distributing plant, since this is the only type of plant heretofore associated with the market. An approved distributing plant is one from which 10 percent or more of its total receipts of Grade A milk are disposed of on routes in the marketing area.

One of the cooperative associations in the market has bought a distributing plant in Pittsburg, Kansas. This association also presently operates a distributing plant in Erie, Kansas. Their plans are to concentrate their entire bottling operation into one of these plants and the other will become a supply plant for the distributing plant and also supply Grade A milk to other handlers in the market on a supplemental basis. Some provision should be made for the economies of operation in these plants and for all the dairy farmers which are associated with these plants so that they may retain their pooled status under the order. The cooperative association also plans to establish a receiving station at Fort Scott, Kansas, where milk in 10-gallon cans will be assembled, cooled and shipped to distributing plants. This plant will serve the market in the same manner as the association's other supply plant. Therefore, the order should be amended to provide objective standards by which these supply plants, as well as other plants which may function in the same manner, can demonstrate their association with the Neosho Valley market. The standard by which a supply plant would qualify for approved plant status is the percentage of its Grade A receipts from dairy farmers which is disposed of to distributing plants which are approved plants.

The performance standards for supply plants to qualify for approved plant status should reflect the fact that currently the quantity of milk produced for the market is adequate on an annual basis for the needs of the market. At times, especially during the months of seasonally high production, distributors in the market may not need all of the milk available from producers in order to keep their Class I outlets fully supplied. In order to assure that all the producers' milk which is pooled with the market will be available for Class I, supply plant standards should be set at levels which require that such milk will be available.

In order to qualify for approved plant status at least 50 percent of the receipts of Grade A milk from dairy farmers at a supply plant should be disposed of to distributing plants which are approved plants in any month in the form of fluid milk products. However, in calculating the percentage, receipts of diverted milk or bulk transfers from other approved plants should not be included. A supply plant from which a proportionately lesser quantity of milk is disposed of in this manner should not, under the present conditions in the market, be considered as primarily associated with the regulated market.

It is recognized that if there is any demand for milk from supply plants it will be greatest during the season of low production. For sustained periods during the months of flush production, supplies of milk received at distributing plants may be sufficient to supply the Class I outlets. During this part of the year, it would be more economical to leave the milk at the supply plants for manufacture. The performance provisions should not force milk to be transported to distributing plants in the months of seasonally high production in order to maintain the eligibility of supply plants to pool.

To avoid this, provision should be made whereby a supply plant may maintain approved plant status throughout the year if it supplies a substantial portion of its producer milk to distributing plants during the months when milk production tends to be lowest. The proposed standards require that a supply plant provide distributing plants which are approved plants with milk to the extent of 50 percent of its producer milk receipts during each of the months of August through November to maintain automatic approved plant status for the succeeding months of December through July.

The cooperative association pointed to the obvious economies which could be achieved if all the milk from one of their two supply plants could be shipped to market to meet bottling needs while the reserve milk was concentrated at the other supply plant for processing into manufactured dairy products. This objective can be accomplished by allowing any group of supply plants to be pooled on the basis of total shipments of the group or system of plants.

This principle of combining plants for maintaining pool qualification should be extended to cover all plants for which a handler is responsible for the marketing of milk. The order should provide that the handler submit to the market administrator a certification containing the list of plants to be included in the system and the period that they should be so considered. The initial listing should be furnished with the handler's regular monthly report, due by the 7th day following the first month in which the system is applicable. Any additions or deletions from the listing should likewise be made by the 7th day following the month to which they apply. Each system is responsible for meeting the overall qualifications. If the system as a whole cannot remain qualified the market administrator must be notified if it is desired that one or more of the component plants be deleted from the system.

The order should be amended to recognize that milk incurs relatively little shrinkage in its receipt and much more in the processing, bottling and distribution operations. The supply plants in this market would incur relatively a small amount of shrinkage on milk which is transferred to a distributing plant. Therefore, up to one-half of one percent shrinkage should be allowed on that milk which is received at the supply plants and transferred to an approved plant for bottling and distribution. The distributing plant will be allowed up to one and one-half percent shrinkage on that milk received in bulk from a supply plant.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs and proposed findings and conclusions were filed on behalf of certain interested parties in the market. These briefs, proposed findings and conclusions and the evidence in the record were considered in making the findings and conclusions set forth above. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions filed by interested parties are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions set forth herein, the requests to make such findings or reach such conclusions are denied for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

General findings. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on exceptions. In arriving at the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision, each of the exceptions received was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision are at variance with any of the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Neosho Valley Marketing Area", and "Order Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Neosho Valley Marketing Area", which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

Determination of representative period. The month of August 1958 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the attached order amending the order regulating the handling of milk in the Neosho Valley marketing area is approved or favored by producers, as defined under the terms of the order as hereby proposed to be amended, and who, during such representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the aforesaid marketing area.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 24th day of September 1958.

[SEAL] DON PAARLBERG,
Assistant Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Neosho Valley Marketing Area

§ 928.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Neosho Valley marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Neosho Valley marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

1. Amend § 928.7 to read as follows:

§ 928.7 Approved plant. "Approved plant" means any milk plant, except that of a producer-handler, which is approved by the appropriate health authority having jurisdiction in the marketing area:

(a) From which 10 percent or more of the total receipts of Grade A milk is disposed of during the delivery period on wholesale or retail routes (including routes operated by vendors and disposition at plant stores) as Class I milk in the marketing area; or

(b) (1) From which during the delivery period no less than 50 percent of the Grade A milk received from dairy farmers is shipped to a plant(s) described in paragraph (a) of this section: Provided, That if such plant is an approved plant during each of the months of August through November, it shall be designated as an approved plant through the following July, unless the market administrator is requested by means of written application on or before the 7th day after the end of the month that the plant should not be an approved plant.

(2) All plants described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph which are operated by one handler may be considered as a unit, upon written notice to the market administrator specifying the plants to be considered as a unit and the period during which such consideration shall apply. Such notice, and the notice of any change in designation, shall be furnished on or before the 7th day following the month to which the notice applies. In any of the months of December through July a unit shall not contain plants which were not qualified as approved plants either individually or as members of another unit, during each of the previous months of August through November.

2. Amend § 928.41 (b) (3) to read as follows:

(3) In shrinkage of milk received directly from producers that is not in excess of 2 percent (5 percent with respect to skim milk during the months of April, May and June 3), plus 1.5 percent (4.5 percent with respect to skim milk during the months of April, May and June) of receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, transfered in bulk from approved plants, less 1.5 percent (4.5 percent with respect to skim milk during the months of April, May and June) of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, disposed of in bulk to approved plants; and

[F. R. Doc. 58-7960; Filed, Sept. 26, 1958; 8:54 a. m.]

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

[Docket No. AO-271-A3]

HANDLING OF MILK IN CENTRAL ARIZONA MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Phoenix, Arizona, on June 11-12, 1958, pursuant to notice thereof issued on May 29, 1958 (23 F. R. 3881).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, on August 26, 1958 (23 F. R. 6720) filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision containing notice of the opportunity to file written exceptions thereto.

The material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

1. Changing the type of pool from market-wide to individual-handler;

2. Revising the Class I price, including the butterfat differential;

3. Revising the Class II price during certain months; and

4. Revising the base plan.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

1. The present pooling provisions of the order should not be changed. The cooperative association which proposed that the market-wide pool be eliminated and returns to producers be distributed by means of individual-handler pools requested in its brief that no consideration be given to its proposal. They stated that because of certain organizational difficulties it is necessary that the market-wide pool be continued at the present time. In view of these circumstances, and the fact that handlers and other producers opposed the proposal, it is recommended that the method of pooling should not be changed at this time.

2. The Class I price which handlers pay for milk should be maintained at about its present level. Since the changes recommended in the Class I butterfat differential and in the supply-demand formula would increase costs to handlers by about 5 cents per hundredweight, the Class I differential should be reduced by a corresponding amount to compensate for these changes.

Class prices in the Central Arizona marketing area are computed in terms of milk containing 3.8 percent butterfat content, but in actual practice the butterfat content of the milk which has been classified as Class I has been approximately 3.6 percent. The latter figure also approximates the average test of the milk which is received from producers.

Producers proposed that the Class I butterfat differential, which presently is equal to 1.75 times the price of butter, be changed to 1.35 times the price of butter. It is concluded that the proposed change in the butterfat differential should be adopted.

The present Class I butterfat differential is one of the highest in any market under regulation and results in allocating a substantial proportion of the Class I price to the butterfat and a correspondingly lower proportion to the serum part of the milk. Prior to the issuance of the order, handlers in the Central Arizona market purchased milk on the basis of its butterfat content and placed no specific value on the volume of fluid which accompanied the butterfat. Thus, milk testing 6 percent butterfat was paid for at a price equal to exactly twice the price paid for a corresponding volume of milk containing 3 percent butterfat. When the order was issued, it contained a higher butterfat differential than would otherwise have applied so as to avoid too great a change in the custom which had prevailed in the past.

A high butterfat differential tends to be a deterrent to the use of butterfat in Class I products. A lower butterfat differential for Class I milk should provide an incentive for increasing the butterfat content of fluid milk and should encourage the sale of fluid cream. It also recognizes the increasing value of the nonfat portion of the milk for fluid use in relation to the butterfat.

Changing the Class I butterfat differential would make no difference in the cost of Class I milk to handlers if the average butterfat content of the Class I products were 3.8 percent. Since the average butterfat content of Class I milk has been approximately 3.6 percent each month since the order was issued, the recommended change in the butterfat differential would increase the actual cost of Class I milk to handlers by about 4½ cents per hundredweight. The decrease in the butterfat differential would average slightly more than 2 cents per point.

Producers proposed that in addition to a reduction in the value of the Class I butterfat differential a change be made in the supply-demand norms provided in the order. They contended that the supply-demand norms do not reflect the actual relationship of receipts to sales in the Central Arizona marketing area. The norms which they proposed would have increased the Class I price by several cents per hundredweight. A careful study of the statistical reports of the market administrator indicates that the present norms should be adjusted in certain months to reflect changes which have taken place in the production pattern in the market during the past year or so. These changes, however, are slight. If the adjustments recommended herein had been in effect for the 12 months from September 1957 through August 1958, the Class I price would have averaged approximately 1 cent higher than its actual level.

As noted above, there is no need for an increase in the level of the Class I price. Producer receipts in the Central Arizona market have been increasing each year since the Central Arizona marketing order became effective. The increase in receipts has been at a somewhat faster rate than the increase in Class I sales. The market is now adequately supplied with milk for Class I use, after having been relatively short for several years.

The decrease in the Class I butterfat differential and the change in the supply-demand norms, provided for in this decision, together would result in an increase in the Class I price of between 5 and 6 cents per hundredweight if adjustments were not made to compensate for these factors. To offset these increases the Class I differential should be reduced from $2.80 per hundredweight to $2.75 per hundredweight.

Handlers proposed that, if the butterfat differential were reduced as proposed by producers, the basic butterfat test used in computing class prices under the order be changed from 3.8 percent butterfat to 3.5 percent butterfat. They proposed this as a means of offsetting the increase in the Class I price which would otherwise occur if the only amendment made were to reduce the Class I butterfat differential. Producers opposed the change in the basic test on the grounds that since the State of California in its official milk orders computed prices in terms of 3.8 percent butterfat content, it was desirable for comparative purposes to maintain Arizona prices at the same level.

As the changes recommended in the order will maintain Class I prices at the same level, even though prices continue to be computed in terms of 3.8 percent butterfat, it is concluded that no change should be made in the order in this regard.

3. The Class II price should be amended by eliminating the deduction of 25 cents from the butter-powder price which is now made during the months of January through June.

Handlers opposed the increase in the Class II price but recommended that the lower price, instead of applying from January through June as at the present time, apply from November through April. They testified that disposal of excess receipts during November and December was a much greater problem than during May and June.

The proponent producers' cooperative association in the area has recently acquired facilities for the manufacture of nonfat dry milk. They indicated their willingness to receive and manufacture into nonfat dry milk at the butter-powder price, any milk which handlers were unwilling to receive. The Central Arizona market is a well balanced market. Producer receipts and Class I sales are extremely well aligned. The percentage of producer receipts to Class I sales during the period from July 1957 to June 1958 varied only from 113 percent to 122 percent. Most of the milk which has been produced in excess of the Class I requirements has been utilized for cottage cheese. Much of the remainder has been used in ice cream. Thus, the amount of milk which is available for other Class II uses has been negligible. In view of the small volume of milk which would remain after the requirements for these products have been met, and the willingness of the cooperative association to handle at the butter-powder price any milk which handlers are unwilling to receive, it is concluded that the butter-powder price should be used as the Class II price during the entire year.

4. The provisions of the order relating to the base plan should be revised, particularly as they relate to transfers of bases.

Some producers in the past have increased their bases under the transfer provisions. Through "paper transfers" and the manipulation of ownership of herds during the base-forming period it has been possible for producers to increase bases in excess of that which would be earned by their milk production during the base-forming period. The intent of the order is to provide a means of determining a base for each producer in accordance with the actual receipts of milk at pool plants during the base-forming period. To accomplish this intent under conditions where bases are combined, the total base should be determined by adding together the milk deliveries of the transferee and transferor during the base-forming period, and dividing this total by the number of days from the first day milk was received from either producer during the base-forming period to the last day of the base-forming period, but not by less than 90.

It should also be provided that if milk is delivered from the same dairy in more than one name during the base-forming period, the bases earned in such names should be combined, as indicated above, if milk is delivered in both names during the base-paying period.

Adoption of these rules will prevent the abuse of the transfer provisions to inflate bases, but will not interfere with the legitimate transfer of bases by producers who retire or dispose of their dairy herds for other legitimate reasons.

A proposal was also made by the producers' cooperative association that the base plan be operative on a 12-month basis and that a producer's base be determined by dividing his deliveries during the base-forming period by 122, regardless of the number of days of delivery by the producer. With respect to the former, there is no need for extending the base plan for the whole year. The purpose of the base plan is to encourage level production, not to limit the amount of milk produced for the market. As noted above, the month to month production in the Central Arizona market is remarkably uniform and it is very doubtful that any improvement could be achieved by paying producers on the base plan during the entire year.

The proposal to divide deliveries during the base-forming period by 122 regardless of the number of days of delivery was suggested as a means of correcting the abuse of the base-transfer provisions which have been discussed above. In view of the other steps taken, there is no need for such a provision.

The proposal of the handlers that November be eliminated from the base-forming period should also be denied. Use of the 4 months presently designated has resulted in a very even supply of milk for the market. There is no evidence that changing the base-forming period would have an effect other than possibly to reduce slightly the amount of base earned since average daily deliveries during November have been a little higher than during August, September, and October.

Rulings on exceptions. In arriving at the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision, each of the exceptions received was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision are at variance with any of the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Central Arizona Marketing Area", and "Order Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Central Arizona Marketing Area", which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

Determination of Representative period. The month of July 1958 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the attached order amending the order regulating the handling of milk in the Central Arizona marketing area, is approved or favored by producers, as defined under the terms of the order as hereby proposed to be amended, and who, during such representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the aforesaid marketing area.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 24th day of September 1958.

[SEAL] DON PAARLBERG,
Assistant Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Central Arizona Marketing Area

§ 1004.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Central Arizona marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Central Arizona marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

1. Amend § 1004.51 (a) by deleting the figure, "$2.80", in the first paragraph thereof, and substituting therefor the figure "$2.75".

2. Amend § 1004.51 (a) (2) (iii) by deleting the table contained therein and substituting the following:

Month for which price applies	Months used in computation	Standard utilization percentages
		Minimum	Maximum
January	October–November	112	116
February	November–December	115	119
March	December–January	116	120
April	January–February	116	120
May	February–March	115	119
June	March–April	113	117
July	April–May	113	117
August	May–June	112	116
September	June–July	110	114
October	July–August	109	113
November	August–September	111	115
December	September–October

3. Amend § 1004.51 (b) to read as follows:

(b) Class II milk price. The Class II milk price shall be the "butter-powder" price computed pursuant to § 1004.50 (b).

4. Amend § 1004.52 (a) by deleting the figure, "0.175" and substituting therefor the figure "0.135".

5. Amend § 1004.90 to read as follows:

§ 1004.90 Computation of daily average base for each producer. Subject to the rules set forth in § 1004.91, the daily average base of each producer shall be calculated by dividing the total pounds of milk received from such producer at all pool plants during the months of August through November immediately preceding by the number of days from the first day milk is received from such producer during said month to the last day of November, inclusive, but not less than 90.

6. Amend § 1004.91 to read as follows:

§ 1004.91 Base rules. The following rules shall apply in connection with the establishment and assignment of bases.

(a) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, the market administrator shall assign a base as calculated pursuant to § 1004.90 to each person for whose account producer milk was delivered to pool plants during the months of August through November;

(b) If a producer ceases to deliver milk in his name between August 1 and November 30, but milk is delivered to a pool plant from the same dairy production facilities in the name of another producer during the remainder of the base-forming period, the bases earned by both producers shall be combined in the manner set forth in paragraph (c) (2) of this section if milk is delivered in the names of both producers during any of the following months of January through June.

(c) An entire base shall be transferred from a person holding such base to any other person effective as of the end of the month during which an application for the transfer of such base is received by the market administrator, such application to be on forms approved by the market administrator and signed by the baseholder or his heirs, and by the person to whom such base is to be transferred subject to the following conditions:

(1) If a base is held jointly, the entire base shall be transferable only upon the receipt of the above described application signed by all joint holders or their heirs, and by the person to whom such base is to be transferred;

(2) If one or more bases are transferred to a producer already holding a base which was either earned by such producer or transferred to him, a new base shall be computed by adding together the total producer milk deliveries during the base-forming period of all persons in whose names such bases were earned, and dividing the total by the number of days from the earliest date of delivery during the base-forming period by any of such persons to the last day of November, both inclusive, but not less than 90; and

(d) If a base is held jointly, it may be divided among the joint holders effective as of the end of the month during which an application for division of the base is received by the market administrator: Provided, That such application is signed by all joint holders or their heirs, and such application sets forth the percentage of the jointly held base which is to be assigned to each of the joint holders or their heirs.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

By enactment of the amendment to section 245 of the Immigration and Nationality Act on August 21, 1958, most aliens whose status could have been adjusted by preexamination in accordance with Part 235a of Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, may acquire permanent residence without departing from the United States. To enable persons in the United States who may not be eligible for the new statutory privilege to attempt adjustment through preexamination, and to provide for an orderly termination of the extra-statutory preexamination privilege, it is proposed that applications for preexamination continue to be received through November 30, 1958, and that all applications be adjudicated and preexamination completed before June 30, 1959. Pending adoption of final regulations, applications for preexamination by prima facie eligibles may be accepted.

Pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238; 5 U. S. C. 1003), notice is hereby given of the proposed issuance of the following rules. In accordance with subsection (b) of said section 4, interested persons may submit to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, Room 630, 119 D Street, NE., Washington 25, D. C., written data, views, or arguments (in duplicate) relative to these proposed rules. Such representations may not be presented orally in any manner. All relevant material received within 20 days following the day of publication of this notice will be considered.

Part 235a is amended to read as follows:

Sec.
235a.1 Application.

AUTHORITY: §§ 235a.1 and 235a.2 issued under sec. 103, 66 Stat. 173; 8 U. S. C. 1103.

§ 235a.1 Application. Preexamination may be authorized for any alien, except a citizen of Canada, Mexico, or islands adjacent to the United States, who files an application for preexamination on Form I–63 prior to December 1, 1958, intending to apply to a consular officer of the United States in Canada for an immigrant visa and who believes that he will be admissible to the United States under all the provisions of the immigration laws if in possession of an immigrant visa, or that he is prima facie eligible for a waiver of excludability under section 5 or 7 of the Act of September 11, 1957; that he will be able to obtain the prompt issuance of an immigrant visa, and that he is a person of good moral character. Any alien who files Form I–63 shall be deemed to have thereby abandoned his nonimmigrant status in the United States. Form I–63 shall be submitted to the office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service having jurisdiction over the applicant's place of residence, and may be filed separately or in conjunction with a petition for nonquota or preference quota status under Part 204 or 205 of this chapter. If the applicant is under deportation proceedings, the application shall be made to the special inquiry officer during the hearing pursuant to Part 242 of this chapter. The applicant shall be notified of the decision, and, if the application is denied, of the reasons therefor and of his right to appeal under Part 6 or 7 of this chapter.

§ 235a.2 Disposition. When preexamination is authorized, the applicant shall not be preexamined until he has presented written assurance from the consular officer of the United States in Canada that a visa will be promptly available if upon personal examination he is found eligible for a visa, and a report from a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service setting forth findings of the applicant's mental and physical condition. Preexamination to determine the applicant's admissibility to the United States shall be conducted in the manner and under the procedures prescribed in sections 235 and 236 of the Act and Parts 235 and 236 of this chapter. If the applicant is found admissible, he shall, not later than June 30, 1959, be given a sealed letter, addressed to the Canadian immigration officer at the port through which he will enter Canada, showing the purpose of his visit to Canada and guaranteeing that if admitted to Canada he will be readmitted to the United States or, if found inadmissible when seeking reentry to the United States he will be paroled into the United States.

Dated: September 25, 1958.

b. Additional farm units. If, through the operation of its land acquisition program, the United States should, following the date of this announcement and prior to the date on which the first farm unit is offered for selection to an applicant under the provisions hereof, own additional farm units in the Quincy-Columbia Basin Irrigation District which are scheduled to receive water before the close of the 1959 irrigation season; such farm units may be offered for sale under the provisions of this announcement.

The official plats of these irrigation blocks are on file in the office of the County Auditor of Grant County in Ephrata, Washington, and copies are on file in the offices of the Bureau of Reclamation at Ephrata, Washington, and Boise, Idaho. The prices of the farm units are subject to minor changes which may result from adjustments in the irrigable acreages due to changes in rights of way or other causes.

SEC. 2. Limit of acreage which may be purchased. The lands covered by this announcement have been divided into farm units. Each of the farm units represents the acreage which, in the opinion of the Regional Director, Region 1, Bureau of Reclamation, will support an average size family at a suitable level of living. The law provides that no application for a certificate of qualification shall be received from (1) anyone who then has outstanding a certificate of qualification to select a farm unit on the Columbia Basin Project or, (2) anyone who owns another farm unit on that project. The law further provides that no farm unit shall be sold to, and no contract to sell a farm unit shall be entered into with any person who, or a member of whose family, has theretofore purchased or entered into a contract to purchase a farm unit under the Columbia Basin Project Act, except those whose farm units have been acquired by the United States for exchange purposes. A family is defined as comprising husband or wife, or both, together with their children under 18 years of age, or all of such children if both parents are dead.

PREFERENCE OF APPLICANTS

SEC. 3. Nature of preference. Except for a prior preference given applicants for exchange under the provisions of the Act of August 13, 1953 (67 Stat. 566), who are hereinafter called "exchange applicants", preference right to purchase the farm units described above will be given to veterans (and in some cases to their husbands or wives or guardians of minor children) who submit applications during a 45-day period beginning at 2:00 p. m., September 30, 1958, and ending at 2:00 p. m., November 14, 1958, and who, at the time of making application, are in one of the following five classes:

a. Persons, including those under 21 years of age, who have served in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, or Coast Guard of the United States for a period of at least ninety (90) days at any time between September 16, 1940, and the official termination of the Korean conflict, and who have been honorably discharged.

b. Persons, including those under 21 years of age, who have served in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, or Coast Guard of the United States during the period prescribed in subsection a. of this section, regardless of length of service, and who have been discharged on account of wounds received or disability incurred during such period in the line of duty or, subsequent to a regular discharge, have been furnished hospitalization or awarded compensation by the Government on account of such wounds or disability.

c. The spouse of any person in either of the first two classes listed in this section, if the spouse has the consent of such person to exercise his or her preference right and submits written proof of such consent with the application. (See subsection 7.d. of this announcement regarding the provision that a married woman must be head of a family.)

d. The surviving spouse of any person in either of the first two classes listed in this section or, in the case of the death or marriage of such spouse, the minor child or children of such person by guardian duly appointed and qualified and who furnishes to the examining board acceptable evidence of such appointment and qualification.

e. The surviving spouse of any person whose death has resulted from wounds received or disability incurred in the line of duty while serving in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, or Coast Guard during the period described in subsection a. of this section or, in the case of death or marriage of such spouse, the minor child or children of such person by a guardian duly appointed and qualified and who furnishes to the examining board acceptable evidence of such appointment and qualification.

SEC. 4. Definition of honorable discharge. An honorable discharge means:

a. Separation from the service by means of an honorable discharge or by the acceptance of resignation or a discharge under honorable conditions.

b. Release from active duty under honorable conditions to an inactive status, whether or not in a reserve component, or retirement.

Any person who obtains an honorable discharge as herein defined shall be entitled to veterans preference even though such person thereafter resumes active military duty.

QUALIFICATIONS REQUIRED OF PURCHASERS

SEC. 5. Examining board. An examining board of three members has been appointed by the Regional Director, Region 1, Bureau of Reclamation, to determine the qualifications and fitness of applicants to undertake the purchase, development, and operation of a farm on the Columbia Basin Project. The Board will make careful investigations to verify the statements and representations made by applicants. Any false statements may constitute grounds for rejection of an application and cancellation of the applicant's right to purchase a farm unit.

SEC. 6. Minimum qualifications. Certain minimum qualifications have been established which are considered necessary for the successful development of farm units. Applicants, unless qualified exchange applicants, must, in the judgment of the examining board, meet these qualifications in order to be eligible for the purchase of farm units. Failure to meet them in any single respect will be sufficient cause for rejection of an application. No credit will be given for qualifications in excess of the required minimum.

The minimum qualifications are as follows:

a. Character and industry. An applicant must be possessed of honesty, temperate habits, thrift, industry, seriousness of purpose, record of good moral conduct, and a bona fide intent to engage in farming as an occupation.

b. Farm experience. Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, an applicant must have had a minimum of two years (24 months) of full-time farm experience, which shall consist of participation in actual farming operations, after attaining the age of 15 years. Time spent in agricultural courses in an accredited agricultural college or time spent in work closely associated with farming, such as teaching vocational agriculture, agricultural extension work, or field work in the production or marketing of farm products, which, in the opinion of the Board will be of value to an applicant in operating a farm, may be substituted for full-time farm experience. Such substitution shall be on the basis of one year (academic year of at least nine months) of agricultural college courses or one year (twelve months) of work closely associated with farming for six months of full-time farm experience. Not more than one year of full-time farm experience of this type will be allowed. A farm youth who actually resided and worked on a farm after attaining the age of 15 and while attending school may credit such experience as full-time experience.

Applicants who have acquired their experience on an irrigated farm will not be given preference over those whose experience was acquired on a nonirrigated farm, but all applicants must have had farm experience of such nature as in the judgment of the examining board will qualify the applicant to undertake the development and operation of an irrigated farm by modern methods.

c. Health. An applicant must be in such physical condition as will enable him to engage in normal farm labor.

d. Capital. To qualify for Group A farms listed in section 1, applicants must either (1) possess assets amounting to at least $5,500 in excess of liabilities, of which at least $3,500 must be in cash; or (2) possess at least $5,000 in cash. In addition, at the time he moves to the Project to take possession of the farm unit selected and prior to execution of the land sale contract, the applicant must be prepared to re-establish to the satisfaction of the Project Manager that he possesses in cash or in cash and property useful in developing the farm the minimum net worth required under either of the above alternates.

To qualify for Group B farms listed in Section 1, applicants must either (1) possess assets amounting to at least $8,500 in excess of liabilities, of which at least $5,000 must be in cash; or (2) possess at least $7,500 in cash. In addition, at the time he moves to the Project to take possession of the farm unit selected and prior to execution of the land sale contract, the applicant must be prepared to re-establish to the satisfaction of the Project Manager that he possesses in cash or in cash and property useful in developing the farm the minimum net worth required under either of the above alternates.

Assets must consist of cash and property readily convertible into cash or property such as livestock or farm machinery and equipment which, in the opinion of the Board and the Project Manager, will be useful in the development and operation of a new, irrigated farm. When considering farm machinery, the Board and the Project Manager will credit only that equipment which is adapted for use on the Columbia Basin Project. No value will be allowed for a passenger car or household goods. Property not useful in the development of a farm will be considered if the applicant furnishes, at the Board's request, evidence of the value of the property and proof of its conversion into useful form. This conversion can be made before execution of the earnest money agreement or the land sale contract, whichever the Board believes appropriate.

Before executing a land sale contract and acquiring the right of possession of the farm unit, the purchaser must establish, to the satisfaction of the Project Manager, that he has moved to the project to take possession of the farm unit selected and re-establish his net worth as required above, except that the amount paid as an earnest money deposit can be credited as part of the assets making up the applicant's net worth.

SEC. 7. Other qualifications required. Each applicant (except guardian) must meet the following requirements:

a. Be a citizen of the United States or have declared an intention to become a citizen of the United States.

b. In addition to the limitations in section 2, not own outright, or be acquiring under a contract to purchase, more than 10 acres of cropland or a total of 160 acres of land at the time of execution of a purchase contract for a farm unit.

c. Not previously have purchased a farm unit from the United States under provisions of the Reclamation Law, excepting therefrom actions under the Act of August 13, 1953.

c. Not have outstanding a certificate of qualification for the purchase of a farm unit on the Columbia Basin Project.

e. Not own outright, or be acquiring under a contract to purchase, a farm unit on the Columbia Basin Project.

f. If a married woman or a person under 21 years of age who is not eligible for veteran's preference, be the head of a family. The head of a family is ordinarily the husband, but a wife or a minor child who is obliged to assume major responsibility for the support of a family may be the head of a family.

WHERE AND HOW TO SUBMIT AN APPLICATION

SEC. 8. Filing application blanks. Any person desiring to apply for a certificate of qualification to purchase a farm unit offered for sale by this announcement must fill out the attached application blank and file it with the Bureau of Reclamation, Ephrata, Washington, in person or by mail. Additional application blanks may be obtained from the office of the Bureau of Reclamation at Ephrata, Washington; Post Office Box 937, Boise, Idaho; or Washington, D. C. No advantage will accrue to an applicant who presents an application in person. Each application submitted, including the evidence of qualification to be submitted following the public drawing, will become a part of the records of the Bureau of Reclamation and cannot be returned to the applicant.

SELECTION OF QUALIFIED APPLICANTS

SEC. 9. Priority of applications. All applications except those received from qualified exchange applicants prior to 2:00 p. m., November 14, 1958, which shall be given prior preference, will be classified for priority purposes as follows:

a. First priority group. All complete applications filed prior to 2:00 p. m., November 14, 1958, by applicants who claim veterans preference. Such applications will be treated as simultaneously filed.

b. Second priority group. All complete applications filed prior to 2:00 p. m., November 14, 1958, by applicants who do not claim veterans preference. Such applications will be treated as simultaneously filed.

c. Third group. All complete applications filed after 2:00 p. m., November 14, 1958. Such applications will be considered in the order in which they are filed if any farm units are available for sale to applicants within this group.

SEC. 10. Public drawing. After the priority classification, the Board will conduct a public drawing of the names of the applicants in the First Priority Group as defined in subsection 9.a. of this announcement. Applicants need not be present at the drawing to participate therein. The names of a sufficient number of applicants (not less than four times the number of farm units to be offered for sale) shall be drawn and numbered in the order drawn for the purpose of establishing the order in which the applications drawn will be examined by the Board to determine whether the applicants meet the minimum qualifications prescribed in this announcement and to establish the priority of qualified applicants for the selection of farm units. After such drawing, the Board shall notify each applicant of his respective standing as a result of the drawing.

SEC. 11. Submission of evidence of qualification. After the drawing, a sufficient number of applicants, in the order of their priority as established by the drawing, will be supplied with forms on which to submit evidence of qualification showing that they meet the qualifications set forth in sections 6 and 7 of this announcement and, in case veterans preference is claimed, establishing proof of such preference, as set forth in section 3 of this announcement. Full and accurate answers must be made to all questions. The completed form, together with any attachments required, must be mailed or delivered to the Land Settlement Branch, Bureau of Reclamation, Ephrata, Washington, within 20 days of the date the form is mailed to the last address furnished by the applicant. Failure of an applicant to furnish all of the information requested or to see that information is furnished by his references within the time period specified will subject his application to rejection.

SEC. 12. Examination and interview. After the information outlined in section 11 of this announcement has been received or the time for submitting such statements has expired, the Board shall examine in the order drawn a sufficient number of applications, together with the evidence of qualification submitted, to determine the applicants who will be permitted to purchase farm units. This examination will determine the sufficiency, authenticity, and reliability of the information and evidence submitted by the applicants.

If the applicant fails to supply any of the information required or the Board finds that the applicant's qualifications do not meet the requirements prescribed in this announcement, the applicant shall be disqualified and shall be notified by the Board, by certified mail, of such disqualification and the reasons therefor and of the right to appeal to the Regional Director, Region 1, Bureau of Reclamation. All appeals must be received in the office of the Land Settlement Branch, Bureau of Reclamation, Ephrata, Washington, within 15 days of the applicant's receipt of such notice or, in any event, within 30 days from the date when the notice is mailed to the last address furnished by the applicant. The Land Settlement Branch will promptly forward the appeal to the Regional Director.

If the examination indicates that an applicant is qualified, the applicant may be required to appear for a personal interview with the Board for the purpose of: (a) Affording the Board any additional information it may desire relative to his qualifications; (b) affording the applicant any information desired relative to conditions in the area and the problems and obligations relative to development of a farm unit; and (c) affording the applicant an opportunity to examine the farm units.

If an applicant fails to appear before the Board for a personal interview on the date requested, he will thereby forfeit his priority position as determined by the drawing.

If the Board finds that an applicant's qualifications fulfill the requirements prescribed in this announcement, such applicant shall be notified, in person or by certified mail, that he is a qualified applicant and shall be given an opportunity to select one of the farm units available then for purchase. Such notice will require the applicant to make a field examination of the farm units available to him and in which he is interested, to select a farm unit, and to notify the Board of such selection within the time specified in the notice.

SELECTION OF FARM UNITS

SEC. 13. Order of selection. The applicants who have been notified of their qualification for the purchase of a farm unit will successively exercise the right to select a farm unit in accordance with the priority established by the drawing. If a farm unit becomes available through failure of a qualified applicant to exercise his right of selection or failure to complete his purchase, it will be offered to the next qualified applicant who has not made a selection at the time the unit is again available. An applicant who is considered to be disqualified as a result of the personal interview will be permitted to exercise his right to select, notwithstanding his disqualification, unless he voluntarily surrenders this right in writing. If, on appeal, the action of the Board in disqualifying an applicant as a result of the personal interview is reversed by the Regional Director, the applicant's selection shall be effective, but if such action of the Board is upheld by the Regional Director, the farm unit selected by this applicant will become available for selection by qualified applicants who have not exercised their right to select.

If any of the farm units listed in this announcement remain unselected after all qualified applicants whose names were selected in the drawing have had an opportunity to select a farm unit, and if additional applicants remain in the First Priority Group, the Board will follow the same procedure outlined in section 10 of this announcement in the selection of additional applicants from this group.

If any of the farm units remain unselected after all qualified applicants in the First Priority Group have had an opportunity to select a farm unit, the Board will follow the same procedure to select applicants from the Second Priority Group, and they will be permitted to exercise their right to select a farm unit in the manner prescribed for the qualified applicants from the First Priority Group.

Any farm units remaining unselected after all qualified applicants in the Second Priority Group have had an opportunity to select a farm unit will be offered to applicants in the Third Group in the order in which their applications were filed, subject to the determination of the Board, made in accordance with the procedure prescribed herein, that such applicants meet the minimum qualifications prescribed in this announcement.

If any farm units offered by or under this announcement remain unsold for a period of two years following the date of this announcement, the Project Manager, Columbia Basin Project, Bureau of Reclamation, may sell, lease, or otherwise dispose of such units to qualified applicants without regard to the provisions of section 10 of this announcement.

SEC. 14. Failure to select. If any applicant, except a qualified exchange applicant, refuses to select a farm unit or fails to do so within the time specified by the Board, such applicant shall forfeit his position in his priority group and his name shall be placed last in that group.

PURCHASE OF SELECTED UNIT

SEC. 15. Execution of earnest money agreement and land sale contract. When a farm unit is selected by an applicant as provided in section 13 of this announcement, the Project Manager will promptly give the applicant a written notice confirming the availability to him of the unit selected and will furnish an earnest money agreement together with instructions concerning its execution and return. In that notice, the Project Manager will inform the applicant of the amount of his down payment and the amount of the irrigation charges assessed by the irrigation district or, if such charges have not been assessed, of an estimate of the amount of the charges for the first year of the development period, to be deposited with the irrigation district.

The earnest money agreement will require the applicant to deposit $200 or 5 percent of the purchase price of the farm, whichever amount is greater, with the Project Manager. The amount deposited with the Earnest Money Agreement will be applied to the down payment if the applicant (1) submits proof that he has moved to the Columbia Basin Project before February 1, 1959, or within 6 months of the Earnest Money Agreement, whichever is later, and possesses the minimum capital assets required under subsection 6.d., (2) pays the irrigation charges assessed by the irrigation district or estimated for the first full irrigation season of the development period following the date of the contract, (3) pays the remainder of the required down payment on the purchase price of the farm unit, and (4) executes a land sale contract in accordance with the Project Manager's instructions. If the applicant fails to comply with any of the four requirements described in this paragraph, he will forfeit his right to purchase the farm unit and the amount he has deposited as earnest money will be retained by the United States as liquidated damages.

When the applicant submits proof to the Project Manager or his representative that he has moved to the Project to take possession of the farm unit and that he possesses the minimum capital assets required under subsection 6.d., the Project Manager will promptly furnish the applicant the necessary land sale contract, together with instructions concerning its execution and return. Such proof shall be in the form of an affidavit that he has actually moved to the project area, a current financial statement, and, where appropriate, a personal inspection of farm equipment by a representative of the Project Manager.

If the purchase is made subsequent to July 1 of any year during the development period, a deposit will be required to cover payment of water charges for the balance of that year as well as for the year following the purchase.

SEC. 16. Terms of sale. Contracts for the sale of farm units pursuant to this announcement will contain, among others, the following principal provisions:

a. Down payment. An initial or down payment of $400 or 10 percent of the purchase price of the lands being purchased from the United States, whichever is larger, will be required. Larger proportions or the entire amount of the price may be paid initially at the purchaser's option.

b. Schedule for payment of balance: Interest rate. If only a portion of the purchase price is paid initially, the remainder will be payable within a period of 20 years following the date of the contract. No payments on the principal, except the downpayment will be required during the first three years, and the Project Manager may postpone such payments for as long as the first five years of the contract. Interest on the unpaid balance at the rate of three percent per annum, however, will be payable annually. When payments on the principal are resumed, they will be payable each year. The schedule of principal payments, which will be established by the Project Manager, will provide for relatively small payments during the first years and larger payments during the later years of the contract period. Payment of any or all installments, or any portion thereof, may be made before their due dates at the purchaser's option.

c. Development requirements. In order that the irrigable area of the entire farm unit shall be developed with reasonable dispatch, each purchaser will be required, as a minimum, to clear, level, irrigate, and plant to crops by the end of each of the calendar years indicatd below and to maintain in crops thereafter the following percentages of irrigable land as tentatively or finally classified:

Size of farm unit in irrigable acres	Percentage of land classified tentatively or finally as irrigable to be developed by end of each year. (Period will begin with year of purchase if contract is executed and water is available on or before May 1 of that year; otherwise period will begin with the next calendar year)
	2d year	3d year	4th year	5th year
41 to 60	50	75
61 to 80	50	65	75
81 to 100	40	60	65	75

d. Residence requirements. A major objective of the settlement program for the Columbia Basin Project is to assist and encourage the permanent settlement of farm families. In keeping with this objective, each purchaser will be required to do the following with respect to residence: (1) Within one year from the date of his contract or by March 1 of the year water is first declared available to the irrigation block in which the farm unit is located, whichever is later, he must initiate residence by actually moving onto the unit, such residence to be maintained by living thereon for not less than 12 months within an 18-month period following the initial date of residence, and (2) before receiving title to the unit under the land sale contract, to establish a permanent and habitable dwelling on the unit. The time for compliance with the initiation of residence may be extended by the Project Manager for periods of as long as six months, upon his determination that an extension is necessary to avoid undue hardship to the purchaser and that it will not be detrimental to the orderly development of the irrigation block. The latest permissible date for initiating residence, however, will not be extended for more than one year in addition to the one-year period specified above.

e. Speculation and landholding limitations. Land sale contracts and deeds covering farm units offered by this announcement will include provisions governing (1) maximum permissible sizes of holdings of irrigable lands; (2) continued conformance of land to the area and boundaries of the farm unit plat for the block; (3) prices at which land can be resold during a period of five years following the date on which water is made available to the irrigation block; (4) disposal of land should it become excess at any time; and (5) limitations as to total area that may be operated on the Project, whether as lessee or as owner or both.

f. Possession. The purchaser may take possession of the lands being purchased when he has complied with the requirements described in section 15 and the land sale contract has been executed by the Project Manager for the United States, except that if a farm unit is under lease when sold possession may not be taken until the end of the period for which the unit is leased. Such leases occur infrequently and are of not more than one year's duration.

g. Sales, assignments, leases. Each purchaser shall be required to agree that he, his heirs and assigns, will not, except with the approval of the Project Manager, sell, assign, lease, or otherwise dispose of, or contract to sell, assign, lease, or otherwise dispose of, his land during a period ending five years from the date of his purchase contract.

h. Copies of contract form. The terms listed above and all other standard contract provisions are contained in the land sale contract form, copies of which may be obtained by writing to the Bureau of Reclamation, Ephrata, Washington.

IRRIGATION CHARGES

SEC. 17. Water rental charges. In Irrigation Block 85, some construction activities will be continuing and the system will be tested during the irrigation season of 1959. However, it is expected that water will be furnished on a temporary rental basis to those desiring it. The terms of payment, which will be at a fixed rate per acre-foot of water used, will be announced by the Regional Director before the beginning of the irrigation season.

SEC. 18. Development period charges. Pursuant to the provisions of the repayment contract of October 9, 1945, between the United States and the Quincy-Columbia Basin Irrigation District in the Columbia Basin Project, the Secretary of the Interior will announce a development period of ten years during which time payment of construction charge installments will not be required. This period probably will commence with the calendar year 1959 for Irrigation Blocks 77 and 79 and the calendar year 1960 for Irrigation Block 85. The development period began in 1957 for Irrigation Blocks 86 and 87 and in 1958 for Irrigation Block 89.

During the development period, water rental charges will average an estimated $6 per year for each irrigable acre as tentatively or finally classified. This figure is preliminary and subject to change because all the data needed to fix the charges are not available nor can they be obtained now. In any event, there will be a minimum charge per farm unit each year whether or not water is used. A notice establishing the details of the plan to be followed and announcing charges and governing provisions for the first year of the development period will be issued prior to January 1 of that year by the Regional Director, who has the responsibility for fixing charges.

The present plans of the Regional Director are (a) to vary the minimum charge according to the anticipated relative repayment ability of the various land classes; (b) to provide for a small minimum charge for the first year and to increase it each year thereafter so that the charge for the tenth year will be approximately equal to the combined construction and operation and maintenance charge for the following year; and (c) to charge for water in excess of the amount furnished for the minimum charge on an acre-foot basis. The minimum charge will entitle each user to a quantity of water, to be specified by the Regional Director, varying with the water requirement classification of the land and the size of the farm unit.

In addition to the water rental charges, the irrigation district will levy an additional charge to cover administrative costs and probable delinquencies in collections.

SEC. 19. Construction period repayment charges—a. Operation and maintenance charges. After the development period has ended, water users will pay a charge for operation and maintenance of the project irrigation system which will be uniform for the irrigation blocks throughout the Project. These charges may or may not be graduated among land classes. Assessment procedure will be left for the Irrigation District Board of Directors to determine, but, in any case, there will be an annual minimum charge per acre. In order to encourage careful use of water, this annual minimum charge will entitle the water user to one-half acre-foot of water per acre less than the amount of water normally required. The normal requirements for the various classes of land will be determined and announced as provided in the repayment contract with the irrigation districts. Water in excess of the quantity covered by the minimum charge will be paid for on an acre-foot basis in accordance with an ascending, graduated scale.

b. Construction charges. The contract between the United States and the Quincy-Columbia Basin Irrigation District requires the payment of construction charges for the project irrigation system during the 40 years following the development period. The average construction charge per irrigable acre for the entire project will be $2.12 per year. Thus, the total construction charge payment will average $85 per irrigable acre, but that amount was predicated on an estimated total direct irrigation cost of not to exceed $280,782,180, as indicated by Article 6 of the repayment contract, an amount that it now appears is likely to be exceeded. The contract further provides that construction charges shall be graduated according to the relative repayment ability of the land; consequently, the charge per irrigable acre will be larger for the better lands than for the poorer lands. This allocation of construction charges by classes of land will be made as soon as practicable.

FRED G. AANDAHL,
Acting Secretary of the Interior.

JUDICIAL OFFICER

SUPPLEMENTAL DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY IN CONNECTION WITH AUTHENTICATING DOCUMENTS

Supplementing the delegation of authority of January 20, 1955, 20 F. R. 568, to the Judicial Officer of the Department of Agriculture, I hereby authorize that the name of the Secretary of Agriculture be subscribed by such officer to certificates authenticating copies or transcripts of any books, records, papers or other documents pursuant to the act of August 8, 1894 (28 Stat. 272; 5 U. BAKANOWSKI CORP., LTD.

ORDER DENYING EXPORT PRIVILEGES FOR AN INDEFINITE PERIOD

In the matter of Bakanowski Corporation, Ltd., 2 Doughty Street, London, W. C. 2, England, respondent; File 23-587.

An investigation is pending concerned with the possible unauthorized transshipment to prohibited destinations of large quantities of steel sheets exported from the United States pursuant to general license and validated licenses, which sheets were obtained from the United States upon representations made by the respondent, Bakanowski Corporation, Ltd., that they were being purchased for shipment to and use in the destinations for which their exportations were licensed, and said investigation is concerned further with the relation which the said respondent may have to Industrial Specialty Company Ltd. and persons or firms connected with it, to whom all export privileges have been denied (15 F. R. 8868, Dec. 14, 1950). The Director, Investigation Staff, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, U. S. Department of Commerce, has applied for an order denying to said respondent, Bakanowski Corporation, Ltd., all export privileges for an indefinite period because of its failure and refusal to respond to written interrogatories duly served on it. The application was made pursuant to § 382.15 of the Export Regulations (Title 15, Chapter III, Subchapter B, CFR) and, in accordance with the practice thereunder, was referred to the Compliance Commissioner of the Bureau of Foreign Commerce who, after considering evidence in support thereof, has recommended that it be granted.

Now, upon receipt of the Compliance Commissioner's recommendation, after reviewing and considering the evidence submitted in support of the application, from which evidence it appears (1) that there is reasonable ground to believe that the steel sheets which are the subject of the investigation have been diverted to unauthorized destinations, (2) that there is reasonable ground to believe that, in connection with the purchase or acquisition of said steel sheets the respondent was acting for or in association with a person or with persons denied export privileges under and pursuant to the said order heretofore issued against Industrial Specialty Company, Ltd., and (3) that relevant and material interrogatories were duly served on it to which it has failed, omitted, and refused to respond without reasonable cause and without adequate explanation and, having concluded further (a) that this order is reasonable and necessary to protect the public interest and to achieve effective enforcement of the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended, and (b) that it is advisable that persons in the United States and in other parts of the world be informed by publication of this order of the provisions hereafter set forth so that the respondent may be prevented from receiving and transshipping commodities exported from the United States so long as it is effective: It is hereby ordered:

I. All outstanding validated export licenses in which the respondent, Bakanowski Corporation, Ltd., appears or participates as purchaser, intermediate or ultimate consignee, or otherwise, are hereby revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of Foreign Commerce for cancellation.

II. The respondent, its successors or assigns, officers, representatives, agents, and employees, are hereby denied all privileges of participating directly or indirectly in any manner, form, or capacity in any past, present, or future exportation of any commodity or technical data from the United States to any foreign destination, including Canada. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing, participation in an exportation shall include and prohibit said respondent's and such other persons' participation (a) as parties or as representatives of a party to any validated export license application; (b) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license or other export control document; (c) in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, using, or disposing in any foreign country of any commodities in whole or in part exported from the United States; and (d) in the financing, forwarding, transporting, or other servicing of exports from the United States.

III. This denial of export privileges shall apply not only to the respondent, but also to any person, firm, corporation, or business organization with which it now or hereafter may be related by ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade involving exports from the United States or services connected therewith.

IV. This order shall remain in effect until the respondent satisfactorily answers or furnishes written information or documents in response to the interrogatories heretofore served on it or gives adequate reason for its failure or refusal to respond, except insofar as it may be amended or modified hereafter in accordance with the Export Regulations.

V. No person, firm, corporation, or other business organization, within the United States or elsewhere (whether or not engaged in trade relating to exports from the United States) shall, on behalf of or in any association with the respondent or any related party, without prior disclosure of the facts to and specific authorization from the Bureau of Foreign Commerce, directly or indirectly in any manner, form, or capacity (a) apply for, obtain, transfer, or use any license, shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to any exportation of commodities from the United States, or (b) order, receive, buy, sell, deliver, use, dispose of, finance, transport, forward, or otherwise service or participate in an exportation from the United States, or in a reexportation of any commodity exported from the United States, or do any of the foregoing acts with respect to any exportation in which respondent or any related party may have any interest or obtain any benefit of any kind or nature, direct or indirect.

VI. In accordance with the provisions of § 382.11 (c) of the Export Regulations, the respondent may move, at any time prior to the cancellation or termination hereof, to vacate or modify this indefinite denial order by filing an appropriate application therefor, supported by evidence, with the Compliance Commissioner, and it may request oral hearing thereon, which, if requested, will be held before the Compliance Commissioner at Washington, D. C., at the earliest convenient date.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

BETHESDA NAVAL HOSPITAL

NOTICE OF ISSUANCE OF AMENDMENT TO FACILITY LICENSE

Please take notice that the Atomic Energy Commission has issued the following amendment (No. 1) to License No. R-27 authorizing the United States Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Maryland, to relocate the reactor console of its nuclear reactor from its present location in the reactor room to an office adjoining the reactor room. The Commission has found that operation of the reactor in accordance with the terms and conditions of the license as amended will not present undue hazard to the health and safety of the public and will not be inimical to the common defense and security.

The Commission has found that prior public notice of proposed issuance of this amendment is not necessary in the public interest since operation of the reactor with the console at the proposed new location does not present any substantial changes in the hazards to the health and safety of the public from those present by the previously approved operation of the reactor.

In accordance with the Commission's rules of practice (10 CFR Part 2), the Commission will direct the holding of a formal hearing on the matter of issuance of the license amendment upon receipt of a request therefor from the licensee or an intervener within 30 days after the issuance of the license amendment. For further details see (1) the application submitted by the Bethesda Naval Hospital and (2) a hazards analysis of operation of the reactor with the console at the new location prepared by the Division of Licensing and Regulation, both on file at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D. C. A copy of item (2) above may be obtained at the Commission's Public Document Room or upon request addressed to the Atomic Energy Commission, Washington 25, D. FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

ARKANSAS LOUISIANA GAS CO.

ORDER INSTITUTING INVESTIGATION

SEPTEMBER 24, 1958.

Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company (Respondent) is engaged in the transportation of natural gas in interstate commerce and in the sale of natural gas in interstate commerce for resale for ultimate public consumption, and, therefore is a natural-gas company within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act, as heretofore found by the Commission by order of January 25, 1943, in Docket No. G-252, 3 FPC 910.

On the basis of data available to the Commission, it appears that the rates, charges, or classifications for or in connection with the sales or transportation of natural gas by Respondent herein, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and the rules, regulations, practices, and contracts relating thereto, may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act, that an investigation be instituted by the Commission, upon its own motion, into and concerning all rates, charges, or classifications demanded, observed, charged, or collected by Respondent for or in connection with any transportation or sales of natural gas, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and any rules, regulations, practices, or contracts affecting such rates, charges, or classifications.

The Commission orders:

(A) An investigation of Respondent, Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company, is hereby instituted under the provisions of the Natural Gas Act for the purpose of enabling the Commission to determine whether, with respect to any transportation or sale of natural gas, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, made or proposed to be made by Respondent, any of the rates, charges, or classifications demanded, observed, charged, or collected, or any rules, regulations, practices, or contracts affecting such rates, charges, or classifications are unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential.

(B) If the Commission, after a hearing has been had, shall find with respect to Respondent, that any of its rates, charges, classifications, rules, regulations, practices, or contracts, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, are unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, the Commission shall thereupon determine and fix by appropriate order or orders just and reasonable rates, charges, classifications, rules, regulations, practices, or contracts to be thereafter observed and in force.

(C) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 5, 14, 15, and 16 thereof, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a public hearing be held at a date later to be designated by notice from the Secretary of the Commission, in a Hearing Room of the Commission at 441 G Street, NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters specified in paragraphs (A) and (B) above.

(D) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)).

By the Commission (Commissioner Hussey dissenting).

Acting Secretary.

OHIO FUEL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

SEPTEMBER 23, 1958.

Take notice that The Ohio Fuel Gas Company (Applicant), an Ohio corporation and a subsidiary of The Columbia Gas System, Inc., having its principal place of business at 99 North Front Street, Columbus, Ohio, filed on August 15, 1958, an application, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, authorizing it to construct and operate certain natural gas transmission facilities and for authority to abandon certain other facilities, as hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the application which is on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

Applicant proposes to construct and operate the following facilities:

Project 1. Approxmiately 4,700 feet of 8⅝ inch O. D. natural gas transmission pipeline in Wayne County, Ohio, partially replacing Line L-649 serving the Rittman Market area.

Project 2. Approximately 5,200 feet of 4½ inch O. D. natural gas transmission pipeline in Pickaway County, Ohio, partially replacing Line Z-3 serving Williamsport.

Applicant also requests authorization for the abandonment of approximately 4,700 feet of 4½ inch O. D. and 5,200 feet of 2⅜ inch O. D. transmission line to be replaced by the proposed facilities.

The estimated natural gas requirements of the retail markets of Creston, Sterling and Rittman, presently served by the 4½ inch pipeline proposed to be replaced by Project 1, are as follows:

Year	Requirements in Mcf
	Annual	Peak day
1957 (actual)	377,259	3,453
1960 (estimated)	449,300	4,040
1960 (estimated)	469,100	4,210
1961 (estimated)	486,300	4,380

In order to meet these estimated future requirements Applicant proposes this replacement in Project 1 in order to increase its capacity.

Applicant alleges the replacement proposed by Project 2 is required because of the condition of the existing pipe, which was installed in 1908 and to meet expected future growth in requirements of the Williamsport market.

Applicant's supply line to be partially replaced by Project 2 serves Williamsport in Pickaway County, Ohio, which owns and operates a municipal gas distribution plant. The estimated gas requirements of the Williamsport market are as follows:

Year	Requirements in Mcf
	Annual	Peak day
1957 (actual)	47,427	413
1959 (estimated)	55,144	400
1960 (estimated)	55,258	400
1961 (estimated)	53,200	400

The pipe to be retired will be abandoned in the ground.

The estimated cost of the construction of the Line L-649 replacement is $23,500 and that of Line Z-3 replacement is $9,960, which will be financed from cash on hand.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations, and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on October 23, 1958, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a noncontested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before October 13, 1958. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

Secretary.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 31-655]

PETROLEUM EXPLORATION

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION FOR EXEMPTION

SEPTEMBER 22, 1958.

Notice is hereby given that Petroleum Exploration ("Exploration"), a holding company which has heretofore claimed exemption pursuant to Rule 9 promulgated under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), has filed an application and an amendment thereto pursuant to section 3 (a) (3) of the act requesting an order exempting it and its four subsidiaries from the provisions of the act on the grounds that Exploration is only incidentally a holding company being primarily engaged or interested in one or more businesses other than the business of a public-utility company and not deriving directly or indirectly any material part of its income from any one or more subsidiary companies the principal business of which is that of a public-utility company.

All interested persons are referred to the application on file at the Commission for a statement of the request for the exemption, and of the facts forming the basis for such exemption, which are summarized as follows:

Exploration, a Maine corporation, is engaged in exploring for and producing petroleum and natural gas in Kentucky, Indiana, and Illinois. No natural gas is produced in Indiana or Illinois other than casinghead gas which is sold at the wellhead. Exploration produces natural gas in Kentucky, sells such gas to others for resale, but does not itself sell any natural gas at retail.

Exploration's four subsidiaries are Peoples Gas Company of Kentucky ("Peoples"), Petroleum Purchasing Company ("Purchasing Company"), Southern Petroleum Exploration, Inc. ("Southern"), and Wittmer Oil & Gas Corporation ("Wittmer"). Peoples, a public-utility company as defined in the Act, is a Delaware corporation engaged in the purchase of natural gas at wholesale from Exploration and the distribution of such gas at retail in several communities in Kentucky. Purchasing Company, a Delaware corporation, owns facilities for gathering and transporting petroleum in Kentucky, which facilities are leased to a non-affiliated company. Southern, a Delaware corporation, is engaged in exploring for and producing petroleum and natural gas in Texas and New Mexico. All natural gas produced by Southern is sold at wholesale. Wittmer, a Pennsylvania corporation, is engaged in exploring for and producing petroleum and natural gas in Pennsylvania and Michigan. Natural gas produced by Wittmer is sold at wholesale.

The total assets, and the fixed assets less reserves, of Exploration, Southern, Purchasing Company, Wittmer and Peoples, as at December 31, 1957, and the total revenues and net income of these companies for the calendar year 1957 were as follows:

	As at Dec. 31, 1957		Year 1957
	Total assets	Fixed assets less reserves	Total revenues	Net income
Exploration	$8,235,165	$3,700,902	$2,406,732	$891,163
Southern	6,641,154	5,294,078	1,608,409	498,340
Purchasing Company	157,314	1,094	83,966	18,022
Wittmer	708,107	122,671	118,965	55,202
Peoples	361,987	236,447	366,055	708

Notice is further given that any interested person may not later than October 22, 1958, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, said application, as filed or as amended, may be granted, or the Commission may take such other action as it may deem appropriate under the circumstances.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RENEWAL OF PROMISSORY NOTE

Philadelphia has issued and delivered to Gas a renewal promissory note in replacement of a promissory note in the principal amount of $2,500,000 which matured on September 10, 1958, and which bore interest at the rate of 4½ percent per annum, payable monthly. The renewal note, in the same principal amount, is dated September 10, 1958, bears interest at the prime interest rate (3½ percent per annum) prevailing for short-term commercial bank loans at the date of the new note, and will mature September 10, 1959, with the right of the issuer to anticipate at any time without penalty the payment of all or any part of the principal thereof.

It is stated that no commissions or fees are to be paid or incurred in connection with the proposed transactions and the expenses, if any, will be nominal in amount.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than October 10, 1958, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. At any time after said date said application-declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rules 20 (a) and 100, or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

AUTHORITY: §§ 905.0 to 905.111 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c.

§ 905.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Mississippi Delta marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to Section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined in this order, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct, or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(5) It is hereby found that the necessary expense of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler, as his pro rata share of such expense, 5 cents per hundredweight or such amount not to exceed 5 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe with respect to receipts of producer milk, including such handler's own production; other source milk allocated to Class I milk and applicable amounts specified in § 905.62 (a) (2) and (b) (2).

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order partially effective not later than October 1, 1958, and fully effective not later than November 1, 1958.

The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The revised recommended decision of the Acting Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service was issued August 5, 1958, and the decision of the Acting Secretary containing all the provisions of this order was issued September 3, 1958. Any delay beyond October 1, 1958, in the effective date for certain specified provisions of this order will impair the proper operation of the order and will seriously threaten the orderly marketing of milk in the Mississippi Delta area. Several handlers have had experience under Federal Order No. 87 and all handlers have had experience under the Mississippi Milk Audit Law. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order partially effective October 1, 1958, and fully effective November 1, 1958, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (See section 4 (c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.)

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c (9) of the act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the Act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order; and

(3) The issuance of this order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum and who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Mississippi Delta marketing area shall be in conformity to, and in compliance with, the following terms and conditions:

In either case, the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 905.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk and butterfat required to be reported pursuant to § 905.30 shall be classified (separately as skim milk and butterfat), pursuant to §§ 905.41 to 905.47.

§ 905.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 905.42 to 905.47 the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat:

(1) Disposed of in the form of fluid milk products, except those classified pursuant to paragraph (b) (2) of this section; and

(2) Not accounted for as Class II;

(b) Class II shall be all skim milk and butterfat:

(1) Used to produce any product other than a fluid milk product;

(2) In skim milk authorized by the market administrator to be dumped or accounted for as disposed of for livestock feed;

(3) In shrinkage, but in an amount not to exceed one-half percent of the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat received directly from producers plus 1½ percent of the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat in bulk milk, skim milk, and cream in fluid form received at a pool plant from all sources less that disposed of in bulk to a pool plant of another handler;

(4) In shrinkage of other source milk; and

(5) In inventories of fluid milk products on hand at the end of the month.

§ 905.42 Assignment of shrinkage. The market administrator shall assign shrinkage at the pool plant(s) of each handler as follows:

(a) Compute the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat classified as Class II milk; and

(b) Assign the resulting amounts pro rata to the handler's receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in (1) producer milk and milk received from other pool plants and (2) other source milk.

§ 905.43 Responsibility of handlers. All skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

§ 905.44 Transfers. Skim milk and butterfat transferred or diverted during the month as milk, skim milk or cream from a pool plant to:

(a) The pool plant of another handler shall be classified as Class I unless Class II is indicated by the operators of both plants in their reports submitted pursuant to § 905.30 and:

(1) The receiving plant has utilization in such class of equivalent amounts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively; and

(2) Such skim milk and butterfat shall be classified so as to allocate to producer milk the greatest possible total Class I in the two plants;

(b) A plant operated by a producer-handler shall be Class I;

(c) A nonpool plant, except as specified in paragraph (b) of this section, shall be Class I unless:

(1) The transfer is in bulk form and the transferring handler claims Class II use on his report for the month;

(2) The operator of the nonpool milk plant maintains books and records which are made available for examination upon request by the market administrator and which are adequate for verification of such Class II use; and

(3) The skim milk and butterfat, respectively, received at the nonpool plant during the month from a pool plant(s) and from a plant(s) at which milk is priced pursuant to another order issued pursuant to the act does not exceed the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, resulting from the following computation:

(i) Determine the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, used to produce any items of Class II milk (as defined pursuant to § 905.41 (b)) at such nonpool plant during the month;

(ii) Add the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in fluid bulk cream transferred from such nonpool plant to a plant at which milk is priced pursuant to this part or another order issued pursuant to the act and such cream is allocated to other than Class I (under the applicable order definitions and allocation procedures at the transferee plant);

(iii) Add the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in fluid bulk cream transferred from such nonpool plant to a second nonpool plant which is not in excess of the items of Class II processed in such second nonpool plant plus the bulk fluid cream shipped from such second nonpool plant to other nonpool plants which do not dispose of milk or cream for consumption in fluid forms: Provided, That the second nonpool plant meets the conditions of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph; and

(iv) Subtract the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, received in fluid milk products at such nonpool plant from any source(s) other than that which has been approved by a governmental agency as a source(s) of Grade A fluid milk products.

In the event that the remaining skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph is less than the skim milk and butterfat, respectively, received at such nonpool plant from a pool plant(s) and from a plant(s) at which milk is priced pursuant to another order issued pursuant to the act, the difference shall be assigned pro rata, to each pool plant (in accordance with receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, from all plants regulated pursuant to the act), and shall be classified as Class I milk.

§ 905.45 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and obvious errors the monthly report submitted by each handler pursuant to § 905.30 and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat respectively, in Class I and Class II at the pool plant(s) of such handler.

§ 905.46 Allocation of skim milk classified. The pounds of skim milk remaining after making the following computations shall be the pounds in each class allocated to producer milk:

(a) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk shrinkage pursuant to § 905.41 (b) (3);

(b) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk remaining in each class, in series beginning with Class II, the pounds of skim milk in other source milk, except as specified in paragraph (c) of this section;

(c) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class, in series beginning with Class II, the pounds of skim milk received from plants subject to the pricing and payment provisions of other orders issued pursuant to the Act;

(d) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class, the pounds of skim milk received from other handlers in such class pursuant to §§ 905.41 and 905.44 (a);

(e) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in each class, in series beginning with Class II, the pounds of skim milk in inventory of fluid milk products on hand at the beginning of the month;

(f) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds subtracted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; and

(g) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk in milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class in series, beginning with Class II.

§ 905.47 Allocation of butterfat classified. Allocate the pounds of butterfat in each class to producer milk in the same manner as that prescribed for skim milk in § 905.46.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 905.50 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of §§ 905.51 and 905.52 the minimum prices per hundredweight for the month shall be as follows:

(a) Class I price. The price per hundredweight for Class I shall be the price for Class I milk established pursuant to § 987.51 (a) of this chapter regulating the handling of milk in the Central Mississippi marketing area, less 16 cents;

(b) Class II price. The price per hundredweight for Class II shall be the average of the basic or field prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid or to be paid for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department of Agriculture: Kraft Cheese Co., Houston, Mississippi; Borden Co., Starkville, Mississippi; Carnation Co., Tupelo, Mississippi; Pet Milk Co., Kosciusko, Mississippi; plus 20 cents per hundredweight for the months September through January and plus 10 cents per hundredweight for the months February through August.

§ 905.51 Butterfat differential to handlers. For milk containing more or less than 4.0 percent butterfat, the class prices determined pursuant to § 905.50 shall be increased or decreased, respectively, for each one-tenth percent butterfat at the appropriate rate determined as follows:

(a) Class I. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the preceding month by 0.12;.

(b) Class II. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the month by 0.11.

§ 905.52 Location adjustment to handlers. For milk received from producers at a pool plant located 30 miles or more north of U. S. Highway No. 82 and within the State of Mississippi, by shortest highway distance open to commercial truck traffic, as determined by the market administrator, or at a pool plant located outside the State of Mississippi and 30 miles or more by shortest highway distance open to commercial truck traffic, as determined by the market administrator, from the nearer of the city halls at Greenville or Columbus, Mississippi, and which is classified as Class I, the prices determined pursuant to § 905.50 (a) shall be reduced 7.5 cents, plus an additional 1.5 cents for each 10 miles that such distance exceeds 40 miles.

§ 905.53 Rate of compensatory payments. In any month in which total deliveries of producer milk are 110 percent or more of the total amount classified as Class I (excluding duplications) at all pool plants, the rate of compensatory payment per hundredweight shall be calculated as follows:

(a) Subtract the Class II price, adjusted by the Class II butterfat differential, from the Class I price adjusted by the Class I butterfat differential and adjust such difference by the location differential rate set forth in § 905.52 for the location of the plant at which the milk was received from farmers.

§ 905.54 Use of equivalent prices. If for any reason a price quotation required by this part for computing class prices or for other purposes is not available in the manner described, the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to the price which is required.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 905.60 Producer-handler exemption. A producer-handler shall be exempt from all provisions of this part except §§ 905.32, 905.33 and 905.34.

§ 905.61 Plants subject to other Federal orders. The provisions of this part, except §§ 905.30 (b) (1), 905.33 and 905.34, shall not apply to:

(a) A distributing plant which would be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued, pursuant to the act unless a greater volume of Class I is disposed of from such plant during the month on routes in the Mississippi Delta marketing area than in the marketing area defined in such other order;

(b) A supply plant which would be subject to the classification and pricing provision of another order issued pursuant to the act unless such plant qualified as a pool plant during each of the preceding months of September through January.

§ 905.62 Obligations of handler operating a nonpool distributing plant. In lieu of payments required pursuant to §§ 905.90 to 905.95, each handler, other than a producer-handler or one exempt pursuant to § 905.61 (a), who operates during the month a nonpool distributing plant, shall pay to the market administrator for deposit in the producer-settlement fund and the administrative assessment fund, as the case may be, as follows:

(a) If such handler so elects in writing at the time of reporting pursuant to § 905.30 the amounts computed as follows:

(1) On or before the 13th day after the end of the month, for the producer-settlement fund, an amount equal to the difference between the value of the Class I disposed of during the month on routes in the marketing area at the applicable Class I price for the month and the value of such milk at the Class II price; and

(2) On or before the 13th day after the end of the month, as his pro rata share of expense of administration, the rate specified in § 905.93 with respect to Class I disposed of on routes in the marketing area.

(b) Except as the handler may elect the option pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, he shall pay the amounts as follows:

(1) On or before the 25th day after the end of the month, for the producer-settlement fund, the amount specified in paragraph (a) (1) of this section, or any plus amount resulting from the following computation, whichever is less:

(i) Determine the value for milk received from dairy farmers at such plant for such month pursuant to § 905.70 as if such plant were a pool plant; and

(ii) Deduct the gross payments made by the handler to dairy farmers for milk received at such plant for such month. Such gross payments shall be limited to cash payments made to the dairy farmer or his assignee on or before the date for filing reports required pursuant to § 905.31 (c), plus the value of any supplies or services furnished by the handler, on prior written authorization or as evidenced by a delivery ticket signed by the dairy farmer; and

(2) On or before the 13th day after the end of the month, as his pro rata share of the expense of administration, an equal to that which would have been computed pursuant to § 905.93 had such plant been a pool plant.

DETERMINATION OF PRICES TO PRODUCERS

§ 905.70 Computation of value of producer milk. The value of producer milk received during the month by each handler at his pool plant(s) shall be computed by the market administrator as follows:

(a) Multiply the producer milk in each class, as computed pursuant to § 905.48, by the applicable class prices (adjusted pursuant to §§ 905.51 and 905.52);

(b) Add an amount computed by multiplying the skim milk and butterfat subtracted from Class I pursuant to § 905.46 (b) and the corresponding step of § 905.47 and pursuant to § 905.46 (e) and the corresponding step of § 905.47 excluding the skim milk and butterfat determined pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section, by the rate of compensatory payment as determined pursuant to § 905.53 for the nearest plant(s) from which an equivalent amount of other source milk was received in the form of fluid milk products;

(c) Add the amount computed by multiplying the skim milk and butterfat in overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 905.46 (a) and the corresponding step of § 905.47 by the applicable class price;

(d) Add the amount obtained by multiplying the difference between the Class II price for the preceding month and the Class I price for the current month by the lesser of:

(1) The hundredweight of milk subtracted from Class I pursuant to § 905.46 (e) and the corresponding step of § 905.47; or

(2) The hundredweight of producer milk classified as Class II (except as shrinkage) for the preceding month.

§ 905.71 Computation of the 4.0 percent value of all producer milk. For each month, the market administrator shall compute the 4.0 percent value of producer milk, as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the individual value of milk computed pursuant to § 905.70 for all handlers, except those who failed to make payments required pursuant to §§ 905.90 and 905.95 for the preceding month;

(b) Add, if the weighted average butterfat test of all producer milk represented in paragraph (a) of this section is less than 4.0 percent, or substract if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is more than 4.0 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the total pounds of butterfat represented by the difference of such average butterfat test from 4.0 percent by the butterfat differential provided in § 905.75 multiplied by 10.

(c) Add the total of the values of the applicable producer location adjustments pursuant to § 905.76, and

(d) Add not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer settlement fund.

§ 905.72 Uniform price. For each of the months of August through February, the uniform price per hundredweight for milk containing 4.0 percent butterfat received from producers at pool plants (before location adjustments) shall be computed as follows:

(a) Divide the amount computed pursuant to § 905.71 by the hundredweight of producer milk; and

(b) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents.

§ 905.73 Uniform excess milk price. For each of the months of March through July, the price for excess milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content shall be computed as follows:

(a) Multiply the hundredweight of excess milk, not in excess of Class II represented by the values included in § 905.71 (a), by the Class II price for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content determined pursuant to § 905.50 (b);

(b) Multiply the hundredweight of any excess milk not included in the computation in paragraph (a) of this section by the Class I price for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content pursuant to § 905.50 (a); and

(c) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, divide by the hundredweight of excess milk and round to the nearest cent.

§ 905.74 Uniform base milk price. For each of the months of March through July, the price for base milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers at pool plants (before location adjustment) shall be computed as follows:

(a) Multiply the total pounds of excess milk by the excess price for the month;

(b) From the total 4.0 percent value of producer milk pursuant to § 905.71 subtract the total value determined in paragraph (a) of this section;

(c) Divide the resultant value by the total hundredweight of base milk; and

(d) Subtract not less than 4 cents or more than 5 cents.

§ 905.75 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 905.90, the uniform prices shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat content in the milk received from each producer or a cooperative association above or below 4.0 percent, as the case may be, by a butterfat differential equal to the average of the butterfat differentials pursuant to § 905.51 weighted by the pounds of butterfat in producer milk in each class, rounded to the nearest tenth cent.

§ 905.76 Location adjustment to producers. In making payments to producers and cooperative associations, a handler may deduct from applicable uniform prices with respect to all milk received from producers at the handler's pool plant the amount per hundredweight applicable to the plant as set forth in § 905.52.

§ 905.77 Notification. On or before the 12th day after the end of each month the market administrator shall notify each handler of:

(a) The amount and value of his producer milk in each class and the totals thereof;

(b) The amount due such handler from the producer-settlement fund or the amount to be paid by such handler to the producer-settlement fund, as the case may be; and

(c) The totals of the amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 905.92 and 905.93.

BASE RATING

§ 905.80 Determination of daily base. The daily base of each producer shall be calculated by the market administrator as follows: Divide the total pounds of milk received by all handlers of pool plants from such producer during the months of September through January by the number of days from the first day milk is received from such producer during said months to the last day of January, inclusive, but not less than 120 days.

§ 905.81 Computation of base. The base of each producer to be applied during the months of March through July shall be a quantity of milk calculated by the market administrator in the following manner: Multiply the daily base of such producer by the number of days for which such producer's milk was received by such handler during the months.

§ 905.82 Base rules. The following rules shall apply in connection with the establishment of bases:

(a) A base shall be assigned to the producer for whose account milk is received at a pool plant during the months of September through January and to each person for whose account milk was delivered to a plant that did not qualify as a pool plant during each month of the base forming period, but which qualifies as a pool plant during any of the months of March through July, bases shall be assigned on deliveries at such plant in the same manner as if such plant had been a pool plant during each month of the base forming period.

(b) An entire base shall be transferred by the market administrator to another person upon receipt of an application form, approved by the market administrator, and signed by the base-holder(s), or his heirs, and by the person to whom such base is transferred subject to the following condition:

(1) If a base is transferred to a producer already holding a base, a new base shall be computed by adding together the producer milk deliveries of the transferee and transferor during the base forming period and dividing the total by the number of days from the first day of delivery by either the transferee or transferor during the base forming period to the last day of January, inclusive, but not less than 120 days.

PAYMENTS

§ 905.90 Payments to producers. Except as provided in paragraph (e) of this section each handler shall make payment for producer milk as follows:

(a) On or before the last day of each month, for milk received during the first 15 days of the month, at not less than the price per hundredweight for Class II milk for the preceding month;

(b) On or before the 15th day after the end of each of the months of August through February for milk received during such month at not less than the uniform price per hundredweight, computed for such handler pursuant to § 905.72, subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 905.75 and the location differential computed pursuant to § 905.76, less proper deductions authorized in writing by such producer and less payment made pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, and deductions made pursuant to § 905.92;

(c) On or before the 15th day after the end of each of the months of March through July, after allowance for the amount of payment made pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section for deductions made pursuant to § 905.95 and for other proper deductions authorized in writing by such producer, as follows:

(1) At not less than the uniform price per hundredweight for base milk computed pursuant to § 905.74 for the quantity of base milk received from such producer during the month subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 905.75 and the location differential computed pursuant to § 905.76; and

(2) At not less than the uniform price per hundredweight for excess milk computed pursuant to § 905.73 for the quantity of excess milk received from such producer during the month, subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 905.75 and the location differential computed pursuant to § 905.76;

(d) In making the payments to producers pursuant to paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, each handler shall furnish each producer from whom he has received milk with a supporting statement in such form that it may be retained by the producer, which shall show for each month:

(1) The month and the identity of the handler and of the producer;

(2) The daily and total pounds and the average butterfat content of milk received from such producer;

(3) The minimum rate or rates at which payment to such producer is required pursuant to this part;

(4) The rate which is used in making the payment, if such rate is other than the applicable minimum rate;

(5) The amount or the rate per hundredweight and nature of each deduction claimed by the handler; and

(6) The net amount of payment to such producer;

(e) In lieu of payments pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section, each handler shall make payment to a cooperative association which has filed a written request for such payment with such handler and with respect to producers for whose milk the market administrator determines that such cooperative association is authorized to collect payment, as follows:

(1) On or before the 26th day of each month, an amount equal to not less than the Class II price for the preceding month, multiplied by the hundredweight of milk received during the first 15 days of the month from such producers; and

(2) On or before the 13th day after the end of each month an amount equal to not less than the applicable uniform price pursuant to §§ 905.72 to 905.74, multiplied by the hundredweight of milk received from such producers to which each such price is applicable, subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 905.75 and the location differential computed pursuant to § 905.76, less payment made such cooperative association pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and proper deductions authorized in writing by such producers or such cooperative associations; and

(f) On or before the 13th day after the end of the month, each handler shall pay to each cooperative association which is also a handler, for milk received from it not less than the value of such milk as classified pursuant to § 905.44 (a) at the applicable respective class prices including differentials prescribed by this part.

(g) If by such date such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 937.96 he shall not be deemed to be in violation of this section if he reduces uniformly to all producers and cooperative associations his payments per hundredweight by a total amount not in excess of the reduction ts payments due from the market administrator; however, the handler shall make such balance of payment uniformly to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this section next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator.

§ 905.91 Adjustment of accounts. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts, or verification of weights and butterfat tests of milk or milk products discloses errors resulting in money due (a) the market administrator from a handler, (b) a handler from the market administrator, or (c) any producer or cooperative association from a handler the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any amount so due and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payments set forth under which such error occurred.

§ 905.92 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers for milk (other than milk of his own production) pursuant to § 905.90, shall deduct 7 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 7 cents per hundredweight, as may be prescribed by the Secretary, and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of each month. Such moneys shall be used to check the accuracy of the testing and weighing of their milk for producers who are not receiving such service from a cooperative association;

(b) In the case of producers who are members of a cooperative association which the Secretary has determined is actually performing the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deduction specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from the payments to be made to such producers as may be authorized by the membership agreement or marketing contract between such cooperative association and such producers on or before the 15th day after the end of each month, and pay such deductions to the cooperative association of which such producers are members, furnishing a statement showing the amount of any such deductions and the amount and average butterfat test of milk received from each such producer. In lieu of such statement, a handler may authorize the market administrator to furnish such cooperative association the information reported for such producers pursuant to § 905.90 (d).

§ 905.93 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this part, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of the month for such months, 5 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 5 cents per hundredweight, as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to:

(a) Receipts of producer milk, including such handler's own production;

(b) Other source milk allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 905.46 (b) and § 905.47; and

(c) Applicable amounts specified in § 905.62 (a) (2) or (b) (2).

§ 905.94 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 905.62, 905.91 and 905.95, and out of which he shall make all payments pursuant to §§ 905.91 and 905.96: Provided, That any payments due to any handler shall be offset by any payments due from such handler.

§ 905.95 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 12th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay to the market administrator any amount by which the value of his producer milk as computed pursuant to § 905.70, for such month, is greater than the amount owed by him for such milk pursuant to § 905.90.

§ 905.96 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay to each handler any amount by which the total value of his producer milk, computed pursuant to § 905.70, for such month is less than the amount owed by him for such milk pursuant to § 905.90. If, at such time, the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this section, the market administrator shall reduce such payments uniformly per hundredweight of producer milk and shall complete such payments as soon as the appropriate funds are available.

§ 905.97 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this part to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representative.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay any handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this part shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 905.100 Effective time. The provisions of this part or any amendment to this part shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated pursuant to § 905.101.

§ 905.101 Suspension or termination. The Secretary may suspend or terminate this part or any provision of this part whenever he finds this part or any provision of this part obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. This part shall terminate, in any event, whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

§ 905.102 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations thereunder, the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator) such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 905.103 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of the provisions of this part, except this section, the market administrator, or such liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignment or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated, all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidating, and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 905.110 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his Agent or Representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

§ 905.111 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this part, or its application to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the application of such provision and of the remaining provisions of this part, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of September 1958 to be effective as follows:

Sections 905.0 through 905.48, §§ 905.60 and 905.61, §§ 905.80 through 905.83, §§ 905.100 through 905.111 shall be effective October 1, 1958, and all of the remaining provisions shall be effective November 1, 1958.

PART 928—MILK IN THE NEOSHO VALLEY MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER

§ 928.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of the said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Neosho Valley marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order effective not later than October 1, 1958.

The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator of the Agricultural Marketing Service was issued September 8, 1958, and the decision of the Assistant Secretary containing all amendment provisions of this order issued September 24, 1958. The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective October 1, 1958, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendment for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (See sec. 4 (c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.)

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c (9) of the act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order as hereby amended; and

(3) The issuance of the order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

Order relative to handling. The order is hereby amended as follows:

1. Amend § 928.7 to read as follows:

§ 928.7 Approved plant. "Approved plant" means any milk plant, except that of a producer-handler, which is approved by the appropriate health authority having jurisdiction in the marketing area:

(a) From which 10 percent or more of the total receipts of Grade A milk is disposed of during the delivery period on wholesale or retail routes (including routes operated by vendors and disposition at plant stores) as Class I milk in the marketing area; or

(b) (1) From which during the delivery period no less than 50 percent of the Grade A milk received from dairy farmers is shipped to a plant(s) described in paragraph (a) of this section: Provided, That if such plant is an approved plant during each of the months of August through November, it shall be designated as an approved plant through the following July, unless the market administrator is requested by means of written application on or before the 7th day after the end of the month that the plant should not be an approved plant.

(2) All plants described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph which are operated by one handler may be considered as a unit, upon written notice to the market administrator specifying the plants to be considered as a unit and the period during which such consideration shall apply. Such notice, and the notice of any change in designation, shall be furnished on or before the 7th day following the month to which the notice applies. In any of the months of December through July a unit shall not contain plants which were not qualified as approved plants either individually or as members of another unit, during each of the previous months of August through November.

2. Amend § 928.41 (b) (3) to read as follows:

(3) In shrinkage of milk received directly from producers that is not in excess of 2 percent (5 percent with respect to skim milk during the months of April, May and June), plus 1.5 percent (4.5 percent with respect to skim milk during the months of April, May and June) of receipts of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, transfered in bulk from approved plants, less 1.5 percent (4.5 percent with respect to skim milk during the months of April, May and June) of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, disposed of in bulk to approved plants.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 25th day of September 1958 to be effective on and after the 1st day of October 1958.

[SEAL] DON PAARLBERG,
Assistant Secretary.

PART 945—TOMATOES GROWN IN FLORIDA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 945.305 Limitation of shipments— (a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 125 and Order No. 45 (7 CFR Part 945), regulating the handling of tomatoes grown in Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Florida Tomato Committee, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001, et seq.) in that (i) the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the shipment of tomatoes, in the manner set forth below, on and after the effective date of this section, (iii) compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, (iv) a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for such preparation, and (v) information regarding the committee's recommendations has been made available to producers and handlers in the production area.

(b) Order. During the period from October 1, 1958, through June 30, 1959, the following regulations shall be effective with respect to all varieties of tomatoes handled for shipment outside the production area as defined in § 945.4, except elongated types, commonly referred to as pear shaped or paste tomatoes and including, but not limited to, San Marzano, Red Top, and Roma varieties; and cerasiform type tomatoes, commonly referred to as cherry tomatoes;

(4) Sizing arrangements. No person shall handle for shipment outside the production area any mature green tomatoes 1⅞ inches or larger diameter:

(i) Unless they are packed in one of the following ranges of diameters (expressed in terms of minimum and maximum):

Size arrangements:	Diameter (inches)
7 x 8	1⅞ to 2⅛, inclusive.
7 x 7	Over 2⅛ to 2 9/32, inclusive.

(v) For purposes of this section and incident to proper maturity classification: (a) Any lot of tomatoes containing more than ten (10) percent, by count, of mature green tomatoes shall be classified as mature green tomatoes; and (b) not more than a total of ten (10) percent, by count, of tomatoes in any lot may fail to meet the minimum color requirements in order for such lot to be classified as turning or higher degree of maturity.

(5) Inspection. No person shall handle for shipment outside the production area any tomatoes unless such tomatoes are inspected and certified pursuant to the provisions of § 945.60.

(6) Truck shipments. For purposes of these regulations, the rule, § 945.140, relating to truck shipments of tomatoes grown in Florida, issued May 2, 1956, and effective May 5, 1956 (21 F. R. 3000), shall continue in effect.

(7) Minimum quantity. For purposes of these regulations, each person subject thereto may handle, pursuant to § 945.53, up to, but not to exceed, 60 pounds of tomatoes per day without regard to the requirements of this part, but this exception shall not apply to any portion of a shipment of over 60 pounds of tomatoes.

(8) Special purpose shipments. The limitations set forth in subparagraphs (1) through (7) of this paragraph shall not be applicable to shipments of tomatoes for the following purposes (i) relief or charity, and (ii) processing.

(9) Safeguards. Each handler making shipments of tomatoes pursuant to subparagraph (8) of this paragraph for relief or charity, or for processing, shall (i) file an application with the Committee for a Certificate of Privilege; (ii) obtain a Certificate of Privilege from the Committee, if qualified; and (iii) for each such shipment, furnish a record of shipment within 10 days to the Committee.

(10) Definitions. The term "U. S. No. 3 grade" as used in this section, shall have the same meaning assigned this term in the U. S. Standards for Fresh Tomatoes (§§ 51.1855 to 51.1877 of this title; 21 F. R. 9559), including the tolerances set forth therein. All other terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 125 and Order No. 45 (§§ 945.1 to 945.92).

PART 997—FILBERTS GROWN IN OREGON AND WASHINGTON

SALABLE, SURPLUS, AND WITHHOLDING PERCENTAGES FOR 1958–59 FISCAL YEAR

Notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 9, 1958 (23 F. R. 6959) that the Secretary was considering a proposed rule to establish salable, surplus, and withholding percentages for filberts handled during the 1958–59 fiscal year. Said action was proposed to be taken in accordance with the applicable provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 115, as amended, and Order No. 97, as amended, regulating the handling of filberts grown in Oregon and Washington (7 CFR Part 997), effective under the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

The aforesaid notice afforded interested persons an opportunity to file data, views, or arguments concerning the proposal with the Department prior to final issuance of the rule. The prescribed time has expired and no such communications have been received.

After consideration of all relevant information available, it is hereby found that to fix salable and surplus percentages in the amounts hereinafter set forth will most effectively tend to accomplish the purposes of the act. The withholding percentage hereinafter set forth is the ratio of said surplus percentage to said salable percentage.

Therefore, it is ordered, That the salable, surplus, and withholding percentages for filberts handled by handlers during the 1958–59 fiscal year be as follows:

§ 997.208 Salable, surplus, and withholding percentages for merchantable filberts during the 1958–59 fiscal year. The salable percentage shall be 73 percent, the surplus percentage shall be 27 percent, and the withholding percentage shall be 37 percent for merchantable filberts handled during the fiscal year beginning August 1, 1958.

It is hereby further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of this order later than the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER for the reasons that: (1) The action will apply to all merchantable filberts handled by handlers during the fiscal year which began August 1, 1958, and such handling has already begun; (2) establishment of these percentages provides a basis for trading between growers and handlers, and such trading follows closely the harvesting of 1958 crop filberts which is now beginning; and (3) compliance with the percentages herein established will require no special preparation on the part of handlers.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Dated: September 24, 1958, to become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[SEAL] FLOYD F. HEDLUND,
Acting Director,
Fruit and Vegetable Division.

Chapter XI—National Guard and State Guard, Department of the Army

PART 1101—NATIONAL GUARD REGULATIONS

COMMISSIONED OFFICERS

Section 1101.2 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1101.2 Appointment—(a) General—(1) By whom appointed. Article I, Section 8, Clause 16 of the Constitution of the United States reserves to the States the appointment of officers in the militia. As soon as an individual is appointed an officer of the Army National Guard of a State and has subscribed to an oath of office, he has a State status under which he can function. Such officer becomes a member of the Army National Guard of the United States when he has been federally recognized and duly appointed as a Reserve commissioned officer of the Army in the same grade.

(2) Oath of office. An appointment is not complete until the appointee has executed the oath of office, if prescribed by State law. For oath required for Federal recognition, see § 1101.3 (h).

(3) Assignment authority. The assignment of individuals to units of the Army National Guard is a function of the State authorities. This function includes authority to detail qualified Army National Guard officers to duty as inspectors general, and as General Staff officers in the category "General Staff with Troops."

(4) Determination of branch for assignment. (i) The applicable TOE (Table of Organization and Equipment) under which the unit is organized and to which an individual is to be assigned, will determine the branch in which he is to be assigned, with the following exceptions:

(a) When there is no officer of the appropriate branch available for assignment, qualified students enrolled in medical or dental schools approved by the American Medical Association or the American Dental Association who have been federally recognized as second lieutenants, Medical Service Corps, under the Medical and Dental Student Early Commissioning Program will be assigned to Medical Corps or Dental Corps TOE positions, as appropriate, except such assignment will not be made in position vacancy of unit commander.

(b) Other than as provided above, Dental Corps or Medical Service Corps officers may be assigned in lieu of Medical Corps or Dental Corps officers only upon specific authority by the Chief, National Guard Bureau, and subject to the conditions outlined below. Reassignment of such Dental Corps or Medical Service Corps officers will be made to appropriate TOE position vacancies when a Medical Corps officer becomes available.

(1) A Medical Service Corps officer may be assigned in lieu of a Medical Corps or Dental Corps officer only when all Medical Service Corps positions in the medical unit, if any, are occupied.

(2) A Dental Corps officer may be assigned in lieu of a Medical Corps officer only when all Dental Corps positions in the unit, if any, are filled.

(3) Assignment of Medical Service Corps or Dental Corps officers in lieu of Dental Corps or Medical Corps officers will not be authorized if the unit has sufficient officers assigned to maintain Federal recognition.

(c) Upon specific authorization from the Chief, National Guard Bureau, a Medical Service Corps officer assigned to a unit may command the unit except when the unit is actively engaged in the care and treatment of patients, or when ordered into active military service of the United States.

(d) Medical Corps officers may be assigned in lieu of Medical Service Corps officers or Dental Corps officer. Reassignment of such Medical Corps officers will be made to appropriate TOE position vacancies when a Dental Corps or Medical Service Corps officer of the appropriate grade and branch qualification becomes available.

(ii) Individuals who occupy or are to occupy positions usually designated as general staff with troops may be assigned to any branch specified in TOE; however, they should be assigned to the branch for which they are best qualified.

(iii) Officers who are appointed and assigned to State Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment must meet the requirements for Federal recognition appropriate to the branch and grade in which assigned.

(b) Persons ineligible for Federal recognition. Persons in any of the following categories will not be eligible for Federal recognition in the Army National Guard, and the federally recognized status of any person thereof who has received such status through concealment of the facts will be terminated.

(1) Subversive or disloyal persons. Those who are, or have been, members of any foreign or domestic organization, association, movement, group, or combination of persons advocating a subversive policy or seeking to alter the form of Government of the United States, by unconstitutional means, and whose case has not been adjudicated favorably by the Department of the Army.

(2) Conscientious objectors. Those who are presently conscientious objectors. If an individual has been a conscientious objector, he will be required to furnish an affidavit which will express his abandonment of such beliefs and principles so far as they pertain to his unwillingness to bear arms and to give full and unqualified military service to the United States.

(3) Conviction for other than minor traffic violations. Those who have been convicted by any type of military or civil court for other than minor traffic violation. The Department of the Army may grant waiver for conviction of minor violations which are nonrecurrent and which are not deemed prejudicial to performance of duty as an officer. Waiver of conviction involving moral turpitude or conviction of a felony is not authorized.

(4) Those who have been or are being separated from the Armed Forces. (1) Under other than honorable conditions.

(2) For unsatisfactory service.

(3) By reason of resignation in lieu of court-martial, reclassification, or any form of corrective or disciplinary action.

(4) By reason of having been twice passed over for promotion.

(5) As a security risk or for other than security reasons while undergoing investigation.

(6) By reason of elimination for the good of the service.

(5) Persons on active or retired list of certain U. S. Armed Forces. Persons who are applicants for appointment in the Army National Guard who are on the active retired list of the regular Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Public Health Service, or Coast and Geodetic Survey.

(c) Appointment of State military department personnel—(1) Of a State. The appointment of an individual as the Chief of the State Military Department, and his authorized assistant, and their tenure of Office, are governed by the laws of the State. (Normally, the titles of these positions are State Adjutant General and Assistant State Adjutant General but the exact title is governed by the laws of the State.)

(2) Other. The Chief of the Military Department and his Assistant of Alaska, Hawaii, and Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia is appointed by The President with such grade and qualifications as The President may prescribe. However, no person will be appointed adjutant general of a Territory or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico unless he is a citizen of that jurisdiction.

(d) Appointment of Regular Army and Army Reserve personnel in the Army National Guard—(1) Officers of the Regular Army. In accordance with the provisions of Title 32, United States Code, Section 315, authority may be granted by the Secretary of the Army to officers on the active list of the Regular Army, who are detailed to duty as an advisor or appointed a chief of staff of a division of the Army National Guard, to accept an appointment in the Army National Guard, subject to the following conditions:

(i) There must be a vacancy in an appropriate assignment in the Army National Guard in the grade in which the commission is tendered. The command vacancies so filled will be limited to command of a regiment, group or larger organization. Staff vacancies will be limited to those in a brigade or higher organization.

(ii) State authorities must make the request for the appointment to the Chief, National Guard Bureau, giving the grade proposed for the appointee and the branch and position to which his assignment is desired.

(iii) Appointment in the Army National Guard will be in the same grade held by the Regular Army Officer, and not below that of a major or above that of major general.

(iv) The appointment in the Army National Guard will be terminated when the unit to which the officer is assigned is called or ordered into the active military service, when the Regular Army officer holding the appointment is relieved from duty with the Army National Guard of the State in which he holds an appointment, or when a qualified Army National Guard officer is assigned to the position.

(v) Appointment is limited to a period of 2 years subject to further extension by the Chief, National Guard Bureau upon request of the governor concerned.

(2) Enlisted persons of the Regular Army. Enlisted members of the active list of the Regular Army may not accept a commission in the Army National Guard even though they may be detailed to duty with the Army National Guard.

(3) Members of the Army Reserve. (i) A person who is an enlisted member of the Army Reserve will be required to obtain a conditional release from his Reserve enlistment before being appointed in the Army National Guard.

(ii) A person who holds an appointment as a Reserve officer of the Army, assigned to the Army Reserve, will be required to obtain a conditional release from his Army Reserve assignment, pending attainment of Federal recognition in a lower, higher, or same grade. If appointment is in a lower or higher grade, a new Reserve of the Army appointment in that grade will be tendered.

(e) Appointment of individuals receiving benefits. (1) Applicants for appointment who are entitled to a pension, retirement pay, disability compensation or retired pay from the Government of the United States by virtue of prior military service, except as indicated below, are eligible for Federal recognition in the Army National Guard provided:

(i) They are qualified in all respects.

(ii) They waive, for the remainder of the current fiscal year and upon commencement of each fiscal year thereafter, either that portion of their benefits for the days for which they receive Federal pay and allowances for services as members of the Army National Guard, or their Army National Guard pay and allowances.

(2) The above provisions are not applicable in the case of individuals retired for physical disability, age, and enlisted men retired under the provisions of Title 10, United States Code, section 3914.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[Docket No. 12484; FCC 58–919]

[Rules Amdt. 3–125]

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS (PEMBINA, N. DAK.)

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, Television Broadcast Stations (Pembina, North Dakota).

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the proposal set out in its Notice of Proposed Rule Making, issued on June 13, 1958 (FCC 58–568) and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 18, 1958 (23 F. R. 4385), to assign Channel 12 to Pembina, North Dakota, in response to a petition from Community Television Corporation.

2. Comments were filed in support of the proposal by the petitioner, Community Television Corporation, licensee of television Station KNOX–TV, Channel 10, Grand Forks, North Dakota. No comments in opposition to the proposal were filed.

3. In support of its proposal, Community urges that Channel 12 may be assigned to Pembina without affecting any existing or proposed channel assignment; that the proposal conforms to all the technical requirements of the Commission's rules; that it would make possible a first television service to approximately 50,000 persons; that Pembina is a major trading, farming, and population center; and that, in the event the proposal is adopted, it plans to apply for and construct a station in the area.

4. Since Pembina is within 250 miles of the United States-Canadian border, any assignment in that community is subject to the terms of the Canadian-USA Television agreement. The Canadian authorities have agreed to the proposed assignment subject to the condition that any station on Channel 12 at Pembina not provide a signal in excess of 5000 uv/m at the mid-point between Pembina and Winnipeg, Manitoba (approximately 49°26′ N. latitude, 97°10′ W. longtitude).

5. The Commission is of the view that the instant proposal would serve the public interest and should be adopted. The assignment of Channel 12 to Pembina is being made with the understanding that the signal of any station on Channel 12 at Pembina not exceed the above-mentioned radiation toward Winnipeg, Manitoba.

6. Authority for the adoption of the amendment herein is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (r) and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

7. In view of the foregoing, it is ordered, That, effective October 30, 1958, the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended, insofar as the community named is concerned, as follows:

(a) Add the following entry under the State of North Dakota:

City	Channel No.
Pembina	12

Adopted: September 24, 1958.

TOBACCO MARKETING QUOTAS FOR 1959-60 MARKETING YEAR

NOTICE OF DETERMINATIONS

Cigar-filler tobacco, cigar-binder tobacco, and cigar-filler and binder tobacco; burley, flue-cured, fire-cured (type 21), fire-cured (types 22, 23 and 24), dark air-cured, and Virginia sun-cured tobacco; Maryland tobacco.

Pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, the Secretary of Agriculture is preparing to (a) proclaim a national marketing quota for (1) burley tobacco, (2) flue-cured tobacco, (3) Virginia sun-cured tobacco, (4) Maryland tobacco and (5) cigar-filler (type 41) tobacco for each of the three marketing years beginning July 1, 1959 in the case of flue-cured tobacco and beginning October 1, 1959 in the case of the other kinds of tobacco; (b) determine and announce the amount of the national marketing quota for each of such kinds of tobacco, and for fire-cured (type 21) tobacco, fire-cured (types 22, 23 and 24) tobacco, dark air-cured tobacco, cigar-binder (types 51 and 52) tobacco, and for cigar-filler and binder (types 42, 43, 44, 53, 54 and 55) tobacco for the 1959–60 marketing year; (c) apportion the national marketing quotas for such kinds of tobacco for the 1959–60 marketing year among the several States; and (d) convert the State marketing quotas into State acreage allotments.

The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U. S. C. 1312 (a)), provides that the Secretary shall, not later than December 1 of any marketing year with respect to flue-cured tobacco and February 1 of any marketing year with respect to other kinds of tobacco, proclaim a national marketing quota for any kind of tobacco for each of the next three succeeding marketing years whenever he determines with respect to such kind of tobacco:

(1) That a national marketing quota has not previously been proclaimed and the total supply as of the beginning of such marketing year exceeds the reserve supply level therefor;

(2) That such marketing year is the last year of three consecutive years for which marketing quotas previously proclaimed will be in effect;

(3) That amendments have been made in provisions for establishing farm acreage allotments which will cause material revision of such allotments before the end of the period for which quotas are in effect; or

(4) That a marketing quota previously proclaimed for such marketing year is not in effect because of disapproval by producers in a referendum held pursuant to subsection (c): Provided, That if such producers have disapproved national marketing quotas in referenda held in three successive years subsequent to 1952, thereafter a national marketing quota shall not be proclaimed hereunder which would be in effect for any marketing year within the three-year period for which national marketing quotas previously proclaimed were disapproved by producers in a referendum, unless prior to November 10 of the marketing year one-fourth or more of the farmers engaged in the production of the crop of tobacco harvested in the calendar year in which such marketing year begins petition the Secretary, in accordance with such regulations as he may prescribe, to proclaim a national marketing quota for each of the next three succeeding marketing years.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1301 (b) (15)) defines "tobacco" as each one of the kinds of tobacco listed below comprising the types specified as classified in Service and Regulatory Announcement Numbered 118 (Part 30 of this title) of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department:

Fire-cured tobacco, comprising type 21;
Fire-cured tobacco, comprising types 22, 23 and 24;
Dark air-cured tobacco, comprising types 35 and 36;
Virginia sun-cured tobacco, comprising type 37;
Burley tobacco, comprising type 31;
Maryland tobacco, comprising type 32;
Cigar-filler and cigar-binder tobacco, comprising types 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 51, 52, 53, 54, and 55; and Cigar-filler tobacco, comprising type 41.

The act provides that any one or more of the types comprising any such kind of tobacco shall be treated as a "kind of tobacco" for the purposes of this Act if the Secretary finds that there is a difference in supply and demand conditions as among such types of tobacco which results in a difference in the adjustments needed in the marketings thereof in order to maintain supplies in line with demand. Pursuant to this authority the Secretary has determined (15 F. R. 8214) that type 46 tobacco shall be treated as a separate kind of tobacco for purposes of marketing quotas and price supports on the 1951 and subsequent crops of such tobacco. Pursuant to such authority, the Secretary has also determined (22 F. R. 367) that cigar-binder (types 51 and 52) tobacco shall be treated as a separate kind of tobacco for purposes of marketing quotas and price supports on the 1957 and subsequent crops of such tobacco.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1313 (i)) provides that notwithstanding any other provision of the Act, whenever after investigation the Secretary determines with respect to any kind of tobacco that a substantial difference exists in the usage or market outlets for any one or more of the types comprising such kind of tobacco and that the quantity of tobacco of such type or types to be produced under the marketing quotas and acreage allotments established pursuant to this section would not be sufficient to provide an adequate supply for estimated market demands and carryover requirements for such type or types of tobacco, the Secretary shall increase the marketing quotas and acreage allotments for farms producing such type or types of tobacco in the preceding year to the extent necessary to make available a supply of such type or types of tobacco adequate to meet such demands and carryover requirements. The increases in farm marketing quotas and acreage allotments shall be made on the basis of the production of such type or types of tobacco during the period of years considered in establishing farm marketing quotas and acreage allotments for such kind of tobacco. The additional production authorized by this subsection shall be in addition to the national marketing quota established for such kind of tobacco pursuant to section 312 of the Act. The increase in acreage under this subsection shall not be considered in establishing future State or farm acreage allotments.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1312 (b)) provides that the Secretary shall also determine and announce not later than the first of December with respect to flue-cured tobacco and not later than the first of February with respect to other kinds of tobacco the amount of the national marketing quota which is in effect for the 1959–60 marketing year in terms of the total quantity of each kind of tobacco which may be marketed which will make available during such marketing year a supply of each kind of tobacco equal to the reserve supply level. The act provides further that the amount of the 1959–60 national marketing quota announced not later than March 1, 1959, may be increased by not more than 20 per centum if the Secretary determines that such increase is necessary in order to meet market demands or to avoid undue restrictions of marketings in adjusting the total supply to the reserve supply level.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1301 (b)) defines the "total supply" of tobacco for any marketing year as the carryover at the beginning of the marketing year (or on January 1 of such marketing year in the case of Maryland tobacco), plus the estimated production in the United States during the calendar year in which such marketing year begins. "Reserve supply level" is defined as the normal supply plus 5 per centum thereof. "Normal supply" is defined as a normal year's domestic consumption and exports, plus 175 per centum of a normal year's domestic consumption and 65 per centum of a normal year's exports. A "normal year's domestic consumption" is defined as the yearly average quantity produced in the United States and consumed in the United States during the ten marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such consumption is determined, adjusted for current trends in such consumption. A "normal year's exports" is defined as the yearly average quantity produced in the United States which was exported from the United States during the ten marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such exports are determined, adjusted for current trends in such exports.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1312 (c)) requires that within 30 days after a national marketing quota is proclaimed for the 1958–60, 1960–61, and 1961–62 marketing years for (1) burley tobacco, (2) flue-cured tobacco, (3) Virginia sun-cured tobacco, (4) Maryland tobacco and (5) cigar-filler (type 41) tobacco, the Secretary shall conduct a referendum of farmers who are engaged in the production of the 1958 crop of each such kind of tobacco to determine whether such farmers are in favor of or opposed to such quota for the next three succeeding marketing years. If more than one-third of the farmers voting in the referendum oppose such quota, such results shall be proclaimed by the Secretary and the national marketing quota so proclaimed shall not be in effect but such results shall in no wise affect or limit the subsequent proclamation and subsequent submission to a referendum, as otherwise provided in section 312 of the act, of a national marketing quota.

bacco growers favored marketing quotas for the 1959–60 marketing year in referenda held pursuant to the act as follows: fire-cured tobacco, 23 F. R. 2072; dark air-cured tobacco, 23 F. R. 2072; cigar-binder tobacco, 22 F. R. 2035; and cigar-filler and binder tobacco, 22 F. R. 2035.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1313 (a)) requires the Secretary to apportion the national marketing quota, less the amount to be allotted under subsection (c) of section 1313 (small farms and "new" farms), among the several States on the basis of the total production in each State during the five calendar years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the quota is proclaimed, with such adjustments as are determined to be necessary to make correction for abnormal conditions of production, for small farms, and for trends in production, giving due consideration to seed bed and other plant diseases during such five-year period.

The act (7 U. S. C. A. 1313 (g)) provides that any acreage of tobacco harvested in excess of the farm acreage allotment for the year 1955 or any subsequent year shall not be taken into account in establishing State and farm acreage allotments. Section 377 of the Act, as revised by Public Law 85–266, 85th Congress, provides further that in any case in which, during any year within the period 1956 to 1959, inclusive, for which acreage planted to tobacco on any farm is less than the acreage allotment for such farm, the entire acreage allotment for such farm shall be considered for purposes of future State, county, and farm acreage allotments to have been planted to such commodity in such year, Provided, That with respect to 1956 the owner or operator of such farm notifies the county committee prior to the sixtieth day preceding the beginning of the marketing year for such commodity of his desire to preserve such allotment; the Act further provides that the allotment may not be so preserved if the amount of the commodity required to be stored to postpone or avoid payment of penalty has been reduced because the allotment was not fully planted. Public Law 540, 84th Congress, 2d Session, also provides that the acreage withdrawn or diverted from the production of tobacco under the acreage reserve program and conservation reserve program shall for allotment purposes be considered devoted to the production of tobacco.

The act (7 U. S. C. 1313 (g)) authorizes the Secretary to convert State marketing quotas into State acreage allotments on the basis of average yield per acre for the State during the five years last preceding the year in which the national marketing quota is proclaimed, adjusted for abnormal conditions of production.

In making the determinations of the amounts of the national marketing quotas, the apportionment of the quotas among the several States, the conversion of State marketing quotas into State acreage allotments, and of the date(s) of the referenda with respect to burley tobacco, flue-cured tobacco, Virginia sun-cured tobacco, Maryland tobacco, and cigar-filler (type 41) tobacco, consideration will be given to any data, views and recommendations pertaining thereto, which are submitted in writing to the Director, Tobacco Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. All submissions must be postmarked not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER in order to be considered.

[47 CFR Part 3]

[Docket No. 12325]

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS; TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS; NORTH CAROLINA AND SOUTH CAROLINA

EXTENSION OF TIME FOR FILING OPPOSITIONS AND REPLIES TO OPPOSITIONS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, television broadcast stations (Florence-Charleston, South Carolina; Greensboro-High Point-Winston-Salem, North Carolina); and in the matter of amendment of § 3.606 Table of assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations (Fayetteville, North Carolina); Docket No. 12325.

1. On August 5, 1958, the Commission released a Report and Order (FCC 58–772) in Docket No. 12325 assigning Channel 8 to Greensboro-High Point-Winston-Salem, North Carolina, effective September 5, 1958. On the same day, the Commission released a Memorandum Opinion and Order (FCC 58–773) denying the request of Fayetteville Broadcasters, Inc., permittee of off-the-air UHF Station WFLB–TV at Fayetteville, for rule making on a conflicting proposal to assign Channel 8 to Fayetteville. On September 4, 1958, Fayetteville Broadcasters filed a Petition for Rehearing requesting reconsideration of the aforementioned decisions and a Petition for Stay in Docket No. 12325, requesting that action be withheld on any application for a construction permit for a television station on Channel 8 in the Winston-Salem-Greensboro-High Point area until its petition for rehearing is acted upon.

2. On September 17, 1958, American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc. (ABC), who participated in the rule-making proceeding in Docket No. 12325, filed a petition requesting an extension of time from September 15, 1958, to September 26, 1958, for filing oppositions to the above-mentioned petitions for rehearing and stay.

3. In support of its request, ABC states that, through inadvertence, Fayetteville Broadcasters did not serve it with copies of its above-mentioned petitions for rehearing and stay and that it did not learn of their filing until September 16, 1958, and did not obtain copies of them until September 17, 1958. ABC advises that counsel for Fayetteville Broadcasters consents to the grant of its requested extension and asks that the Commission permit Fayetteville Broadcasters to file a response to any and all oppositions that may be filed to its petitions for rehearing and stay on October 3, 1958.

4. Upon considering the representations of the petitioner, the Commission believes that the public interest, convenience, and necessity would be served by affording additional time for filing oppositions and replies to oppositions.

5. Accordingly, it is ordered, That the aforesaid request of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres is granted: that the time for filing oppositions to the above-mentioned petitions of Fayetteville Broadcasters, Inc., for reconsideration and stay is extended from September 15, 1958, to September 26, 1958, and that replies to oppositions to the said petitions may be filed on or before October 3, 1958.

Adopted: September 22, 1958.

TELEVISION BROADCAST SERVICES; TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS; KANSAS

EXTENSION OF TIME FOR FILING REPLIES TO OPPOSITIONS TO PETITION FOR RECONSIDERATION

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606, Table of assignments, Television Broadcast Stations (Wichita-Hutchinson, Kansas); Docket No. 12386.

1. The Commission has before it for reconsideration a request, filed September 23, 1958, by Paul M. Segal, Esq., attorney for Wichita-Hutchinson Company, Inc., licensee of Station KTVH at Hutchinson, Kansas, for an extension of time to file Wichita-Hutchinson's reply to the oppositions of Wichita Television Corporation, Inc., and KAKE Television, Inc., to Wichita-Hutchinson's Petition for Reconsideration or Waiver of the Rule in the above-entitled matter. The petitioner requests that the time for filing Wichita-Hutchinson's reply be extended from September 24, 1958, to September 30, 1958.

2. In support of this request, the petitioner states that the engineering question raised by the oppositions to Wichita-Hutchinson's Petition for Reconsideration is one of more than average importance and that the additional time requested is needed to make a determination as to whether or not additional data should be submitted with its reply.

3. The Commission is of the view that the public interest, convenience, and necessity would be served by affording the additional time requested for filing replies to oppositions to Wichita-Hutchinson's aforesaid petition.

4. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, That the request of Wichita-Hutchinson Company, Inc., for additional time to file replies is granted, and that the time for filing replies to oppositions to the aforesaid Petition for Reconsideration or Waiver of the rule in the above-entitled proceeding is extended from September 24, 1958, to September 30, 1958.

Adopted: September 24, 1958.

CITIZENS RADIO SERVICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The Commission has before it for consideration the petition (File No. RM-52) of the Stromberg-Carlson Company, filed on September 8, 1958. Petitioner requests the Commission to amend, by appropriate rule-making action, § 19.25 (c), so as to relieve stations operated for the purpose of remotely activating devices used as a means of attracting attention from the limitation that the distance between the transmitter or its control point and the radiating portion of the antenna shall not exceed 25 feet.

3. In support thereof, it is pointed out that of a practical necessity, the control point in many installations of this type are at the switchboard which is usually located more than 25 feet from the top of the building, where the antenna normally is located. Inasmuch as the purpose of such stations is to provide a one-way paging service to cover only a single building or a group of buildings and adjacent area, an exception such as proposed would not be contrary to the original purpose of the restriction contained in § 19.25 (c) which was to restrict the area of operation of these low-power stations and thereby reduce mutual interference.

4. The Commission specifically amended Part 19 to provide for stations operated to remotely control devices used as a means of attracting attention, and did not intend to unduly restrict the development of such stations by the limitation contained in § 19.25 (c). Accordingly, it is now proposed to amend § 19.25 as set forth below to provide an exception for such stations when used within buildings or adjacent areas under the control of the licensee. In addition, it is proposed to clarify the present text by specifically stating that the antenna of a Class B, Class C, or Class D station mounted on an existing antenna structure of another station shall not exceed the height of that antenna structure.

5. The foregoing proposed amendment is issued under authority of sections 4 (i) and 303 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

6. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the proposed amendment should not be adopted, or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein, and any person desiring to support this proposal, may file with the Commission on or before October 27, 1958, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original data, views, or arguments. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission or (2) good cause for the filing of such additional comments is established. The Commission will consider all such comments prior to taking final action in this matter, and if comments are submitted warranting oral argument, notice of the time and place of such oral argument will be given.

7. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.54 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments filed shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: September 24, 1958.

Released: September 25, 1958.

[SEAL] MARY JANE MORRIS,
Secretary.

1. It is proposed to amend paragraph (c) of § 19.25 to read as follows:

(c) An antenna at a fixed location to be used by a Class B, Class C, or Class D mobile station shall not exceed 20 feet in height above any man-made structure or natural formation on which it is mounted, except that when mounted on an existing antenna structure of another station the antenna shall not exceed the height of that antenna structure.

2. It is proposed to amend § 19.25 by adding a new paragraph (d) to read as follows:
